The BIG DULUTH

Store Open Monday and Saturday Evenings.

Our hearts are on the selling of Spring Suits; our hands are busy selling Winter Overcoats. The winter weather is rattled. The weather man doesn't get a fair chance. Why don't they add seven stories to the postoffice so that we may see the north pole? Or else some of those fellow South must be sliding in a warm wave underneath weather flag once in awhile. Or else it's next winter's weather they're driving at.

Maybe that's it, for you can almost see it in many of the folks who are buying at the

$5 $10 $15 OFF

That they're buying against next winter. Most of the Coats are going at about half price. They're of all sorts of the best—long and fashionable, Kersseys and Meltons. $20 ones that were $28 and $30; others that were $25 and $20 now $15; some that were $15 now $10. Ulsters, too—down-to-your-heels-up-to-your-ears Shetlands, soft, long, generous, $25 ones for $12.50.

Autumn and Spring Weights (the carried over ones) at 1/2, 1/3 and 1/4 off.

It's bright, long-headed buying that's pocketing its $5 $10 and $15 here these days.

THE SEALERS ADRIFT

Men Were Hunting Seals In a Harbor When the Ice Was Driven Off the Coast.

Steamers Were Sent to Their Assistance and Many Were Rescued While Others Swam Ashore.

Three Men Found in a Group, Two of Whom Had Perished From the Cold.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 26.—Fresh water bay, outside St. John's harbor, on Saturday filled with ice, among which plenty of seals were seen. Men from all parts of the coast went off to hunt them and met with fair success throughout the day. In the evening the wind changed to westerly and drove the ice off again. Most of the men who went out were on the ice field when the wind changed, but the greater number of them succeeded in reaching land before the ice moved off.

About forty, however, were carried out into open water. Much apprehension was felt on their behalf as the night wore on, and measures for their relief were taken. Signal lights were burned and men were sent here for steamers to go to their assistance. It took some hours to reach this city, and the first steamer only started at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Another followed four hours later.

During the night changes in the position of the ice caused by currents, drove some of it close to the headlands, and most of the men got ashore by swimming, though eight nearly died from the cold. They reported that a party of nine persons was not far off and all energies were devoted to rescuing them.

At last a party was sighted from the outer cove and a boat put off to their rescue. In this party were six men, all of whom had been frost-bitten severely. A little distance from them, the rescuing boat's crew sighted three more people, of whom two were dead from the cold.

The third, the father of the other two, was living and may survive his injuries. The two brothers frozen to death were named John and William Parsons, the former 20 and the latter 18 years of age.

THE ARMOR PLATE FRAUDS.

Secretary Herbert Gives the Details of the Frauds Discovered.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Secretary Herbert today sent to the house an answer to the Cummings resolution calling for a statement of the details of the recent alleged violation by Carnegie, Phipps & Co., of the contracts with the United States for the manufacture of armor plate for the navy. The secretary's answer is long and very interesting, giving in detail the history of the progress and discovery of one of the most gigantic frauds known in our naval administration.

Information of the frauds was received in September last from employees of the Carnegie Steel company and a contract was made by the department to give them 25 per cent of the money recovered. An investigation proved the truth of the information and Messrs. Frick and Hunkeler were summoned to Washington. They appeared greatly astonished and asked time to investigate. Capt. Sampson assessed penalties at the rate of 15 per cent upon the armor they had manufactured for the government and premiums. The company appealed to President Cleveland, who decided that 10 per cent of the value of the armor manufactured between Nov. 3, 1892, and September, 1893, or $140,489 should be forfeited to the government. This was paid over, $35,121 going to the informants.

The department deems it proper to state that throughout the whole of this transaction, nothing occurred to show that any officer of the navy had been guilty of conniving at any of these irregularities. Neither is there anything whatever to show that any director of the company had any knowledge of these transactions.

TU SHAN DISCHARGED.

The Chinaman Accused of Susie Martin's Murder Set Free.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Tu Shan, of 320 Tenth avenue, who was arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of little Susie Martin, was discharged by Justice Ryan, in the Jefferson Market police court today.

Tu Shan, who had been locked up since Saturday afternoon, was arrested on the strength of a letter written by Eddie McCann, a deaf mute of West Thirtieth street, who said on St. Patrick's day he saw Tu Shan enter the house at 517 West Thirty-ninth street with a heavy bundle, which he did not have when he left the house a short time afterwards. McCann has a bad reputation in the neighborhood where he lives.

TRANSMISSION OF PACKAGES.

A Dispute Between American and Canadian Postal Authorities.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The transmission of packages under government frank between this country and Canada has resulted in considerable correspondence carried on by the postal authorities of the two governments. The trouble was caused by the stoppage by the Canadian officials of packages containing speeches of Congressman Tom Johnson of Ohio, and franked by him.

Complaint was made by him more than a year ago to the office of foreign mails, and since then a number of letters have passed between Superintendent Brooks and Deputy Postmaster General Griffin, of Canada. No definite understanding, however, has been reached. The Canadian officials claim the right to determine whether the United States has properly classified the mail matter.

THE FUNERAL OF KOSSUTH.

The Remains Will Reach Buda Pesth on Thursday Morning.

TURIN, March 26.—The preparations for the funeral ceremonies here over the remains of Louis Kossuth are almost completed. After a service at the Evangelical church at 9 a. m. on Wednesday, the body will be escorted to the railroad depot, where it will lie in a temporary mortuary until the municipal authorities, at the same evening, deliver the remains to the representatives of the municipal authorities of Buda Pesth.

The body of Kossuth, accompanied by its escort of Hungarian officials, will leave this city for Buda Pesth on a special train at 8 p. m. The special train will be preceded by another train which will convey to Buda Pesth the main body of the Hungarian delegates who have been in this city for some days past. It is calculated that the two trains will reach Buda Pesth on Thursday morning.

THE NEW FRISCO TRACK.

A Strong Pacific and Eastern Syndicate Back of the Enterprise.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—The site recently selected for a new race track for San Francisco is not desirable for the purpose, and the syndicate of local and Eastern capital have purchased another in the vicinity of the first one and will commence grading and building in June and July.

It is estimated that the cost of the new track, including improvements, will be close $500,000. The Californian back of the enterprise are M. A. Gunst, Dan Burns, Tom Williams, James Flood and Adolph Sreckels. The Eastern men are Ed Corrigan, George Walbaum and Alec and Joe Ullman.

NEWMAN WANTS REVENGE.

Says He Will Send a Chicago Alderman to Jail.

CHICAGO, March 26.—Jacob Newman, the attorney who was "worked" for $8,000 by DeFrance, who Saturday got eleven years in the Michigan penitentiary for similar operations, says that a certain Chicago alderman got one-third of the $8,000.

He also declares that he has evidence strong enough to send this city law maker to jail, and that he will start him there this week. The name of the alderman he will not divulge until he appears before the grand jury tomorrow or the day after.

A St. Paul Woman's Death.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 26.—Mrs. Lizzie A. Brown, wife of H. D. Brown, of the firm of Brown, Treacy & Co., manufacturers and jobbers, of St. Paul, Minn., died in this city this morning, aged 47.

She came here in January for relief from organic disease. Her husband was sent for and was with her when she died. The remains will be sent home.

Murdered by an Italian.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 26.—Spencer Howe, aged 32 years, United States Express company's transfer agent at Rochester Junction, was murdered yesterday afternoon by an Italian named Nicolo Denardo. Howe was attempting to separate the Italian and his brother-in-law (M. Ketcham) who were fighting. The murderer escaped.

Cloister Scratched.

LONDON, March 26.—Cloister, the former favorite for the grand national steeple chase, has been scratched. An examination has shown that the horse's kidneys are in a serious condition.

WANTS A RE-ELECTION

Maj. Baldwin Has Told Intimate Friends at Washington That He Desires to be Re-Elected.

A Second Term in Congress Would Satisfy His Longings, and He is Arranging Plans.

Fletcher, Tawney, McLeary, Boen and Hall Are Also Anxious to be Returned to Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—[Special to The Herald.]—Doubtless ere this the people of Duluth and in the Sixth congressional district have arrived at the conclusion that Maj. Baldwin is a candidate for re-election. Of course it is not known in Washington just what his chances are. His position on the iron ore question, other Minnesotians believe, will injure his campaign and may defeat him in the Democratic congressional convention. In the event that he secures a renomination, he is by no means certain of an election at the polls.

It is a fact, however, according to those who are intimate with Maj. Baldwin, that he desires another term in congress, and he is doubtless working from every standard to carry out his plan. In connection with the Baldwin candidacy it is also asserted that Representatives Fletcher, Tawney, McLeary, Boen and Hall are also anxious to be returned to congress. It is now thought that Fletcher and Tawney will be successful, and in the event that ex-Representative Lynn does not come to the front again as a congressional candidate, McLeary is pretty certain to be renominated and re-elected from the Second district.

Representative Hall has played fast and loose with Michael Doran and other old war horses in the Minnesota Democracy, and if renominated they may endeavor to defeat him. That Hall will be a candidate, however, is not doubted anywhere, whether he wins or loses in the campaign. Representative Boen, the only Populist from Minnesota, lacks congressional life and is anxious to be returned. It is not known here what the political sentiment of his district is at this time, so that he, with Baldwin and Hall, are the uncertainties in the coming congressional campaign in Minnesota.

The Belgian Ministry.
LONDON, March 26.—The Brussels correspondent to the Times telegraphs that Minister Boret, of the interior, will become prime minister in place of M. Baernaert and that he will be charged by the king to reconstruct the ministry. Minnie Madden in Part V.

SENATOR COLQUITT DEAD.

He Passed Away Without Pain Early This Morning.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—United States Senator Alfred Holt Colquitt, of Georgia, died at his residence in this city at 7:40 this morning. Around the bedside when he passed away were Senator Gordon and his daughter, Mrs. Jones; Senator Colquitt's private secretary, his nephew, Mr. Bunn; his son, Mrs. Colquitt three unmarried daughters, and his daughter, Mrs. Marshall, of Chicago. As the end approached the senator's breathing became very heavy, but he relapsed into unconsciousness and suffered no pain.

Senator Alfred Holt Colquitt, of Atlanta, was born in Walton county, Ga., the son of the Rev. Walter T. Colquitt, an eminent minister in his day. April 20, 1824. He was graduated from Princeton college in the class of 1844, and admitted to the bar in 1845. During the Mexican war he served as a staff officer with the rank of major. He was a member of the Georgia legislature in 1859 and was elected to the house of representatives in the Thirty-third congress.

He was a member of the secession convention of the state of Georgia, and later entered the Confederate service as captain and was soon promoted to be colonel of the Sixth Georgia infantry. Later he served as brigadier general, and was elected to the Georgia legislature in 1868. His term of service would have expired March 3, 1895.

Senator Colquitt was stricken with paralysis in July, 1892, and since that time has been unable to walk without assistance. He has been able, however, to continue in a large degree his attendance on his senate duties. He has been wheeled in and out of the senate chamber in an invalid chair, has attended the meetings of committees of which he was a member, but has not made a speech or been able to take any active part in debate on the senate floor. He has been present to vote on all important occasions, and during the prolonged silver struggle during the recent extra session was daily in his place. He was even wheeled into the chamber several times to help keep a quorum during the nights when the senate sat in continuous session.

The senator has been, even in his enfeebled condition, active in looking after the interests of his constituents about the government departments and bureaus, although he had to be taken there in his wheel chair by the attendants. His seat in the senate was the one on the Democratic side nearest the vice president's chair, at the foot of the center aisle, where he could easily secure recognition without rising. A few weeks ago his strength had so greatly increased that he was able to dispense with the invalid chair and walk into the senate on the arm of a doorman.

For years, Senator Colquitt was prominent in church circles, and during his congressional career he was one of the most active members of the congressional temperance society, an organization which has existed for more than a half century. His term in the senate was to have expired at the third of next March, and recently he had announced to the state legislature that he would be a candidate for re-election for a third term.

Senator Colquitt leaves a wife, one son, Walter T. Colquitt, and four daughters, Mrs. Marshall, wife of Capt. Marshall, of the United States army, Misses Laura, Hattie and Dorothy Colquitt.

QUARRELED OVER A GIRL.
Henry Roberts Started Shooting and Was Killed Himself.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 26.—A special to the Republic from Washington, Mo., says: Early yesterday morning an old quarrel about a girl was renewed between James Torand and Henry Roberts, at a negro festival in James Flowers' house in South Point, a small town one and a half miles east of here.

Roberts pulled his pistol and shot at Torand, but missed him and hit a woman on the arm. Torand then shot Roberts three times, two balls taking effect in his neck and one in the side of his head, killing him instantly. Torand escaped. Roberts was 37 years old and leaves a widow and young babe.

FEUD IN WEST VIRGINIA.

It May Equal the Famous Hatfield-McCoy Family War.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 26.—A special to the Commercial Gazette from Williamson, W. Va., says: What will undoubtedly prove to be a feud equal to that of the famous Hatfield-McCoy family has just commenced at Thacher, W. Va., a little hamlet forty-five miles east of this place.

W. S. Ferrell, an extensive coal land owner and merchant of Thacher, was called from his residence at midnight last night and shot. His death is momentarily expected. Men are banding together on both sides and serious trouble is expected.

The Russo-German Treaty.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 26.—The official organ of M. Witte, minister of finance, calculates that the concession made by Russia to Germany in the new commercial treaty amounts to 250,000,000 roubles, while the Russian agricultural export trade will alone gain by the German concession 6,000,000 roubles. Besides this free passage will be allowed into Germany of Russian goods amounting yearly in value to 47,000,000 roubles.

An Engineer Killed.

GILBERTS, Ill., March 26.—The boiler at the D. H. Hager Line works, exploded yesterday with sufficient force to destroy both the engine house and the factory. August Turnow, assistant engineer, was killed. The explosion set fire to debris, destroying the building.

An Incendiary Fire.

ST. PAUL, March 26.—The handsome dwelling house of Ross Clarke, at Bates avenue and McLean street, on Dayton's bluff, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, with a loss of about $25,000. Insurance, $16,500. The fire was incendiary, one room having been saturated with oil.

PILLSBURY AT WASHINGTON.
The Minneapolis Miller Trying to Settle the Grain Rate Case.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Charles A. Pillsbury and wife, of Minneapolis, are here for a few days' stay. Mr. Pillsbury is combining business with pleasure and will take a hand in the settlement of the chamber of commerce case against the railroads. A compromise is under way and Mr. Pillsbury is here to consult with the commission upon the matter.

Probably Foundered.
ST. JOHN, N. B., March 26.—It is feared that at least two steamers went down in the Bay of Fundy during Friday's severe storm. The schooner Star, Dryden, left Parrsboro, on that day for this port, with a full cargo of coal. The Delphine is also overdue and it is feared both have foundered.

Wiped Out By Fire.
CINCINNATI, March 26.—The Commercial Gazette's special from Winchester, Ky., says that the residence portion of Ford, a growing village, was wiped out by fire Saturday night. The Masonic hall was first destroyed and then the fire spread to other buildings, destroying eight dwellings, one business block, church and saloon. J. T. Moore was seriously hurt in falling from a building.

Very Fast Time.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—The barkentine Tropic Bird returned from Tahiti, fully decorated because of her remarkable run from this city to the islands in January. The distance is 4200 nautical miles and the journey occupied seventeen days and twelve hours, said to be the fastest time ever made by a sailing vessel on the Pacific.

Died From Poisoning.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 26.—Yesterday the dead body of Philip Sommers, a well-known druggist, was found in an advanced stage of decomposition at his room at the Hesse house. He had, it is supposed, died from morphine poisoning, but whether accidental or otherwise is unknown.

A Pool Challenge.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—Frank Sherman has issued a challenge to play any professional pool player in this country, barring D'Oro, continuous pool, 300 to 600 points, for $200 or upwards, the game to be played in Philadelphia.

Irish Composer Dead.

DUBLIN, March 26.—Sir Robert Prescott Stewart, the well-known musician and composer, is dead. He was born in this city in December, 1825.

Noted Character Shot.

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., March 26.—Hank Cunningham, a noted character in the territory, was shot and killed yesterday by W. J. McClure, a well known and wealthy stockman, whom he had threatened to kill. Cunningham had been drinking heavily.

No Coal at Redwood.
REDWOOD FALLS, Minn., March 26.—The McKinleys have stopped drilling and the diamond drill will be shipped back to Duluth. At fifty-eight feet a vein of lignite was struck; at 182 feet solid granite. This closes the investigation and proves that coal does not exist in either quality or quantity. The cost has been heavy and nothing further will be done.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.
Whereas, default has been made in the condition of a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Eliza J. Olds and Charles L. Olds, her husband, and Susan M. McLachlan and Neil McLachlan, Jr., her husband, mortgagors to American Loan and Trust Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of Duluth, in said mortgage, bearing date the 28th day of July, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m. in Book 11 of mortgages on page 403.

And whereas said mortgage and the debt thereby secured and the mortgage notes evidencing the same have been by said American Loan and Trust Company duly assigned to the undersigned A. Van Dusen who is now the owner and holder thereof, which assignment of mortgage was by written instrument in due form, bearing date July 10th, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on March 13th, 1894, at 2 o'clock a. m. in Book 117 of mortgages, on page 385.

And whereas, by the terms of said mortgage, and of the notes thereby secured, one hundred twenty dollars, interest thereon, became due and payable on July 1st, 1894, and one hundred twenty dollars interest became due and payable thereon, on January 1st, 1894, all of which is at the date of this notice, due, owing and unpaid upon said mortgage.

And whereas, said mortgage and mortgage notes are conditioned that upon default in payment of the same, as herein provided, such default constituting a breach of the conditions thereof, the holder thereof, at his option, pursuant to which and in the exercise of such option said mortgage and notes should be foreclosed and the proceeds thereof should be applied to the payment of the debt thereon, and the balance of the proceeds should be paid to the mortgagors, principal and interest.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the proceeds thereof distributed as aforesaid, on the 5th day of May, 1894, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from day of sale as by law provided.

Dated March 19th, 1894.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., March 26.—The area of high pressure which caused the cold wave of Saturday night and Sunday is this morning in the Gulf of Mexico and covers the greater portion of the United States.

Light snows are reported this morning from Kansas and Nebraska; fair weather prevails in the other sections.
The temperature is below the freezing point
as far south as the Gulf states.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
degrees below zero; maximum 15 degrees;
minimum 3 degrees below zero.

Duluth, March 26.—Local forecast until 3
p. m. tomorrow: Fair, warmer Tuesday; northwesterly winds, becoming light and variable.

JAMES KENNEL,
Local Forecast Officer.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Forecast for thirty-six hours to 9 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota and Wisconsin: Fair; warmer Tuesday morning and evening; winds becoming easterly.

A Cheerful Outlook.

The financial review issued on Saturday by Henry Claws, the New York banker, is of a very bullish character. It is full of hope, confidence and encouragement, and it is a document that it is a pleasure to read. It is devoted to the future of the stock market, but the good and sufficient reasons which are advanced for taking a cheerful position apply to nearly all lines of business. A few of these reasons may be briefly enumerated as follows:

1. Confidence is certainly reviving.
Business is slowly but surely emerging from the distress brought on by the silver crisis and grievously prolonged by tariff agitation. Stocks of merchandise have become so exhausted, with few exceptions, by prolonged curtailment of production, that universal resumption at the mills will be imperative as soon as the tariff fight is over. Outside of the tariff question, the manufacturing situation is exceptionally favorable, because wages and materials are lower than usual, and the consumptive abilities of the country have not been impaired in any such degree as its productive abilities. The business situation may be dismissed by the simple statement that it is exceptionally sound and improves daily.

2. Easy money is assured for months to come. Rates are extraordinarily low, and there are no immediate prospects of better rates. Even the approaching April settlements, usually a period of disturbance, are attracting no attention.
This question of easy money is an important factor, because it not only facilitates speculation, but in the long run encourages the demand for interest-paying properties.

3. There is a scarcity of good railroad investments in Europe, distrust of our currency system having caused a heavy return of both stocks and bonds. When this distrust is removed, as doubtless it soon will be, a marked revival in the European demand for "Americans" will inevitably follow.

4. In event of any pronounced revival at home or abroad in the demand for railroad investments, the supply would be found inadequate to the demand; for railroad building in the United States has not, for five years past, kept pace with the growth of industry and population. In the East our railroad system is alone fully developed, but this is far from true in some sections of the West.

5. The Industrials have not been a success as investments. Even as speculations they have caused greater proportionate losses to venturesome operators than railroads. There is naturally more secrecy in management and conditions of "Trusts" than is possible in the case of railroad companies. Intrinsi-cally the railroad is a vastly more tangible affair than the "Trust," and far less dependent upon individual whim or skill. Unquestionably recent experiences with this class of investments will lead to a reaction in favor of railroad stocks and bonds.

6. Several immense properties are still undergoing the process of reorganization, the first effect of which will be to greatly strengthen the railroad situation.
Such securities are usually concentrated in strong hands, or are at least very firmly held for better prices.

7. Decreases in earnings are steadily growing smaller, and the earning power of the roads soon promises to expand from the revival of trade. By great economies, chiefly for renewals and improvements, net earnings have been remarkably well sustained; and the fears of reduced dividends, which warranted the earlier decline in values, are slowly disappearing. The reports of rate cuttings and the opening of navigation have had a slightly adverse effect; but these are elements always met with about this season.

8. Small gold shipments have occurred thus far; and at the moment no heavy outflow seems probable. This will be assuring to those who are apprehensive on the subject; though as a matter of fact the New York banks could readily spare round amounts without any inconvenience. In fact, were the silver question out of sight a liberal efflux would be welcome to lenders through the stiffening of money rates that would follow.

9. The veto of the Bland bill will probably settle the silver question for good so far as this administration is concerned. This is not only the most important but the most encouraging feature of the whole situation. It will not only restore confidence in the ability of the government to maintain its obligations on a gold basis, but it will again restore American credit on a high plane the world over. A veto of the Bland bill will do much to counteract the effects of tariff changes, which have already done their worst.

This summary of favorable arguments, says Mr. Claws, need not be extended further. Arrayed against them there is little but lack of confidence and lack of purchasing ability to prevent a rapid rise in values. These are obstacles which cannot be overcome without time for recuperation, consequently the administration must be slow and irregular.
The tide has certainly turned and we are already leaving disaster behind. In this return to prosperity Duluth occupies a leading position. The depression was not felt so keenly as in other cities, and therefore this city's recovery will be the more rapid.

Burdensome Taxation.

There is one feature of the income tax provisions attached to the tariff bill which demands the serious attention of the senate before the measure is passed.
This bill as it now stands taxes not only personal incomes, but the dividends, interest incomes and other earnings of numerous classes of corporations, including savings and building and loan associations.

There are 1,654,456 members of building and loan associations in the United States, with net assets of $195,928,105.
The average asset of each member is only about $300, but under the corporation income tax clause in the Wilson bill these wage earners will have to stand the income tax just the same as persons whose incomes reach $4000 and over.

This is not just.

The tax will likewise fall upon the depositors and stockholders of savings banks, of whom there are 1,781,605 in the country, with savings of about $1,700, 000,000, or about $340 each. The 5,000-000 holders of life insurance policies will also indirectly feel the tax, providing the bill passes in its present form.
It is hoped, however, that it may be amended so that these burdensome taxa-tions may not be imposed upon the savings of the poorer classes, whether invested in building and loan associations or in savings banks. It would be an outrage to impose such taxes upon thrift and economy.

The Canadian postal authorities stopped packages of Congressman Tom Johnson's speeches, which were franked by him, and the matter has caused a dispute between the two countries. The position taken by Canada in this matter will be endorsed by the thousands of unfortunate in this country whose mail has been filled with Tom Johnson's so-called speeches.

The Anoka Herald objects to this paper's statement that the bottom appear to have dropped out of Bob Dunn's boom for state auditor, and insists that the Princeton editor is still in it. This may be true, but the indications point the other way.

The investigation at Redwood Falls shows that coal does not exist there in either good quality or sufficient quantity for mining. The Rainy Lake country may yet produce a coal mine.

The story comes from Washington that Judge Lochren is being considered by the president for the vacant position of chief justice of the United States.

When the Bland bill was introduced into the House, it was met with a storm of protest. It was said that it was a "veto in disguise," and that it was a "betrayal of the silver cause."

Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THE BEDE BANQUET.
Handsome Entertainment Given by the Children of Tower.

A party of about twenty left Duluth on Saturday afternoon for Tower to attend the birch bark banquet given at the Vermilion hotel in the evening in honor of J. Adam Bede, head of birch bark franchise. It was a most merry occasion and everybody was thoroughly entertained. Landlord Barnidge set forth his best and the citizens of Tower exerted themselves to the utmost to please their guests. In the company which left here were: Judge John W. Willis, of St.
Paul; Judge Nehaway, of Stillwater; H.
H. Hawkins, of Thomson; C. F. Maginis, F. H. White, Dr. Titcomb, C. O.
Baldwin, F. L. Ryan, George West, J. E.
Fuller, J. B. Giegge and two or three newspaper men.

About ninety guests sat down to the banquet. After doing justice to the elegant menu, the guests were called to order by Toastmaster W. R. Bonham.
Just then Dr. Barnidge arose and asking permission to interrupt, presented Mr.
Bede with an immense birch bark star and a moment later with an immense birch bark hat. John Dowling welcomed the guests and John F. Gleason responded. A letter of regret from Governor Nelson was read. H. H. Hawkins responded to the toast "Our Marshal."
His address contained considerable humor and many neat hits. His well known affection and regard for Mr.
Bede came out in an eloquent and feeling tribute.

Judge Nehaway, of Stillwater, delivered a humorous and witty response to the toast, "How to Get There." He brought down the house at the outset by remarking that it was embarrassing for a man to be introduced as from Stillwater to talk on how to get there.

C. A. Towne talked on "Our Response to the Toast." He was humorous and eloquent, and C. C. Brown read an original poem which caught the crowd. Dr. Barnidge's response to "The Bede Banquet" was humorous and contained many bright hits at Bede.

Chief Wake-on-up delivered an address in Chippewa which when translated into English was humorous and containing many of the evening. His delivery was very interesting. He started in a little nervously but in a few seconds was speaking in a clear, strong voice and gesturing as easily and gracefully as did any of the polished orators of the evening.

C. P. Maginist talked about "The Ladies." Recitations were then given by H. H. Hawkins, C. A. Towne, George West and C. C. Brown and short speeches were made by Mr. McGinnis, John Owens, Charles McNamara and others.

The guest of the evening, J. Adam Bede, then responded to the toast "What Are We Barking At." His remarks were pointed and witty and many bright sal-lies were made. In closing Mr. Bede was met by Mr. McGinnis, who sang a most eloquent and serious peroration. It was truly a word picture and presented him in the light of a hoisted orator.

Three cheers were given for Landlord Barnidge and the banquet was a thing of the past.

Cause for Thankfulness.
Cloquet Pine Knot: The Anoka Herald says that while there are a voice or more candidates for state auditor, there is only one Bob Dunn among the lot.
This is true and we cannot be too thankful for it. The state could hardly stand another Bob Dunn.

A Good Congressman.
The Mesaba Range: Hon. O. D. Kinney is mentioned by the Duluth News
Tribune as the logical candidate of St.
Louis county for congress. Mr. Kinney would make a good congressman.

Washburn Digging His Post Hole.
Pipestone Farmer's Leader: The political row in the ranks of the Republicans at St. Paul and Minneapolis required the personal attention of Senator Washburn, who has been patching up the fences for the past week. It is said there are being dug several post holes which are to be filled with political corpses this fall.

Meaneat Man Since Adam.
Chicago Herald: It must be conceded that W. C. P. Drexler is the meaneat man that ever lived except Adam. At least the name of no man as mean as he appears in the records of notoriously scandalous lawsuits in this country. While there are those who do not agree with him in the stand he took on the iron question, they showed their character when they resorted to the contemptible tactics of burning him in effigy.
Maj. Baldwin has nothing to fear.
He is making a record that will send him back to congress as certain as he expresses a desire to be returned. The people want such men to represent them.

One Price and That Right.

AMERICAN STORE.

Once Upon A Time,

Many, many years ago, there lived in London, England, a man named Dobson, who owned and conducted a dry goods store. He was a worthy man and good, and consequently held the respect, patronage and confidence of all the citizens of the then moderately-sized London. At this time England's people were just settling down after a succession of furious wars, in the majority of which she had been decidedly victorious, in lieu of which condition the worthy Dobson laid in supplies of the most gorgeous creations of ladies' merchandise in fourfold the usual quantities. The ladies were not slow in showing appreciation of his efforts, and Layman Dobson had cause sufficient to justify the comfortable chuckle of contentment. But lo! in the midst of his greatest prosperity his store caught fire, and before the flames could be extinguished, merchandise equal in value to several thousand pounds, was sorrowfully smudged and damaged, whereupon the now disconsolate Dobson felt sorely grieved and worried; but finally opened his store and advertised (by poster) the first fire sale ever conducted in the world. It proved a success for Dobson and a boon to his patrons. Dobson's success was due to the fact that he had sustained a loss and threw it to the gain of his patrons—which is the exact condition here. We have lost much and propose that our patrons shall receive the entire benefit of it. Very little money buys you a magnificent Cloak, very little money buys you luxurious warm Underwear, very little money buys you a fine Wool Dress, or an exquisite Silk, or a pair of fine Gloves, charming Muslin Underwear, very little money buys rare Laces, novel trimmings, standard Ribbons, Velvets and Veilings. Every dollar's worth of goods in the store will sell previous to repainting, renovating and redecorating the interior.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

St. Louis County Teachers are in Session at the High School Assembly Hall Today.

Addreses This Morning by Miss Isabel Lawrence, of St. Cloud, and Prof. Galbraith, of Minneapolis.

Tomorrow Morning Prof. Cushman Will Give Instruction and Drill and Music—Other Features.

The spring institute of the St. Louis county teachers met in Room 100 at the Central High school at 9 o'clock this morning and will continue until Friday. The enrollment up to noon was as follows: Flora Loudon, Alice Wallace, to Barnes and Ella Flynn, Duluth; Hilma R. Peterson and Christine Hohn, Fond du Lac; Ella Crowley, Sarah A. Smith and Stella M. Townsend, New Duluth; Ella T. Sullivan and Katie M. Sullivan, Smithville; A. L. Richardson, Mountain Iron; Minnie Sparks, West Duluth; Maude E. Cashman, Marfield. More were expected in from the large towns on the noon train. County Superintendent Sault conducts the institute and the leading instructors are Professor Galbraith, of Winona, and Isabel Lawrence, of St. Cloud. The program this morning was, in the main an improvised one. By tomorrow one more complete and definite will be issued. In addition to the work by the instructors from abroad, the training school teachers, with pupils from the city schools will do illustrative work. That feature was presented today at 1:30 p. m. Tomorrow morning Professor A. F. M. Cushman will occupy a period with instruction and drill in music. Miss Woodmansee, teacher of drawing in the city schools will also have a part in the daily program as also probably will Professor Max Alletshausen, the instructor in physical training. This instruction, while designed primarily for the county teachers, will be of great benefit to the city teachers and Superintendent Denfeld says that he hopes and wishes to see a better attendance from his teachers than there was this morning.

Professor Galbraith's topic this morning was "The Purpose of Teaching," while Miss Lawrence took "Perception" for her subject, handling it in a manner that deeply interested and instructed her hearers. The daily program will last from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., with an hour for lunch. Professor Galbraith and Miss Lawrence are stopping at the Spaulding, and those who may wish to see them outside of the institute rooms can find them at the hotel.

WANTS TWENTY THOUSAND.

An Injured Engineer Sues the Duluth & Iron Range Road.

Thomas Martin wants $20,000 from the Duluth & Iron Range road. He claims to have been running an ore train on July 18, 1888, from Tower to Two Harbors when it collided with another train standing on the main line at Okwanim. He claims negligence of the road in allowing the track to be obstructed when another train had the road. He claims to have been permanently injured in the region of the back, kidneys and spine. James A. Hanks is attorney for the plaintiff.

R. F. Fitzgerald, assignee of Simon Clark & Co., has filed a petition representing that a suit is pending having for its object the setting aside of the assignment of Simon Clark and asking permission to use the funds of Simon Clark & Co. to defend the same. Judge Ensign has ordered a hearing on April 7 on the petition.

Not Necessary to Hurry. After hearing Gov. McKinley speak at Minneapolis on the night of March 28, as the St. Paul & Duluth railroad (The Short Line) will hold their night train until 11:30 p. m. and will land you at home the following morning on time. Tickets on sale March 27 and 28 good for return passage up to and including all trains of 30th. Through sleepers and day coaches in each direction.

"The Fencing Master."

Tonight the Whitney Opera company opens its engagement of two nights at the Lyceum singing that most popular opera "The Fencing Master." This is a most pleasing opera and a vivacious performance is given it. The picturesque surroundings of the stage in the locale, Milan and Venice, give the varied and showy costumes appropriate background for their harmonious play in color. The music of the work, if it does contain "Don Quixote" melodies, is bright and winning while the acting is of the highest and to the point, with a gentle undercurrent of sentiment that is agreeable.

Miss Marie Tempest, perhaps the most widely known of American prima donnas, is the star of the company and both her acting and singing are praised everywhere as artistic and finished.

The make-up of the Whitney company shows careful, considerate and liberal management, as the cast of the opera includes such well known names as Julius Steger, Miss Lily Post, Gerald Jerome, Miss Julia Dorri, Richard F. Carroll, Miss Julia Spencer, Miss Marion Langdon, H. W. Tre Denick, A. M. Holbrook, Ole Norman, Walter West, Arthur Liebke, together with a well trained chorus of fifty voices under the efficient orchestra under the baton of Signor A. Tomasi.

Manager Whitney has provided himself with the material necessary to present this opera in the most complete manner possible. He purchased the entire plant of scenery, costumes and properties used in the original New York production and travels entirely independent of local aid, which ensures a smoothness on every opening night, that it would be impossible to obtain in any other way.

The sale of seats already assures a crowded house.

Richard Mansfield.

Richard Mansfield and his admirable company will appear at the Temple opera house on Friday evening in that rare picture of old English manners, "Beau Brummell." No other successful actor is persistent as Mr. Mansfield in allowing himself the widest range of character and the fullest display of a versatility which really amounts to genius. For some years people have been calling Mr. Mansfield a genius, and his marvelous portrayal of the great Beau would alone seem to justify that term. The special stage settings and historically correct costumes will be employed in the local presentation. There should be no delay in the application for seats, on account of the great demand.

For the Saturday matinee Mr. Mansfield will present Gaiety's brilliant comedy "Prince Karl." On Saturday evening "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be the bill.

A Close Call.

Max Beauchamp, a brakeman on the Duluth & Winnipeg, had a miraculous escape from a horrible death at Swan river last Tuesday, says the Pine Knot. While in the act of climbing onto the rear end of the tender while the locomotive was backing up, he missed his footing and fell right under the huge machine, which passed over him, nearly his whole length. He was badly crushed and bruised when the locomotive was stopped and it is astonishing that he was not crushed to a pulp. He is at present getting along nicely under the care of Dr. Allen.

Best of All.

To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the spring-time comes, use the true and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. One bottle will answer for all the family, and costs only 50 cents; the large size $1. Try it and be pleased. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup company only.

Charles A. McWherrin has removed his office from Room 21 Phoenix block to Room 9 Nicamba block.

The sale of reserved seats for the Archer concert began today, and was large.

Gold Near Virginia.

The Virginia Enterprise says in its last issue: "As we go to press we learn of the success of an exploration, four and one-half miles north of this city, for gold. The find is on lands owned by P. J. McCann. Attorney Watkins and George W. Martin, of West Superior, are interested parties."

The Cigarmakers' union will give a dance at Turner hall Easter Monday.

Weather Record for April.

April is supposed to be the month of showers but there will have to be a pretty decided change from the weather of today if this is to hold true this year. The weather bureau prospectus for April, or rather the record for the past twenty-three years, has just been issued. The mean temperature has been 35 degrees, the warmest April averaging 45 degrees in 1878 and the coldest 33 degrees in 1874. The warmest April day was the 29th, in 1891, the thermometer registering 81 degrees and the coldest 3 degrees on the 1st in 1881. The average precipitation was 2.24 inches; average number of cloudless days, 9; partly cloudy, 10; cloudy, 11. Prevailing winds have been northeast and the highest velocity attained was 35 miles on the 22nd, 1883.

Funeral of Mrs. Munger. The funeral of Mrs. R. S. Munger was held at the residence yesterday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. C. C. Salter. He spoke feelingly of the noble qualities and strong religious faith of Mrs. Munger. Rev. E. M. Noyes offered the prayer and the Arion quartet and Mrs. C. P. Craig sang. Floral offerings covered the casket and were most beautiful and elaborate in design. The remains were deposited in the vault at the cemetery.

Turner Hall Concert. A fine sacred concert was given last evening at Turner hall by the orchestra of Professors Muhlbaur and Trautvetter. Some excellent orchestra selections were rendered and solos and duets were also given. Several tableaux arranged by Mrs. C. Trautvetter were presented.

Committed to Duluth.

In the United States court at Minneapolis on Saturday, Thomas Moore, indicted on a charge of cutting an oak tree on section 15, township 153, range 50, pleaded guilty of the charge and was fined $15, three times the value of the property. He was ordered committed at Duluth.

Capt. Tinney's New Berth.

Capt. Marion Tinney, who for years commanded steamers of the Milwaukee fleet engaged in the lower lake trade and retired from the Frank L. Vance after laying her up in December last, has been appointed master of the fine Northern Line steel steamer Northern King, vice Capt. Campau, promoted to the new passenger steamer Northwest.

Train Held Until Midnight Tuesday Night on the "Omaha."

This gives a chance to see Marie Tempest at the Lyceum and leave for Minneapolis to hear McKinley the same night.

Return train Wednesday night will be held until 11 o'clock at Minneapolis.

Remember the Omaha has the only through night train from Duluth to Minneapolis and is the only line running Pullman sleepers. Sleepers ready for occupancy at 9 p. m. either end of the line.

Secure tickets, good on either line, at 105 West Superior street, on sale March 27 and 28. The "Omaha" trains are all heated by steam and lighted by gas.

Attend to your reserved seat for Archer recital.

Hernant Kitching, the Armenian, has been secured by the senior class of the high school to return and continue his lecture, "A Voice From the Orient," next Friday evening.

The school board did not hold its regular meeting Saturday night owing to the fact that no quorum was present. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow evening.

Marriage licenses have been issued in Clerk Sinclair's office to Otto Zebott and Emma Stelmer and Erick Kounine and Marja L. Kounine.

Dr. Elizabeth King will deliver the second of the series of health talks to young women this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, 23 and 24 Mesaba block.

The Ohio society have not given up all hope of inducing Governor McKinley to visit Duluth this week.

Mesaba Division No. 395 Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will give its first annual ball tomorrow evening at Normanna hall on Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.

The graduating exercises of the nurses training class at St. Luke's hospital will be held on Wednesday evening in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

A small carpenter shop, owned by S. R. Kerr and situated at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Second street, was destroyed by fire this morning, the origin being a defective stove pipe. The building was valued at $100 and contained tools valued at $200 and material to the amount of $250.

The special collection taken yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopal church amounted to $1220. In the afternoon the collection at the Knight Templar service amounted to $60 and was for the hospital.

Board Did Nothing.
The board of public works met this morning, but outside of passing a few bills, nothing was done. Despite the anxiety of waiting applicants for appointments, nothing was done in the way of selecting the board's subordinates.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh of the bladder. It is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Remedy is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, P. O. Box 261, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by druggists, etc.

PERSONAL.

City Clerk Richardson is back from St. Paul, where he spent the Sabbath. R. A. Taussig was called East this afternoon by the death of Mrs. Taussig's mother. Mrs. Taussig is now in the East.

Walter Arnold, the St. Cloud granite man, is in the city.

A. McLaren, the lumberman of Chipewah Falls, Wis., is in the city.

Walter Watrous has gone to Minneapolis for a week's visit.

Mrs. Page Morris and children are expected to return soon from Virginia.

Mrs. S. L. Merchant goes East tomorrow to be away three months.

A. D. Allibone has returned from the East.

Miss Watrous, of East Second street, has returned from Virginia where she has been visiting.

G. G. Hartley will return from New York on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Webber have returned from the West.

Mrs. Edward Mendenhall is ill with typhoid fever.

A party consisting of General Manager W. E. Fitch of the South Shore road, and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Phelps of Marquette and Mrs. L. E. Dunham of Ashland, were at the Spalding this noon.

J. J. Rhodes and J. M. Hannafor, the St. Paul coal men, were at the Spalding this noon.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Mayor Lewis will name two fire commissioners tonight.

Tonight the council meets as usual. It is most probable that the question of salaries for members of the board of public works will come up and it is not unlikely that some fun will be seen if the two factions in the council do not get together and settle their differences before the evening meeting opens. Two or three aldermen have their vials of eloquence unhooked and threaten to tell some unpalatable truths, as they say, if too much inharmonious is stirred up.

It is said that the mayor will name the fire commissioners tonight and that A. T. McGregor and E. C. Little will be the men to secure the honors.

It is not expected that the police question will come up tonight. In fact it is given out that but few changes will be made in the department. A few new men will soon be put on and about the first of the month there may possibly be a little change among the officers.

Rainy River Map.
E. S. Sheppard has issued a very fine map of the Rainy River district. It shows all the lakes and rivers and small streams, the principal trails, the points where the Indians are located, the farms under cultivation and the steamboat landings, portages, etc. It is a very valuable map and should obtain a ready sale.

Daily University Paper.
MINNEAPOLIS, March 26.—The board of the Ariel, the university paper, has decided to issue the paper tri-weekly for the rest of this school year, and with the beginning of the next year make the issue daily.

IN THE CITY'S FAVOR

Good Reason to Believe Judge Moer Will Decide for the City in the Injunction Cases.

Two of the Three Points Raised Decided But the Third Will Require Some Study.

Thirty-five Vagrants and Drunks Brought Before the Municipal Court Today—Many Willing to Work.

The hearing of the arguments on the water bond injunction cases occupied nearly the whole of Saturday afternoon as well as the morning. Judge Moer took them under advisement. Has announced his decision on two of the points but is considering the third. The three points are: First, that the proposed issue of bonds would increase the city's indebtedness above the 5 per cent limit, contrary to the charter; second, that the issue would be invalid because in the advertisement for bids the mayor failed to fix the place at which payment of the principal and interest should be made; third, that an unreasonable time had elapsed between the time the people voted the bonds and the time of issue.

The first two points Judge Moer decides favorably to the city and the third he will announce in a few days.

This morning the case of Wisconsin Pressed Brick company vs. David Hood was on trial before Judge Moer. This has been to the supreme court and back again. The plaintiff furnished a quantity of brick to the defendants and sued to recover for the same. The defendant alleges that the brick furnished was not of such quality as required and that the plaintiff knew the purpose for which they were to be used and was to provide brick suitable for that purpose. The plaintiff won, the defendants appealed and secured a new trial. They now allege that the plaintiff was to furnish brick according to a certain sample and failed to do so.

Judge Ensign is in court in room No. 2 today. Mesaba & Northern Towns company vs. Crane & Ordway company was taken under advisement. Christian Casper vs. the City of Duluth, Klippen, is a deputy sheriff. He attacked Casper's stock by mistake and Casper now claims damages to the amount of between $500 and $700.

HAVE NO RECOURSE.
Several Men Willing to Work Glad to Get a Few Days Work in Jail.

In police court this morning thirty-five men were arraigned on the charges of drunkenness and vagrancy. Six charged with vagrancy pleaded not guilty, three were discharged and the remainder, including a few drunks were committed for the usual period. The unfortunate ones were brought to jail in two divisions, eighteen in one and seventeen in the other.

Very few of the men up this morning pleaded guilty and it seems they were out of work, out of money and wanted to get out of this cold weather. As one after another got up and pleaded guilty, a half smile was seen on the faces of many, just as though they had decided and agreed to make the best of a hard condition and let the city take care of them five days since. It has no work for them.

Chief Armstrong said this morning: "There are fully 200 idle men in town who have no homes here. The Friendly inn has been filled to its utmost capacity. Within the last thirty-six hours fully forty men of this class have drifted into town. Saturday night, we lodged thirty-four in the police station. These fellows cannot be kept off the earth. Many of them are decent and anxious to work. What disposition to make of them is a knotty problem."

"Jim" Burns' Case.
ST. PAUL, March 26.—The testimony in the Burns' investigation was filed with the governor this morning and by stipulation of the attorneys the argument was set for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the governor's office, when counsel for both sides will have an opportunity to argue the case at length.

Brief Sessions.
WASHINGTON, March 26.—The house was in session only a short time today, adjourning until tomorrow out of respect for the memory of the late Senator Cullitt. The senate also adjourned.

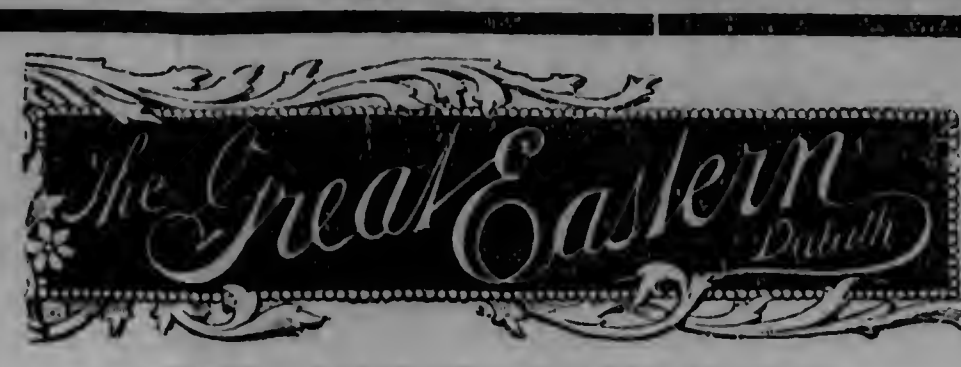

Pension Fraud Cases.
MINNEAPOLIS, March 26.—The grand jury was held promptly this morning and at once began work on the Van Leuven and other pension fraud cases.

A Grand Play.
Miss Agnes Herndon's great comedy drama "La Belle Marie" is one of the very few plays that can be said to please everybody. Its strong comedy, pathos, sentiment, thrilling denouements, startling climaxes and laughable oddities are so admirably woven and blended together that there is not a dull moment from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The interest in the play is never allowed to lag, and the evening passes away before one is hardly aware of it. It is one of the truly great comedy and dramatic successes of the day, and will be seen at Temple theater April 9 and 10.

Auction Sale.

Competition open to pupils of all schools of Duluth, West Duluth, Lakeside and Woodland.

Each advertisement submitted must mention the name of the paper in which you saw the ad., and have the writer's name and grade and teacher's name attached.

Many of the best friends of The Great Eastern are the boys and girls attending school. The purpose of offering these prizes is a double one. We want to interest these friends and also show that we are interested in them. Some of the boys will be pretty sure to become merchants, and who knows but the girls will also be at the head of some big mercantile house, and this will give valuable training to their young minds. At any rate it will direct attention to the practical things of life, and that of itself will certainly be a good thing. To all who desire to compete for the prizes a cordial invitation is extended to draw upon our information for points concerning the material, manufacture and distribution of the items, made subject of the ads.

FOR A GIRL'S SMILES.

Society in Omaha is Greatly Shocked Over a Glove Fight Between Two Prominent Youths.

The Son of Dean Gardner and a Millionaire's Hopeful Quarreled Over an Omaha Beauty.

Twenty Rounds Were Fought in a Billiard Room and Young Gardner Was Knocked Out.

OMAHA, March 27.—The spectacle of the son of the dean of Trinity cathedral ending up holy week by fighting with gloves in a 16-foot ring for the smiles of a girl is disturbing Omaha Easter notes. Irving Gardner, son of Dean Gardner, and Harry Colpetzer, son of a millionaire lumberman, fought twenty rounds, the former being knocked out. They quarreled over a well-known Omaha beauty and agreed to settle it under Queensberry rules.

The principals, their seconds, time-keeper and the professor of physical culture, who acted as referee, went to the billiard hall in the Colpetzer mansion, under guise of having a friendly game with the cues. In the billiard room a 16-foot ring was marked off, the gloves were put on, names were called, and Gardner and Colpetzer shook hands.

The battle was long and evenly contested. In the nineteenth round Colpetzer rushed Gardner into the corner and swung on his ear. This dazed the latter and he was only saved by the call of time. The twentieth and last round was a fierce one. Colpetzer reached his rival's nose and received a stinging blow on the mouth in return. There was a clinch, a breakaway and another rush, and Gardner was knocked down by an uppercut on the chin. He failed to respond when time was called, and was counted out.

The matter of dispute was finally and forever settled by this contest. Omaha society is greatly shocked over the affair.

A Similar Event.
TOLEDO, March 27.—Charles Stevig and Albert Harrington, of this city, fought a finish fight last night to determine which should have the hand of Miss Marie Heggs. Stevig was knocked out in the fourth round and resigned his claim as a suitor.

TERRIBLE SHOOTING SCRAPE.
Hoke Napier, a Well-Known Lumberman, and Henry Collins Killed.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., March 27.—Yesterday evening about 5 o'clock, at Fleming, a small town on the Norfolk & Western, a terrible shooting scrape occurred in which two men were killed almost instantly.

Hoke Napier, a well-known lumberman, was walking along the street when he was overtaken by Henry Collins, a former employee of his who had been discharged about a month ago. Collins, with an oath, demanded a settlement of their difficulty, and at the same time drew a revolver. Napier also drew his revolver and both men fired at the same instant.

Collins was hit under the right arm and died instantly, the ball from Collins' revolver taking effect in Napier's abdomen and he lived only a few hours. Collins was quarrelsome and a cousin to the notorious Collins who is now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for rubbing a train in this city last year, at which time one man was killed.

FRUIT IN OHIO KILLED.
The Severely Cold Weather Ruined Early Fruit and Vegetables.

CLEVELAND, March 27.—Reports received from many points in northwest Ohio show that the temperature dropped from 10 to 15 degrees above zero last night. It is believed that all kinds of early fruit and vegetables have been killed in many sections.

The two weeks of extremely warm weather before the cold wave, brought out the buds on the fruit trees and gave all kinds of early vegetables a good start. Early peaches, pears and cherries have especially suffered from the freezing weather.

A FIENDISH ATTEMPT.
Two Drunken Men Tried to Rape a Six-Year-Old Girl at Thomson.

CARLTON, Minn., March 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—A report reached here late last evening to the effect that Harry Kelly, of this place, and an unknown Frenchman, while under the influence of liquor, attempted rape on a 6-year-old daughter of Joseph Enslin, a prominent citizen of Thomson, but were scared away before accomplishing their purpose. The Frenchman is in custody. Kelly fled and officers are now in pursuit.

CUT THIS OUT.

WINTER WHEAT DAMAGED.

The Recent Cold Snap Thought to have Done Much Injury.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The Herald says: It is feared that the recent cold snap, following a season of warm weather, greatly damaged the winter wheat crop, but it is too soon to give even an approximate estimate of the injury. Even those in the best position to judge, differ in their opinions and are disposed to await later and more definite advice.

The crop is thought to have been damaged in Western Kansas and Oklahoma, though a ray of hope is found in the fact that the ground was dry. Central and Eastern Kansas is reported to have escaped without serious loss. Opinions on the Minnesota crop are contradictory, but it is likely to suffer if the cold weather is followed by a sudden thaw. Some farmers think that in the absence of alternate freezing and thawing, the wheat has escaped damage.

It is thought the Ohio crop was not far enough advanced to be injured. In Eastern and Central Nebraska wheat is believed to have suffered severely, but farther north and west the recent snow-fall has protected the growing plants. It is feared that Indiana wheat has suffered considerably, but if the cold has not reached the roots, as is hoped, the damage may not be as serious as feared. A report from Spain, Ill., says the crop is badly damaged, in one locality to the extent of 50 per cent.

It is thought Michigan has escaped without serious injury. North and South Dakota are not in the winter wheat belt. In the latter the melting snow will benefit spring wheat. In the former planting is backward and the acreage of spring wheat will be one-third less than last year.

SENATOR COLQUHOUN'S FUNERAL.

Services in the Senate Chamber Conducted by the Blind Chaplain.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Funeral services over the remains of Senator Colquhoun were held in the Senate chamber today by a very distinguished company.

President Cleveland was not present. Justices of the Supreme Court, except Secretary Lamont were there. Gen. Schield represented the army, and Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justices Brandeis, Gray, Brewer, Brown, Shiras and White, of the United States supreme court, occupied seats immediately behind those of the cabinet members, and back of them were members of the diplomatic corps.

Senate Chaplain Milburn, assisted by Chaplain Baskin of the house, conducted the services, after which the senate adjourned until tomorrow.

A Costly Hog.
KANSAS CITY, March 27.—John Carroll and Thomas Hancock, of Mercer county, Missouri, have been indicted for the killing of one male Berkshire hog valued at $7 and went to law about it. The case went through the police and circuit courts and finally to the court of appeals. Hancock has lost the case in each court and it is stated today the litigation has cost him about $700.

A Home Rule Victory.
LEITCH, March 27.—The result of the election held here yesterday is a victory for C. Munroe Ferguson, Home Ruler, who was seeking re-election to parliament on his appointment as junior lord of the treasury. The following are the results: Ferguson, 1,000; Home Ruler, 825; Bell, Liberal-Unionist, 420; home rule majority, 110.

No Executions Without Trial.
LONDON, March 27.—The Brazilian minister here has received the following dispatch from Rio Janeiro: "There is a statement in the press that prisoners have been executed without trial. The recent decree of the ministry only referred to military tribunals and to crimes and outrages connected with the revolution committed at Rio de Janeiro, and at certain other points in Brazilian territory."

May Expel "Willie."
CHICAGO, March 27.—The Union League club, the most influential social organization of Chicago is, it is said, seriously considering the question of expelling Congressman Breckinridge from honorary membership. There are but three names on the club's list of honorary members—ex-President Harrison, Caucancy M. Depew and the Kentucky congressman.

Killed by a Fall.
LONDON, March 27.—Commander Verry Lovett Cameron, the distinguished African traveler, after hunting with Baron Rothschild's hounds at Leighton-Buzzard, Bedfordshire, was thrown from his horse and died four hours later.

Fire at Hot Springs.
HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 27.—Fire started after midnight gutted and practically destroyed Hotel Pullman, one of the finest hostleries here. The damage to the building and furniture will reach $50,000. It was a stone and brick building of the latest style inside and out.

Home Rule Funds.
LONDON, March 27.—The archbishop of Kingston, Ont., has cabled to the Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., the sum of £300, being the first instalment of subscriptions to the cause of home rule.

Dayton Gets Two-Thirds.
ST. PAUL, March 27.—In the matter of Lyman C. Dayton against James C. Reed et al., a decision has been filed which, after settling the rights of certain mortgagors and lienors, says that the plaintiff is entitled to an undivided two-thirds. The property is worth about $200,000 and the plaintiff claimed title to the whole of it. It was property left by Mrs. Dayton, Reed, her son by another husband, having been named as her heir.

MAJ. MOORE RECALLED

The Colonel's Promise to Marry Madeline Was Made Without Any Apparent Show of Compulsion.

When He Made the Promise, Miss Pollard Seemed to be Very Gratiified With It.

Although the Major Was Recalled by the Defense, the Plaintiff Scored Several Good Points.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Attorney Butterworth, of Col. Breckinridge's counsel, kept the circuit court waiting for a quarter of an hour and then failed to appear at the first session of court today. Finally the defense called to the witness stand the chief of police, Maj. Moore, in whose offices there had been two promises made by Col. Breckinridge to marry Miss Pollard on May 13 and 17, 1893. It was proposed to contradict some of Miss Pollard's statements regarding these interviews.

Maj. Moore denied that in either of the two interviews Col. Breckinridge had said: "This is one of life's tragedies," or that he had said anything about Miss Pollard bearing two children, or being pregnant. In neither interview had Col. Breckinridge said "she knew I was a married man when she took me," nor had Miss Pollard said "Yes, I gave myself to him."

"How long did that interview last?" asked Judge Wilson, in cross-examination.

"Fifteen or twenty minutes."

"A great deal was said, then, that you don't remember?"

"Yes, sir."

Answering further questions the major said that he had only made notes of what impressed his mind after the interview was concluded; that Miss Pollard and Col. Breckinridge had talked all the time, Miss Pollard seeming excited and doing most of the talking, while Col. Breckinridge seemed cool. He would not pretend that he recalled everything. Much had been said which he could not remember, as that part of the conversation he had recorded in his notes would not have occupied more than half a minute. His attention had not been called to the conversation for three months.

The second interview, it was developed under cross-examination, had lasted nearly an hour, and had been as excited as the first. Miss Pollard, doing most of the talking.

"This was the interview of May 17 when Miss Pollard narrated that she lay on the sofa, Col. Breckinridge sat beside her, and afterward he took her hand in his and your own hand and promised to marry her?" repeated Judge Wilson, aiming to emphasize an old score.

"Yes, sir."

Then when Judge Wilson asked if anything had been said or done in that interview to indicate that the promise of marriage was merely a scheme between the two parties to make in good faith, the defense was strenuous in its objections, protesting that it called for an opinion which should be the province of the jury, not of a witness.

Judge Bradley admitted it, however, and the major said nothing had been done of the sort to indicate a scheme such as had been described.

There was a tilt between the attorneys over the latitude which was permissible in the cross-examination, and Judge Bradley decided that since the defense had made the chief its own witness, the cross-questioning could cover the whole field of the interview. Thereupon, in response to Judge Wilson's last question, the witness said that Miss Pollard's manner had indicated gratification when the colonel promised to marry her.

The redirect question from Mr. Selby whether if Col. Breckinridge had said that Miss Pollard bore him two children, he would have made a note of it, was overruled, as was a question as to when he first became aware that plaintiff claimed that she bore two children by the defendant. This ended the second appearance of Maj. Moore, after some clever questioning by both sides and the court adjourned for the day.

Major Hay was called, but no one recognized by that title the chief of officer of the National Order of Elks and a well known local attorney and after dinner speaker. "Major" Hay failing to appear, Dr. E. M. Schaefer, deputy coroner of the District of Columbia, a tall, slender, bearded, spectacled man, was called as an expert upon handwriting.

He testified that the black bordered letter denied by Miss Pollard and the others were written by the same person. Edwin B. Hay gave similar testimony and the court adjourned for the day.

Dayton Gets Two-Thirds.

Reed et al., a decision has been filed which, after settling the rights of certain mortgagors and lienors, says that the plaintiff is entitled to an undivided two-thirds. LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY
Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., March 27.—The barometer is highest over the lakes. An area of low pressure that is central in Southwestern Montana this morning advances by general cloudiness over Montana, the Dakotas and the Canadian Northwest and snow in Montana.
It is to 20 degrees warmer in the districts from the lower and middle Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains, but the temperature continues below the freezing point as far southward as the Gulf states.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
6 degrees above zero; maximum 20 degrees above zero; minimum 4 degrees below zero.
Duluth, March 27.—Local forecast until 8
p. m. tomorrow: Increasing cloudiness, followed by light snow; warmer this evening and Wednesday morning; mainly windy; probably clear by Thursday morning.
JAMES KENNEL,
Local Forecast Officer.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Forecast for thirty-six hours in p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin and Minnesota: Generally fair; slightly warmer Wednesday morning; south winds.

An Interesting Contest.
The Pacific railway companies are showing their hand at Washington. An effort is being made to sidetrack the resolution introduced in congress by Mr.
Boatner, of Louisiana, which directs the attorney general to begin suits against the Union Pacific to recover the amounts due to the government. The resolution is in the hands of the judiciary committee, which is not pleasing to the railway companies, and the result is that a movement is on foot to have it recalled and then referred to the Pacific railway committee. The chairman of the latter committee is fighting for the reference to his committee, but the contest is attracting much more than ordinary interest as it is regarded as an issue of much wider extent than one between house committees.

Representative Boatner is quoted as saying that he had no choice between committees at the outset, the question has assumed such proportions that he will resist any effort of the Pacific railway committee to get control of the subject. Mr. Boatner says that the press and the public evidently take the position that the effort to take the resolution away from the judiciary committee is a move in behalf of the Pacific railway companies, and while not unwilling to endorse their views, he cannot be placed in the position of surrendering to the railroads.
Aside from this, Mr. Boatner says the Pacific railway question is essentially a legal one. The roads are in the position of defaulting debtors. Under these circumstances, the judiciary committee is the proper body to devise means for forcing a settlement. The fact that the debtors are railroads is a mere incident.
Mr. Boatner says that the Pacific roads committee have no real right to control the subject, and most people will agree with him.

An Editor for Congress.
The Waverly Tribune urges the nomination of an editor as the Republican candidate for congress in this district, and mentions Messrs. Eaton, Buckley, and French of the western end of the district. This is not a bad idea. Indeed it has many favorable features to recommend it.

Of course the editor who becomes a candidate for office makes a serious mistake, so far as his newspaper work is concerned, as the two positions do not work well together, but sometimes politics offers to an editor a way out of the daily grind of the newspaper business and a chance to improve his condition financially. A congressman's salary is large compared with the average editor's stipend, and this form of a considerable inducement. It can also be said in behalf of this idea that some of the brightest and ablest public men the country has seen graduated from newspaper offices.
Therefore the Waverly Tribune's suggestion deserves consideration.

There are many Republican editors in this district, however, outside of Wright and Sherburne counties, and St. Louis county has a few who would make splendid congressmen. There is Dr.
Fred Barrett of the Vermilion Iron journal—where can the Republicans find a better man to represent the Sixth district? Then there is Editor M. A.
Hays of the News Tribune, a staunch and unforgiving Republican who sits up nights to coin new phrases to confound "the enemy."
By all means, let one of the editors be named by the Republicans. The Democratic editors have been getting a big share of the "loaves and fishes" distributed at Washington, and the Republican editors should be given a chance to capture some of the good things of life.

The Minneapolis papers are boasting that the compromise with the railroads regarding wheat rates is a great victory for Minneapolis over Duluth. This shows how very little it now takes to please the Minneapolis people. The fact is that the original order of the commission gave Duluth a differential rate from the wheat raising centers of from 1 to 5 cents less than Minneapolis. The new proposition provides also for a differential which in no case is to be higher than 4 cents.

The Fire Commissioners.
The mayor's nominations to the board of fire commissioners indicate that he intends to work some needed reforms in that department, as indicated in his inaugural message to the council. A. T.
McGregor is appointed to succeed himself, having shown a constant desire to do everything in his power to create an efficient fire department, although being in the minority on the board all his efforts in that direction proved futile.

The other gentleman named for a position on the board is E. C. Little, one of Duluth's best known citizens and a splendid man for the office. Mr. Little possesses a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the city in the matter of fire service, and he can be depended upon to join with Mr. McGregor in reorganizing the department in a manner that will produce good results.

There should be no hesitancy on the part of the council in confirming these excellent appointments. The aldermen should confirm them at next week's meeting, so that the new fire board may be promptly organized and the department speedily brought to a state of efficiency.

The Charleston News and Courier, noticing that Col. J. Hampton Hoge has left the Democracy adds: "And now, Mr. Chairman, if it is entirely in order,
we would move that Hon. W. C. P.
Breckinridge, of Kentucky, be permitted to withdraw from the Democracy also." The motion is being numerously seconded.

D. C. Anderson, who has been editor of the Carlton County Vidette for several months, has purchased the paper and will give the people of Carlton a good local paper. Mr. Anderson deserves good support, and if he receives it, the Vidette will be a credit to Carlton.

Coxey's army reached Louisville minus the band and many of those started on the tramp. The "weary walkers" are not in the habit of walking so fast. It is too much like work.

If the board of public works should meet once a week during the coming year it would be often enough, and $300
a year would be ample compensation.

A school of journalism is to be opened in St. Paul. The local staffs of the morning papers might attend it with profit.

Spring, Gentle Spring.
How dear to my heart, were the signs of the year.
When I was a child, and such pleasures were
The whistle, and the, and my own frozen gi-Gardens.
Were the joyful days of which nobody knew!

Oh! the old Northern blizzard,
The cold, shivering blizzard,
That most blinding blizzard,
Which east such a spell!

But how friendly a sound that wretched old blizzard,
Made me when I went a-courting sweet Nell;
Fond words which I whispered—the wail of a warred
Distorted into a mere meaningless yell!

Oh! the dread Northern blizzard,
The blinding blizzard,
The love tending blizzard,
Which east such a spell!

And yet, my happiness now that friendly old
blizzard
Flung towards me in a way not easy to guess; Lashed me a question, how the blizzard, and then—whiz!

Borne on the wind, a glad shout, rang a bold
On! that delightful blizzard,
That lovely old blizzard,
That most blinding blizzard,
Which east such a spell!

The Republican Candidate.
Waverly Tribune: The Elk River
Star News nominates W. H. Houlton or John T. Allen for congressman on the Republican ticket, and our esteemed neighbor, the Monticello Times, while it observes a prudent reticence in regard to the matter, says that if Judge Allen will consent to the use of his name in the next convention he will surprise some of the Sixth district politicians. The Tribune would not wish to furnish advice so delicate a subject, but if Wright or Sherburne are to have a candidate, why not turn to one of our editors? Either Mr. Eaton, Mr. Buckley or Mr. French would be preferable to any candidate yet named from here.

"The Logical Candidate."
Le Sueur Sentinel (Dem.): Ex-Senator Dwight M. Sablin, of Stillwater, is said to be a candidate for senatorial honors again. Mr. Sablin was the logical choice six years ago, but the cash transactions at the last moment carried the caucus against him. Over seventy members of the Republican caucus voluntarily pledged themselves for him, but some of them "saw a man" the last day, and forgot to vote as they had said they would. Let us hope that Minnesota politics may not again be tainted with such open bribery.

A Great Actress.
The following critique was recently passed on Miss Agnes Herndon by the Chicago Tribune:
"The verdict was unanimous, that star, play and company were a success. In the intense as well as the comedy scenes, her genius was evident—grand passion, bitter scorn, deep hatred, and relentless vengeance were truthfully depicted.
Miss Herndon's magnificent physique and loquacious face, made her an embodiment of the mutinous and surging passions, while for the lighter shades of tenderness and trust she was all womanhood." The applause was great and discriminating, and Miss Herndon enjoyed the compliment of being called before the curtain at the end of each act and also after the play.

Miss Herndon appears at Temple theater, Monday and Tuesday, April 9 and 10.

THE CLASS OF '95.
Exhibition of the Juniors at the High School
Last Evening.

The assembly hall at the High school was well filled and the junior class gave a very creditable exhibition. The program was finely arranged and was carried out in an excellent manner. Schubert's "March Militaire" was played on the piano by Misses Alice Jones and Nellie Cate. A class chorus "The Stars That Above us are Shining" was sung and Hamilton Peyton then explained the purpose of the exhibition in an address entitled "Our Bow." Alfred Thwing discussed the army and navy, his subject being "Our National Defenses." Miss Annie McInerney recited "The Senator Entangled" in a clever manner.

Her Carl Riedelberger played a violin solo, De Berio's Concerto No. 1 in D major and was greeted with the same marked enthusiasm that has attended all of his performances. The debate "Resolved that Labor Unions Are a Benefit to the Country" was argued in the affirmative by Edwin Morgan and in the negative by Lewis Merritt in an interesting manner.

Essays were also read by Miss Phoebe Zimmerman on "The Ideal American Girl" and Miss Rose Wickey on "Nin-ty's Conus." Miss Jennie Crowley gave a recitation, "The Whistling Regiment," accompanying it with a whistling solo with piano accompaniment, and made a great hit.

Walter Scott's paper was the "Junior Record." These were distributed throughout the hall. It is the class paper and well edited, bright and sparkling, with plenty of neat bits and is a model, typographically speaking.
Raymond Omer, president of the class, delivered an address and the class song,
"The Class of '95, Ye Ho," was sung.

The second lecture of the Associated Charities course will be delivered this evening at 8 o'clock by Mr. A. M.
Musical selection will be given under the direction of Miss McDonald, assisted by Miss Myrtle McDonald and the professional choir. The following is the program:

Chorus—"Dance we so Gaily".....Schubert
Soprano solo—"O Salutaris".....Verdi
Basso solo—"Two Men in a Boat".....Smith
Alto solo—"Aurora".....Torre Trio—"Life Has a Power".....Donizetti
Alto solo—"For You".....Smith
Chorus—"Et Resurget".....Mozart
(From Verdi's "Aida")
Miss Theresa Lynn, accompanist.

MacLeod Captures It.
R. J. MacLeod's rink won the Big Duluth cup last evening at the Glen Avenue rink over R. R. Macfarlane's rink.
The score was as follows:
MacLeod..... 5
Macfarlane..... 4
MacLeod, skip; B. H. H. Macfarlane, skipper.

Usually involves sea sickness. When the waves play pitch and toss with you, strong indeed must be the stomach that can stand it without revolting. Tourists, commercial travelers, yachtsmen, mariners, all testify that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best remedy for the nausea, nervous and weakly travelers by land often suffer from something akin to this, and find in the bitters its surest remedy. No disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels is so obstinate as this, and it is not until the remedy is prompt and thorough remedy. Equally efficacious it is for chills and fever, kidney and rheumatic trouble and nervousness. Emigrants to the frontier, should provide themselves with this fine medical safeguard against the effects of climate, hardship, exposure and fatigue.

COXEY'S ARMY MOVING

The Commonwealth Hosts Left Alliance, Ohio, This Morning and Will Next Stop at Salem.

Owing to Gorging by the Weary Walkers, Meal Tickets Are to Be Issued Hereafter.

Food Plenty and No Incentive to Raid Hen Roosts, Pig Pens and Sheep Folds.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, March 28.—Sunshine and smiles greeted Coxe's army as they filed through Alliance on their road to Salem. About 700 people, curious and incredulous, witnessed the parade through the square here. All were not in line in the various groups for the length of the march was known. Thirty-five men managed to get on freight trains eastbound, intending to camp at the army again tonight. Before breaking camp, Marshal Brown had a serious talk with his ragged band. Two of the men had a serious fight about midnight in the tent in a dispute over the ownership of a straw bed. "Unknown" Smith said to his command that if anything of this sort occurred again, he expects to be in it with both lists.

Owing to the gorging by the men, who have as many as four meals in succession by simply "coming again," meal tickets will be issued at Salem. Then the Commonwealth will be one man one meal.

Marshal Brown has received a message from Columbia that the citizens of Leetonia, will serve hot lunch on the line of march tomorrow.

It was the intention of the leaders of the Commonwealth army to break camp about 8 o'clock today, but the start was delayed until nearly 9. The soldiers passed a comparatively comfortable night with plenty of fresh straw for bedding and when the reveille sounded, appeared cheerful and enthusiastic. Camp fires were soon blazing and the fragrant smell of boiling coffee and fried apples filled the air. Pork and bacon fried and sizzled over the hot embers, and men with great hunks of bread stood by to sop up the hot gravy as it accumulated in the pans. It was not unlike the scenes about thousands of camp fires in the South more than a quarter of a century ago.

Food is plenty thus far, and as long as the men have all they want to eat and fairly comfortable places in which to pass the night, there will be little incentive to raid the hen roosts, pig pens and sheep folds of farmers.

The vagrancy laws of the district are stringent and give the two police justices ample power to commit the workshy to jail for thirty days or more, persons found without visible means of support.

Monday night the police found seven of the incoming legion curled up asleep in a car in the freight yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. When taken to the police station they protested that they were Coxe's van guards, but the officer failed to see the distinction between ordinary tramps and Coxe's pickets, so he gave each of them thirty days in the workhouse.

A Surprise for the Pilgrims. BUFFALO, March 28.—The police have sprung a surprise party on the Coxe good roads brigade. When the pilgrims of the road came in to ask for a night's lodging, they were placed under arrest as tramps or vagrants. About fifty were tried on that charge today and sent to the penitentiary. The city has been fairly flooded with tramps for the last few days, and the police inaugurated a concerted effort to get rid of them.

The Sluggers Arrested. NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—The Picaresque's Houston special says: The 21-round fight between McClelland, of Toronto, and Shaw, of New Orleans, wound up in the fourth round in McClelland's favor, Shaw's seconds claiming he was drugged. This nearly precipitated a row. The police interfered and took the participants to jail. The men fought at 125 pounds. The slugging was terrible while it lasted.

The Texas Democrats. WACO, Tex., March 28.—Hon. Walter S. Baker, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee of Texas, has issued a call to the Democratic party of Texas for a state convention to be held at Dallas, Tuesday, Aug. 14, next, for the purpose of making Democratic nominations to fill the state offices.

Lake Pepin Frozen. LAKE CITY, Minn., March 28.—The cold weather of the past two days has formed sufficient ice on Lake Pepin to sustain a person's weight. Two days ago the lake was almost clear of ice, but now the outlook for navigation is rather discouraging to river men.

TO MARRY A POLISH COUNT.

Miss Annie Brewster, of New York, to Wed Count Frankenstein.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The marriage of Miss Annie Brewster to Count Henri de Frankenstein is notable, not only from the fact that it brings a foreign title to another American girl, but that it ends a wooing most enthusiastic on the part of the bridegroom.

Miss Brewster is the daughter of William Cullen Brewster, president of the Plaza bank, and a millionaire. The bride's uncle, who died a few years ago, left her $1,000,000, which has since been greatly increased by good investment.

Miss Brewster is pretty, petite and a decided blonde.

Count Henri de Frankenstein comes from a wealthy old Polish family which has long been a power with the Vatican. He is about 28 years old. His complexion is dark and the lower part of his face is covered with a closely cut beard. He looks foreign and talks English with an interesting accent.

The one hitch after that in the matrimonial affair was that Miss Brewster was a Protestant, while the count was a Catholic, but Miss Brewster settled matters by entering the Roman Catholic church.

Preparations for the wedding have been magnificent, even though the participants intended it to be a very quiet affair.

The wedding took place today at St. Ignace's cathedral. Archbishop Corcoran officiated, assisted by Rev. James M. Connelly and Rev. Henry T. Newey. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. T. Dally. The altar was profusely decorated with lilies.

A COACHMAN FOR MAYOR. Edward Crudden is the "Workingman's Candidate" at Perth Amboy.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., March 28.—Edward Crudden, the Perth Amboy coachman, who wants to be mayor of the city, has presented to the city clerk a petition signed by 126 voters asking that his name be placed on the official ballots for use at the charter election on April 1.

The law requires that there be five signers to such a petition for every 100 voters. There are about 2000 votes cast at present here, and as Crudden has handed the petition to the city clerk, he remarked that there were twenty-six names more than were necessary.

Among the signers are School Commissioner T. Ernst, Excise Commissioners S. Smith and John Cluney, J. J. De Vries, W. H. Evans, W. H. Martin and other business men. A meeting of the Robert K. Crudden Reform club was held last night. The "Workingman's candidate" as Crudden delights to be called, made a vigorous speech. He spoke particularly in regard to the office of collector of taxes, and proposed to make reforms in the manner of collecting the taxes.

GROVER IS PLEASED. Glad That He Appointed J. Adam Bode as

WASHINGTON, March 28.—[Special to The Herald.]—President Cleveland told Representative Baldwin today that he was glad that he had followed Maj. Baldwin's recommendation and appointed J. Adam Bode as marshal. He thinks the appointment will yet be a very popular one.

Maj. Baldwin visited the White House to discuss Minnesota appointments with President Cleveland. He declined to state what information he secured by today's visit. Maj. Baldwin is still pushing Emil Olund for collector at Duluth. He will see Secretary Cassille tomorrow about Olund's case.

A Government Contract. WASHINGTON, March 28.—Bids for the contract for furnishing stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers to the post-office department today. The contract term is four years. There were five bids received. The lowest amounting to $770,300 by the Plimton Manufacturing company and the Morgan Envelope company, of Hartford, Conn.

Heavy Storm in Chicago. CHICAGO, March 28.—A typical March snowstorm swept down on Chicago last night and has raised all day, leaving four or five inches of snow on the level. Street car travel was badly demoralized by the damp and soggy "beautiful," the cable roads being especially hampered by the storm.

Lake Pepin Frozen. LAKE CITY, Minn., March 28.—The cold weather of the past two days has formed sufficient ice on Lake Pepin to sustain a person's weight. Two days ago the lake was almost clear of ice, but now the outlook for navigation is rather discouraging to river men.

ROSELL ON THE STAND.

A Former Lover of Madeline Pollard Introduced as a Witness by the Defense Today.

When He Began to Testify, Miss Pollard Entered the Court Room and Embarrassed Him.

He Called on Her Quite Often at Wesleyan College and Finally They Became Engaged.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—No sooner had the circuit court met for the Pollard-Breckinridge case today than Judge Wilson, of the plaintiff's counsel, requested that the disputed letter, which has been in the hands of the Breckinridge forces, be placed in the custody of the clerk of the court. He also requested that "Col. E. B. Hay, the expert on handwriting, be recalled for further cross-examination. Mr. Wilson asked him some questions about his method of judging handwritings, whereas Mr. Hay gave a dissertation upon "specific" characteristics, as he called them, illustrating his remarks by illustrations drawn off-hand on the blackboard.

When Mr. Wilson inquired upon what characteristic the expert laid greatest stress, Mr. Hay replied with an impressive genuineness, "the tout ensemble." The spectators snickered, Judge Bradley smiled, and the object of his reference to the case was shown when he proceeded to read extracts from Mr. Hay's testimony that he had seen the letter which he had said at different times that he placed greatest weight upon general characteristics and upon special characteristics.

Mr. Hay explained how he recognized his statement. "I asked if he had not testified that the letter was not written by Springer when it had been introduced by him. He replied that his belief remained unchanged that Findley was the writer."

"Did you not testify in this court recently that a will was a forgery when it was proved undoubtedly genuine?" Mr. Wilson inquired.

Mr. Hay denied that this was the fact, and Mr. Findley insisted that the case referred to should be named.

There was a stir in court when Mr. Shelby said: "Now, Mr. Rosell," and a slender, sunburned man whose dress betokened that he was from the country, came forward and kissed the Bible. Rankin Rosell was remembered.

He announced that he was a school teacher in Nicholas county, Ky., had recently been elected clerk of the county schools, had been deputy county clerk for six years and was master of the local Masonic lodge.

From March, 1881, to March, 1885, he was employed with a dry goods firm in Cincinnati going from there to Chicago, where he remained until August, 1884, returning to Cincinnati and remaining there until January 1885.

"Do you know the plaintiff, Madeline Pollard?" This was the first important question asked by Mr. Shelby, who conducted the examination, and the reply was "I do."

"State when you became acquainted with her and under what circumstances."

Mr. Rosell proceeded, somewhat paler than before and more embarrassed. "I was at that time on the fifth floor. A messenger boy came and announced that a lady wanted to see me. I went out to see who it was. It was Madeline Pollard. She introduced herself to me, said she had heard of me often and wanted to see me. She said she desired to go to Wesleyan college and asked me if I would go with her, to which I consented and did."

Subsequently he called to see her frequently. "At first," he said, "I had an admiration for the young lady. My admiration led to love and love to an engagement. We became engaged about the Christmas holidays."

DESERTING A SINKING SHIP.

The Central Pacific Road Likely to Become Uncle Sam's Property.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The Examiner reports the resignations of Huntington and Crocker from the Central Pacific directors. "I do not believe that any attempt is being made to mislead English stockholders," said Agent Lemon, who has been long in active railroad service and is a keen observer of all affairs touching transportation matters.

"The truth is," he went on, "at least in my estimation, that the real purpose is to get from under. It is a case of deserting a ship about to sink. The Central Pacific occupies a peculiar position. It is in debt to the government so deeply that there is no reasonable hope of getting out. Of course, the government has been lenient, but there is a limit to indulgence. There is a large element in the country now clamoring to have the mortgage foreclosed. I cannot see why a railroad should have so many privileges that are denied to private debtors."

"In these hard times, when the feeling towards railroads is far from friendly, a congressman who would vote to extend the mortgage on the Central Pacific for a term of years would be voting himself back to private life. And, really, I cannot see why the Central Pacific people have any right to expect further concessions. Probably they do not expect them. This is in my estimation, the reason that they are getting out, and once out, they will be out to stay."

"The Central Pacific as an independent position does not pay, and yet the government could by no means afford to take it and then permit it to run down. It would be operated in a first class manner, and if at a loss, why the people who are stepping out would not have to bear it. At the same time, no disadvantage to their remaining interest would result."

"You will see the Central Pacific become, as according to terms it ought already to have become, the property of Uncle Sam. People who can dispose of a thing are not going to have it wrested from them, for they would only lose by delay. This is why the change has taken place. It is simply an acceptance of the inevitable."

"As for the English stockholders, they are not being considered one way or the other, and all this fuss is not being made on their account."

LOUIS KOSUTH'S FUNERAL. The Services at Turin Followed by Departure for Hungary.

TURIN, March 28.—The funeral services over the remains of Louis Kosuth were held in the Evangelical church today. The city was crowded with sightseers and the streets presented a most remarkable appearance, owing to the immense number of Hungarians in full national costume who mingled with the throngs. The streets through which the funeral procession passed were lined by the municipal guards, and on all sides were to be seen mourning emblems.

The coffin inside the church rested upon a catafalque and was covered with flowers. Standing around the catafalque was a guard of honor of Hungarian students in national costume. This guard of honor will accompany the remains to Buda Pesth, with the representatives of the municipality of that city. The train will reach Buda Pesth tomorrow morning.

DOWN TO ZERO WEATHER. A Cold Wave Due at St. Paul Early Tomorrow Morning.

ST. PAUL, March 28.—Today is clear and bright, but the snow is three or four inches deep in this city and of varying depth throughout the Northwest. Heavy drifting is reported in some places, and it was hoped the snow would melt away rapidly, but that hope has been blasted.

The weather bureau announced at noon that a cold wave is headed this way. It is due by 7 o'clock tomorrow morning and the fall will be twenty degrees, which will bring the temperature down to about zero.

The Body Identified. PARK RAPIDS, Minn., March 28.—The man found dead near Elbow Lake Sunday proves to be a German by the name of Frank Miller, instead of Osgood, as was reported. The man was found within half a mile of his own house. He leaves a wife and two small children in destitute circumstances.

Gold Found Near Fairfax. FAIRFAX, Minn., March 28.—A rich vein of gold was discovered within five miles of this place. The sample exhibited at the postoffice was shown to an expert, who pronounced it genuine. A sample will be sent to the state geologist for analysis.

Declines a Renomination. LAKE CITY, Minn., March 28.—Hon. H. A. Young, the nominee of the citizens' caucus and the present incumbent of the office of mayor, positively declines to accept the renomination and the citizens will hold another caucus. Mr. Young, owing to business matters only, declines the nomination.

Made a New Loan. NEW YORK, March 28.—It is understood that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company has about completed negotiations for a new loan. Rumors have been current for several weeks that the Baltimore & Ohio was negotiating a loan in New York and London for $10,000,000.

Weather Getting Colder. MARSHALSTOWN, Iowa, March 28.—The snowstorm of last night today developed into a typical blizzard, a high north wind drifting the snow badly and the weather growing colder.

Six Inches of Snow. ROCKFORD, Ill., March 28.—Six inches of snow fell here last night and a regular blizzard raged today.

Combines Unlawful. DES MOINES, Iowa, March 28.—The anti-insurance combine bill passed the senate today. It makes it unlawful for insurance companies to combine to keep up rates, and provides penalties in fines from $10 to $500.

The Great Merchandise Slaughter

Increases With Each Succeeding Hour.

Nobody ever saw such a selling of Cloaks, nobody ever saw such a selling of Underwear, such a selling of Silks, Dress Goods, Laces, Trimmings and Velvet; such a selling of Corsets, Muslin Underwear, Skirts, Millinery Materials, Gloves and Handkerchiefs. A forest of Standard Merchandise disappearing as though in the path of some monster avalanche, and notwithstanding the drain has been wide and strong, myriads of the gems of the forest are as yet overlooked.

Everything Must be Sold!

Irrespectively, Unreservedly.

Luxurious Underwear; grand, magnificent Cloaks, pouring out like the leaves falling from the trees in autumn. Those Royal Jeweled Trimmings and Rare Laces are falling prey to the still hunters in their shopping tours through the store. Reinforced rushes are prevalent at the Glove counter, the Silk and Dress Goods counters. Backward and forward sway the crowds from one end of the store to the other, each snapping up the things they fancy, as the magnet draws the needle.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Determination of the School Board to Build the Irving School Meets With Satisfaction.

Present Building is Totally Inadequate and Additional Rooms Have to Be Rented and Occupied.

A West Superior Couple Got Hilarious While Visiting West Duluth and Were Taken In.

The decision by the board of education to erect the new Irving school building this year is receiving hearty commendation from West Duluth people. It is considered extremely unfortunate that the work could not have been prosecuted last year as the old building is overflowing with pupils and it seems almost impossible to provide sufficient temporary quarters for the convenience of the children. At the beginning of the present year two rooms in addition to the main building were secured, but the board now find that there is at present more demand for room and still another vacant building is being fitted up for the purpose. The reduction from a 21-room building to that of twenty is meeting with some criticism on the ground that it will necessitate the purchase of another costly site in a few years. The excavation for the new building was begun last spring by John T. Dixon who has since died so it will be necessary to relet the contract for that portion of the work.

Imbibed Too Freely.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blake, of West Superior, came over to visit West Duluth friends last evening and unfortunately imbibed too freely of the flowing bowl for their own comfort and the public peace. They were taken to the public house under a complaint of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. This morning they were given an early morning drive to Duluth in the patrol wagon.

SUDDEN RISE IN WHEAT.

Jumped Over Three Cents on the Chicago Board in a Few Minutes.

There was a sharp advance in wheat today. The sudden jump started in Chicago and was quickly followed by a rise in the Duluth market. The opening at Chicago was easy at 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and it remained steady for about an hour, when prices began to move upward. The shorts started to cover and the price quickly ran up to 1 3/4 above yesterday. The opening on the Duluth board was weak as compared with Chicago, being 1/2 higher than yesterday for May and 1/4 higher for July. There was a quick advance but all sales were made at only 1/2 premium for Chicago. There was heavy and active trading in both May and July. Large business was done in cash stuff, the mills being good buyers. The close and round lot on track to arrive sold at the May price. The close was very strong but irregular at 1 1/2 higher than yesterday for cash, and 1 1/2 to 2 higher for futures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 1 northern, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 2, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 3, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 4, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 5, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 6, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 7, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 8, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 9, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 10, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 11, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; July, 64 1/2; No. 12, cash, 63 1/2; May, 63 1/2; THE VESSELMEN

The Key of Lake Business for the Coming Season Lies in the Iron Trade.

Never Before Have Large Fleets Been Tied Up in Contracts Promising Such Slight Profits.

Some Large Cleveland Owners Will Take Their Chances on Wild Loads at Better Rates.

Indications Are That Shipments of Coal Early in the Season Will Be Very Light.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 29.—[Special to The Herald.]—The hopes of the lake vesselmen are now centered in the iron trade. There the key of lake business for the coming season is to be found. The business thus far done in selling iron ore and chartering boats to bring it from Lake Superior and Green Bay is at the lowest notch ever reached by lake commerce. In past seasons vessels carried freight for less money than these charters for the season, but never before have large fleets been tied up in contracts which promised so slight a margin of profit. Some say that the margin is so small as to be infinitesimal and predict that only the best of luck can save the vessel owners who have taken the contracts from absolute loss.

When the first ore carriers arrived at Lake Erie docks last spring, which was a little after May 1, there was then a little less than 2,000,000 tons of iron ore on the docks, which had been carried over the amount which the first ore carriers had on the docks this spring will be far in excess of that amount. The iron ore left over on Dec. 1 reached the enormous quantity of 3,700,000 tons. Since then small sales of this ore have been made daily, but the amount shipped out by rail is much less than last winter. The only redeeming feature is that the stock piled at the furnaces are now much lower than they were a year ago. The iron mining companies have had to face the competition of these mountains of iron ore, which lay on the docks waiting a purchaser, and the result has been that the sales during the winter of the new product of the mines have been at remarkably low figures.

It is estimated that the sales already made for this season's delivery aggregate 3,000,000 tons, which is much larger than they were at this time last year. The first sales of Norrie, Aurora and Ashland were made at $2.75 a ton, and Chandler at $2.95. Since that time a block of Sunday Lake ore, of the Gorge range was made at $3 a ton. The market has been very quiet during the past week, but some figuring is being done and more sales of ore are looked for shortly. The two Cleveland docks which hold about 500,000 tons of ore, shipped from Fairport have been fair during the winter and the docks at that port will be pretty well cleared up at the opening. There is probably the same amount of ore at Ashland at the opening as there was last year and there will be no material difference in the prices at other Ohio ports from last season.

About one-half of the ore sold has been covered by a lake freight contract and the balance will be carried by boats managed by the ore companies. Of the tonnage tied up to carry from the head of Lake Superior to the Ohio ports, some of it runs to Oct. 15, but most of the contracts expire fifteen days earlier. A block of 150,000 tons to be shipped from Marquette has been covered by a lake freight contract at 80 cents by J. H. Olthoff and Co. The ore will be carried by the Cheban and Chipewin, and the Keating, am, Becker and Aberdeen. The contract runs through the season.

The Inter-Ocean Transportation company, of Milwaukee, has all the Esplanade ore covered. The boats of that line will, during the coming season, carry to Ohio ports 150,000 tons of Pewabic ore. The wharves are in for a large block to be moved from the head of Lake Superior and a large number of owners scattered around the lakes have blocks ranging from 10,000 to 60,000 tons. Some of the largest of the local owners have not taken a pound of ore and say they cannot carry it at the rates offered and will take their chances on wild loads at better rates.

These owners claim that the outlook is much brighter than it was a few weeks ago and feel satisfied that, with a late start, as many of the local companies will not fit out until May 1, that the wild will be as good, if not better, than 80 cents from Lake Superior ports and 60 cents from Escanaba and Gladstone. Some of the local vesselmen are figuring on the shipments of ore being larger than last season and one of them, who watches the matter closely, said that with a fair improvement in the iron

WILLIE'S STORY

Congressman Breckinridge is Now on the Stand in the Famous Breach of Promise Suit.

He Had Not Proceeded Very Far With His Story When a Legal Dispute Arose.

Miss Pollard Arrived Shortly After He Began to Tell His Little Tale of Woe.

His Evidence Was Given in Clear, Mellifluous Tones But His Voice Was Rather Tremulous.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The attorney for Madeline Pollard began the proceedings in the great trial today with a request that the regular order of proceedings might be varied by permitting two witnesses for the plaintiff, who had been waiting in the city for a week and whose private business demanded their attention at home, to testify at once. The lawyers retired for a conference, and on their return announced that the request had been agreed to.

John Breckinridge was the first witness, and Stephen Dunn, a colored man, was the other. Both denied that Lena Singleton had lived in the block in Lexington, Tenn., claimed by the defendant's witnesses. The deposition of Mrs. William J. Miller, of Memphis, Tenn., who claimed that she had lived in the block in Lexington, occupied the court until after the recess.

Then Mr. Butterworth arose and said: "Col. Breckinridge will you take the stand?" and the commotion which ensued required all the efforts of the bailiffs to quiet the noise. Col. Breckinridge said he had been born in Baltimore in 1837. He had practiced law only at Lexington; he had married in 1859 but the middle name of Lexington, occupied the court until after the recess.

Here Miss Pollard and Sister Ellis entered, taking seats before the bar to the right of the defendant, amid a subdued rustling in the court room.

Col. Breckinridge, continuing, said: "I had practiced law with Attorney B. F. Butler from 1874 to the time of the appointment of the latter to the bench. "Do you know the plaintiff?"

"When did you first meet her?"

"In the spring of 1884. It was a cool morning on a train between Lexington and Frankfort. I had an overcoat on a back seat of the car and as I passed down the aisle I got it she accosted me in a perfectly proper way. I said: 'I suppose I ought to know you, but young persons grow up so soon we forget their faces.' She said: 'I am Madeline Breckinridge Pollard.' That her father admired my father; that if she had been a boy he would have named her John B. As it was, he gave her the middle name of Breckinridge. She said she was going to a sister who was dying of consumption. I expressed my sympathy and passed on."

"When did you next meet her?"

"I do not remember exactly. I received a letter from her. I have lost that letter, but the substance of it was a request that I would call on her at the college on some day of great importance to her. The substance of my reply was that it would be inconvenient for me to call at the college, but if I could give her my advice I would be glad to do so and if she was in Lexington she might call."

"Did you receive another letter?"

"I did."

"Is this the letter?" asked Mr. Butterworth, handing up the black-bordered epistle.

"It would be affectation for me to examine that. I am familiar with it." This provoked a tilt over the letter, Mr. Willson, of the defense, having been proven to have come from the plaintiff and Mr. Butterworth asserting that unless the supreme court was in error, it was not several grounds, competent evidence.

Apart from the letter, Col. Breckinridge contended, he could not relate the conversation concerning it he had had with the plaintiff when he called on her at the school a few days afterward. He could not well give the purport of the conversation concerning this letter apart from the rest of their talk. "The plaintiff," he began, referring always to Miss Pollard by the legal term, "said: 'I suppose you were surprised to receive such a letter from a school girl.' Laughingly I responded that perhaps she overestimated the importance of the matter. Then she said, 'but all this time you are standing,' and invited me to take a seat."

"Now we propose," said Mr. Butterworth, "to offer this letter to the jury that they may examine it with the admitted specimens of plaintiff's handwriting in evidence. Even if we had produced no expert testimony on the point, under the ruling of the supreme court it would be admissible."

Singularly enough, the ruling which the attorney proceeded to quote was by the great namesake of the presiding judge, Justice Bradley, of the United States supreme court. As the argument was taken up, Col. Breckinridge sank back into a chair, apparently glad of a chance to rest. His face was flushed and while testifying, his eyes frequently roved toward Madeline Pollard, or swept beyond her to the blackboard of eager, gazing men, but for the most part he kept his face turned toward the jury. He had leaned forward with right hand resting on the witness box and left elbow on Judge Bradley's desk a foot above the level of the worn wooden box. His tones were mellifluous and fluent, but noticeably tremulous as he detailed the incidents of his early

THE BLAND BILL VETOED.

President Cleveland Sent a Message to Congress Today Vetoing the Bland Silver Seigniorage Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The president has vetoed the Bland silver seigniorage bill. The president in his veto message puts it that the bill is loosely drawn and would rob us of our gold.

The veto message is long. The president says among other things: "The financial disturbance which swept over the country during the past year was unparalleled in its severity and disastrous consequences. There seemed to be almost an entire displacement of faith in our financial ability and a loss of confidence in our fiscal policy. Among those who attempted to assign causes for our distress, it was very generally conceded that the operation of a provision of law men in force, which required the government to purchase monthly a large amount of silver bullion and issue its notes in payment thereof, was either entirely or to a large extent, responsible for our condition. Thisted to the repeal on Nov. 1, 1893, of this statutory provision."

"We had, however, fallen so low in the depths of depression, and timidity and apprehension had so completely gained control in financial circles, that our rapid recuperation could not be reasonably expected. Our recovery has, nevertheless, steadily progressed, and though less than two months have elapsed since the repeal of the mischievous silver purchase requirement, a wholesome improvement is unmistakably apparent. Confidence in our absolute solvency is to such an extent reinstated and faith in our disposition to adhere to sound financial methods is so far restored as to produce the most encouraging results both at home and abroad. The wheels of domestic industry have been slowly set in motion, and the tide of foreign investment has again started in our direction."

"Our recovery being so well under way, nothing should be done to check our convalescence, nor should we forget that a relapse at this time would almost surely reduce us to a lower stage of financial distress than that from which we are just emerging."

"I believe that if the bill under consideration should become a law, it would be regarded as a retrogression from the financial intentions indulged by our recent repeal of the provision forcing silver bullion purchases; that it would weaken if it did not destroy returning faith and confidence in our sound financial tendencies, and that as a consequence our progress to renewed business health would be unfortunately checked and a return to our recent distressing plight seriously threatened."

"We have now outstanding more than $338,000,000 in silver certificates issued under existing laws. They are serving the purpose of money usefully and without question. Our gold reserve, amounting to only a little more than $100,000,000, is directly charged with the redemption of $340,000,000 of United States notes. When it is proposed to inflate our silver currency it is a tinge for strengthening our gold reserve instead of depleting it. I cannot conceive of a longer step toward silver monometallism than we take when we spend our gold to buy silver certificates for circulation, and especially in view of the practical difficulties surrounding the replenishment of our gold."

"This leads me to earnestly present the desirability of granting to the secretary of the treasury a better power than now exists to issue bonds to protect our gold reserve when for any reason it should be necessary. Our currency is in such a confused condition and our financial affairs are apt to assume at any time so critical a position that it seems to me such a course is dictated by ordinary prudence. I am not insensible to arguments in favor of coining the bullion seigniorage now in the treasury, and I believe it could be done safely and with advantage if the secretary of the treasury had the power to issue bonds at a low rate of interest, under authority in substitution of that now existing and better suited to the protection of the treasury."

"I hope a way will present itself in the near future for the adjustment of our monetary affairs in such a comprehensive and conservative manner as will afford to silver its proper place in our currency, but, in the meantime, I am extremely solicitous that whatever action we take on this subject may be such as to prevent loss and discouragement to our people at home and the destruction of confidence in our financial management abroad."

POSTMASTER METCALFE NOW.

The Editor of the Mesaba Range Made Postmaster at Duluth.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—[Special to The Herald.]—On recommendation of Representative Baldwin, Ransom Metcalfe was today appointed postmaster at Duluth, St. Louis county, vice Chester Kilburn removed. He also secured the appointment of Louisa Hopper at Hancock, Wright county, to fill a vacancy caused by death.

It is not probable now that the collector for the port of Duluth will be appointed during the present week. Representative Baldwin called at the treasury department to see Secretary Carlisle about this appointment today and was surprised to find that the secretary had gone to New York. Nothing will be done until he returns.

It is also thought that no appointment of collector of internal revenue for Minnesota will be made until Secretary Carlisle comes back.

THAT NEW DRESS!

There was a gruff old fellow once who said that he never had to consult either the almanac or the weather to know that spring was approaching. The clamor of the females of his family for NEW RAIMENT was sign enough. In deference to their demand we have brought on the first installment of the new season's fabrics and invite the Ladies to see them. We say nothing about the men. They can have the floor for a few remarks when they are made acquainted with the COST. Just now silence with them is like the opportunity we present—golden.

A PLOT NOW BREWING

Report That an Attempt Will Soon be Made to Restore Queen Lil in Honolulu.

The Queen to Proclaim Her Sovereignty and Then to Proceed at Once to the British Legation.

The British Minister Will Recognize Her as Queen and Give the Protection She Desires.

CHICAGO, March 29.—A special to the Record from Washington says: Secretary Gresham in conversation with a gentleman yesterday stated that Admiral Walker's mission to the Hawaiian waters had nothing to do with the establishment of a naval depot at Pearl Harbor, but that a dispatch had been received which indicated that an outbreak might occur at Honolulu at any time which would require the presence of a cool, shrewd and determined man to look after the interests of the United States.

Secretary Gresham undoubtedly alluded to the consummation of a rather startling plot which has been discussed while Mr. Davies the guardian of Princess Kaiulani had been in Washington. This contemplated the restoration of the queen with the assistance of England and a British protectorate in the Hawaiian islands. Mr. Davies is a thorough Englishman, his sympathies are entirely with Great Britain, and he now goes to represent her fallen majesty at the court of St. James in London.

The plan is to have the queen proclaim her sovereignty and then proceed at once to the British legation, which is only across the street from the palace in which she now resides, and there apply for protection on the pretence that her life is in danger. Mr. Woodhouse, the British minister, will recognize her as queen and give her the protection she desires.

It is undoubtedly in connection with this affair that Mr. Davies has visited Washington, and he has given due notice of the intentions of her majesty to the president and secretary of state.

TRAGEDY IN FLORIDA.
A Man and Wife Shot by the Woman's Divorced Husband.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 29.—A terrible tragedy was enacted in this city in which H. C. Huff and wife, who had been married but three hours previous, lost their lives. Mrs. Huff was formerly the wife of Thomas Trainor, a steamboat captain. Last fall she obtained a divorce from Trainor and yesterday married Huff.

After the divorce Trainor continued to visit the home of his wife and kept his clothes there. It is not known whether marriage relations were resumed but it is thought they were. Trainor claims that he went to Huff's house to obtain his clothes and was ordered out by Huff, who refused to let him have them. He refused to go without the clothes.

Huff advanced toward him with a knife in his hand. Trainor drew his pistol and shot Huff dead. He also claims that Mrs. Huff was shot accidentally by going between him and Huff. Both died instantly. Trainor is in jail.

A Six Months' Sentence.
NEW YORK, March 29.—Tax Collector Charles E. Morris of the town of Gravesend, was brought before Justice Brown in the court of oyer and terminer in Brooklyn today and pleaded guilty of conspiracy in connection with the Gravesend election frauds, and was sentenced to six months in the King's county penitentiary.

Prevented by the Governor.
MILWAUKEE, March 29.—Governor Peck ordered the arrest of principal actors and spectators at the Craig-O'Leary fight arranged to take place at Eagle last night. The sheriff and a posse of special deputies were prepared to execute the governor's orders and the match was declared off.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE CLUBS.

John Goodnow Was Re-elected President Amid Great Enthusiasm.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 29.—At the state convention of the Republican League clubs yesterday, the committee on resolutions was first named as follows: Charles A. Towne, of Duluth, Sixth district; L. H. Prosser, First district; Daniel Shell, Second district; C. H. Bosrud, Third district; J. H. Davidson, Fourth district; W. S. Coe, Fifth district; S. G. Comstock, Seventh district.

The scene in the convention hall as Governor McKimley entered was one of intense excitement. Governor McKimley was accompanied by Governor Nelson, Mayor Eastus and a number of prominent Republicans. The applause was deafening and enthusiastic and it took several minutes for it to die away. President Goodnow presented the governor of Ohio, who made a short address, which created great enthusiasm. Governor Nelson followed with a short address.

John Goodnow was then chosen president for another year. The other officers elected were as follows: Secretary, F. C. Stevens; treasurer, William E. Leary; W. A. Sperry, Oatman; L. H. Prosser, Filmore; Second district, Hays; of Brown; Fowler and John Lind, of New Ulm; Third district, Barney Stevens, of Farmington; S. H. Rich, Goodhue; Smith, Shakopee; Capt. A. H. Reed, Fourth district; Edward Rogers, C. W. Horst, A. F. Jenks, and Henry Johns, Minneapolis; C. A. Smith, Minneapolis; F. T. Gaylord, Minneapolis; Andrew B. Robbins, Sixth district; H. L. G. Weir, C. A. French, C. G. Barnard and A. W. McDowell, Seventh district; J. Gundersen, S. G. Comstock, J. H. Smith and J. F. Gill, St. Paul; R. K. Brower, St. Cloud; Olaf Oleson, Willmar.

Henry Johns, Olaf Oleson, John Lind and E. G. Rogers were afterwards elected as congressional delegates, and the remainder were chosen as delegates to the Denver convention. The congressional delegates to the Denver convention, four from each district, were as follows: First district, L. P. Peck, Kasson; Nathan Kingsley, W. A. Sperry, Oatman; L. H. Prosser, Filmore; Second district, Hays; of Brown; Fowler and John Lind, of New Ulm; Third district, Barney Stevens, of Farmington; S. H. Rich, Goodhue; Smith, Shakopee; Capt. A. H. Reed, Fourth district; Edward Rogers, C. W. Horst, A. F. Jenks, and Henry Johns, Minneapolis; C. A. Smith, Minneapolis; F. T. Gaylord, Minneapolis; Andrew B. Robbins, Sixth district; H. L. G. Weir, C. A. French, C. G. Barnard and A. W. McDowell, Seventh district; J. Gundersen, S. G. Comstock, J. H. Smith and J. F. Gill, St. Paul; R. K. Brower, St. Cloud; Olaf Oleson, Willmar.

The committee on resolutions presented the results of their work at the evening meeting. The resolutions were lengthy in character and embraced a scathing arraignment of the Democratic party, particularly in regard to active part in pensions, endorsed the administration of Governor Nelson, of Minnesota, complimented the officers of the league for faithful services during the past year and concluded by reaffirming faith in and loyalty to the principles of the Republican party.

THE IRON TRADE REVIEW.
There Are a Few Encouraging Features in the Situation.

CLEVELAND, March 29.—The Iron Trade Review of this week says: "Pittsburgh and Chicago seem to have furnished most of the moderate activity of the iron market the past week, while in the one item of pig iron, Cincinnati has perhaps given above her average record of the last few months. As if a monopoly of the finished material trade of the East were not sufficient, Cleveland, producers of pig iron have found that a $10 freight rate to Philadelphia and $10 to Harrisburg has opened the doors to western markets on the part of the Eastern furnaces are feeling their competition to some extent.

"The general report, East and West, as to finished material is that large orders are scarcer, but that the demand for small lots is well maintained and the outlook in the building lines is generally encouraging. At Chicago structural work is of increasing volume and a good business is promised in plates.

"There are evidences that consumption of heavier pig iron is quite keeping pace with the increased production. It is certain that Lake Superior Bessemer ores form a large percentage of furnace burdens today than at any time. The foundry interest continues depressed and less than half the melting capacity of the country is active. There is a belief, however, that foundry work is increasing, even though very gradually."

THE POLICEMAN KNOCKED OUT.
Fight to a Finish in the Central Police Station at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, March 29.—The Post publishes a story in which it is claimed that a genuine prize fight took place in the central police station of this city Tuesday night refereed by Inspector McAtee, and witnessed by Richard O'Mark, superintendent of police and a mixed crowd of policemen and sports, numbering about forty.

The mill is said to have taken place in the gymnasium behind bolt doors between Pat Farrell, the crack pugilist of the police force, and Timothy Scanlan, a resident of Lawrenceville.

The fight was to a finish. Scanlan had the best of it from the beginning and knocked Farrell out completely in the fourth round.

Chairman Wilson Improving.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Mr. W. L. Wilson, wife of Representative Wilson, chairman of the ways and means committee, reached here from Texas after her long visit at her husband's sick bed in that state and in Mexico. She stated that her husband was well on the way to regaining his health.

Strawberry Crop Ruined.

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—Telegrams to commission houses in this city from Kansas, Illinois and Kentucky, state that the strawberry crop will be a failure. Throughout the whole Southwest, where the season is now here, the early fruits and even grain have been seriously injured by the severe cold.

Turf Man Dead.

LOUISVILLE, March 29.—Lawrence Curran, the well known railroad and turf man died last night at the Norton infirmary in this city. He owned Sovereign, Pat, Fay S., Fannie S. and several other good ones. He also owned a joint interest in Sabine with George Long.

SPEECH BY MCKINLEY

The Governor of Ohio Addresses a Large Gathering of Republicans at Minneapolis Last Night.

A Strong Exposition of the Benefits of Protection as Compared With a Revenue Tariff.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 29.—The exposition hall was crowded last evening when Governor McKinley addressed the Minnesota league of Republican clubs. The governor was given a grand reception and delivered an able speech which was devoted entirely to the tariff question. He referred to the Republican national convention held in the same hall two years ago. While the Republican party failed to carry the election, the cause for which it contended did not fail. It survived the awful disaster, and shines more brightly and gloriously than ever before.

The past year has been a long one—the longest since the war. It has been full of changes and experiences which have been impressive and instructive, but expensive. All kinds of business have been seriously disturbed, investments have been sacrificed, capital has been despoiled of its earnings, and labor, more than all and dearer to us than all, has succumbed to the wasting blights of the great change by which industry has been cheated of its just rewards. Everything has suffered but the Republican cause. Everything has been blighted but the Republican principles. They have escaped the mid-winter which has settled upon everything else. Even the Democratic party has suffered—a calamity we could bear with resignation, if it had not also carried in its train the vast and sacred interests of the people. The Democratic party won in 1892, in every contest since the war in which it has succeeded, by a campaign of profuse and glittering promises. It now stands demoralized on the field of performance and has, so far, signally failed to redeem a single pledge it made to the people. It has been for many years denouncing the tariff, because some men became rich under its operations and others poor. The first year of Democratic control has cured all that and the prescription has proved quite as effective on the poor as the rich, for it has involved them all in a common loss. What devastation and distress has been wrought in a single year.

Let the briefest statement of the business condition at the close of the year 1892 be contrasted with the condition of that condition at the end of 1893. "The year 1892," says Dun's Review of Trade, the best non-partisan authority, "has been the most prosperous year since the war. This is the business independence of thirty years of Republican rule. Now mark the change. Says Dun's Review of Trade (1893): 'Starting with the largest trade ever known, millions crowded with work and all business stimulated by high hopes, the year 1893 has proven a sudden striking of trade, in commercial disaster and the depression of industries, the worst for fifty years.'

Governor McKinley briefly referred to the various tariff laws passed by congress since the birth of the nation and then discussed the Wilson tariff. He said: "I have looked with some degree of care through the bill. I find nothing but irritation and aggravation to the great industries of the country. No interest suffers by it more severely than agriculture, and labor of all kinds seems to have been singled out as its foremost victim. I have examined it carefully to find some section, paragraph, clause or line removing the great burden of tariff from the shoulders of the people, about which we have heard so much for so many years from the Democratic orators and have read so frequently in Democratic newspapers and platforms, but I have been unsuccessful in finding any such provision."

He condemned the provision of the Wilson tariff which repeals the reciprocity clause of the existing tariff bill and presented statistics to show the great benefits which had been secured by virtue of this clause. He then discussed the merits of a protective tariff as compared with a revenue tariff. He declared that a revenue tariff is an enemy to the American shop, the American workman, to American prosperity and American industrial independence. It has not a single element of patriotism. It has no national spirit or instinct. To supply the needs of the treasury is its chief and exclusive concern. It has no other. It is a sure precursor to national poverty, national bankruptcy and individual distress. It is the forerunner of hard times, it is without a single worthy triumph. The years in which it has been tried in the United States excite neither our respect nor pride. It has furnished no inspiring page in our history. Its record has been one of deficient revenues, greater bonded indebtedness and universal want among the people.

Governor McKinley concluded with an appeal to the people of the Northwest to contribute to the onward march of the best government on the face of the earth in the future as in the past, by standing firm for the fundamental principles of our government and of our industrial independence and prosperity.

A Heavy Defalcation.

NEW YORK, March 29.—It is reported that Frederick Edgar, discount clerk of the Tradesman's National bank, is short $17,000 in his accounts. Edgar is very ill at his home in Brooklyn and is expected to live. President Grannis said last night that Edgar had confessed the defalcation.

Blast at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—The large building at Wade and Barton streets, occupied by Louis Lipp, furniture manufacturer, and the Smith Novelty company was completely destroyed by fire, which began at 12:30 this morning. Loss, $75,000.

No other medicine has equalled Hood's Sarsaparilla in the relief it gives in severe cases of dyspepsia, sick headache, etc.

ACROSS THE TABLE.

Across the table as the bright and sparkling wine is poured, I notice with intense delight She acts supremely bored.

An idly toying with her glass, To watch the bubbles rise, She gives the absent smiles which pass For bright and apt replies.

Until the dull, despairing Jones (Who's eloquent indeed) And speaks to her in eager tones She cannot choose but heed.

While I can only sit and choke And grumble my teeth in, The scornful pour my finest joke Into her shell-like ear!

—Harry Romaine in Vogue.

A Hopeless Case.

The man had groaned so often and coughed so hard that everyone in the car was interested, and one sympathetic passenger inquired:

"Got the grip?"

"No; bronchitis."

"Which?"

"Bronchitis."

"Oh?"

There was a spell of silence. The sufferer was from Boston—that was evident because he emphasized the "B" in bronchitis in a way that left no doubt.

No one among the passengers dared to tackle the complaint until a series of deeper groans and coughs aroused them to a sense of their duty.

"I've had bronchitis myself, but I s'pose them is different," said the man with the carpetbag; "hed 'em had, but I took yart tea for mine, and it cured me all fixed quick."

"Bronchitis ain't a circumstance to rheumatism," began another man, but he was interrupted.

"Are you talking about bronchitis? If it's anything like what I had when I was—"

"Try mustard inside," suggested another. "I've had bronchitis till you couldn't rest, and it always cured me."

"Takin' our kind of bronchitis the gentleman's got at it, is it?"

"No," said the Boston man wearily as he closed his eyes and wished he was dead.

"There, I told you so, didn't I? Poor man. There ain't any help for bronchitis on this yearth," and the sympathetic passenger wound up his watch to hide his feelings.—Detroit Free Press.

Well Answered.

Harvey Waters, the inventor and mechanical expert, once distinguished himself by a particularly skillful answer to a lawyer who was cross examining him. Ross Winans had taken out a patent on a truck car—that is, a passenger car mounted on two trucks instead of having the axles running in boxes fixed to the car, as is still the custom in Europe. The validity of the patent was attacked, and Harvey Waters was called as an expert in Mr. Winans' interest. Mr. William Whiting, the counsel for the opposite party, showed that it had been usual to transport long pieces of merchandise, as well as free trunks and luggage, on two small four-wheeled cars, to which the ends of the long thing were lashed, and he tried to make Mr. Waters acknowledge that a passenger car on two trucks was really the same thing as a big log lashed upon two small four-wheeled cars.

Mr. Waters could not be brought to the admission, and after a multitude of sharp questions the lawyer said: "Will you please tell the court, Mr. Waters, wherein consists the difference between a log lashed to two four-wheeled cars and a passenger car riding on two trucks?"

The venerable expert thought for a moment, and then running his fingers through his snow white hair he answered: "Mr. Whiting, a log lashed to two trucks is no more a passenger car riding on two trucks than two men carrying a log between them on their shoulders are a quadruped."—Argonaut.

CONSUMED IN THE FLAMES.

Eight Children and a Hired Girl Perished in West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 29.—A special to the Gazette from Hinton gives an account of a terrible accident that occurred at McKendree, in Summers county, today.

When W. B. Wilt, of that place, returned home at 5 o'clock this morning, after being out on watch all night, he found his home in flames and his hired girl lying dead in the front yard. The eight children and the hired girl had been consumed in the flames.

No further details are obtainable, owing to the isolated locality of McKendree. The dispatch states that the mother, who escaped the flames, is wild with grief.

Precursor of Victory.

OMAHA, March 29.—In the legal fight between the National Water Works, of Kansas City, and its Eastern bondholders, involving $2,000,000, Judge Caldwell, in the federal court here, ordered the water works company to turn all its revenues in regard to the amount necessary for actual expenses.

The order is regarded as a precursor of victory for the bondholders. The case has been on two years.

Perfect Accord Prevails.

LONDON, March 29.—The United States ambassador, Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, in an interview today in regard to the Bering sea negotiations, said that there was perfect accord between the two governments in regard to the plans and methods of enforcing the award. He scouted the idea that there had been danger of complications since the award was made, saying in conclusion: "No difficulty whatever need be feared between the United States and Great Britain on this subject."

Postal Clerk Gone Wrong.

WINONA, Minn., March 29.—Lee A. Smith, a railway postal clerk between Winona and Elroy was arrested here today by inspectors for riding registered letters in his run. He was committed to trial. The fine amounting to $5000 can be traced to him within the past two years.

James Payn tells an amusing incident which took place the other day on board an Australian liner. A shy Australian major, after spending the first evening very late with his friends in the saloon, suddenly returned to them after saying good night and requested an interview with the purser. He was very white.

"There is a lady," he said, "in my cabin—No. 42."

"Rubbish!" exclaimed the purser.

"Here's the list. Your companion is Captain Higginson."

"Nothing will induce me to go into the cabin again," said the major.

"Well, I'll go," returned the other.

He returned with great celerity and with as white a face as the major's.

"Upon my life, you are right! We'll put you somewhere else for the night and see about it in the morning."

With the earliest dawn they sought the steward and demanded an explanation.

"It's all a mistake, gentlemen," he said.

"It's Captain Higginson, all right—here's his baggage."

"We must have this explained," said the purser.

"This portmanteau is unlocked; let us see what is in it."

It was a lady's wearing apparel.

"By Jingo," cried the steward, "that's what comes of taking names as don't belong to us! She said she was Captain Higginson, but she didn't say it was only in the Salvation Army!"—Independent.

KOSKUTH'S FUNERAL TRAIN.

Address of Eulogy Delivered by the Mayor of Verona.

VERONA, March 29.—The train having on board the deputations from Hungary on their way back from Turin, where they went to Koskuth's funeral ceremonies, was met at the railroad station by the municipal authorities of Verona, and by delegations from the military associations. The mayor of Verona presented an address to the Hungarians, whose spokesman replied, thanking the Italians for the marks of sympathy which they had displayed.

The train bearing Koskuth's remains arrived three hours later. Theodore Koskuth and the mayor of Verona, who delivered an address eulogizing the deceased patriot. Both of the gentlemen named were overcome with emotion, as they responded to the address.

JUDGE LEWIS RULES

Makes an Order Fixing the Question of Fact to be Determined in the Hulett Case.

The Jury Must Decide Whether the Marriage Agreement Was Executed by Nehemiah Hulett.

No Other Points Will be Submitted to the Jury as Distinct Questions of Fact.

Judge Lewis last evening filed his decision upon the motions made some time ago in the Hulett will cases. Both of these were appealed from the probate court, one from an order refusing to vacate an order admitting the will of Nehemiah Hulett to probate and the other from an order setting aside the will of A. Hulett to the homestead.

The matter came up at a special term recently. The appellant's attorneys asked that on the trial the following questions of fact be submitted to the jury: "Was Lucy A. Hulett, the appellant in this action, the wife of Nehemiah Hulett at the time of his death?"

The respondent's attorneys wanted the jury to answer these questions: "Was the name of Hulett on the paper purporting to be made at Stony Point, Duluth, Minn., on Jan. 6, 1892, known as Exhibit A in fact signed by the late Nehemiah Hulett, and the claimant Lucy A. Hulett, after Jan. 6, 1892, openly and publicly live together in the protracted relation of man and wife?" Judge Lewis denies the motions of both parties and orders that the question to be submitted to the jury only the following: "Was the paper purporting to be made at Stony Point, Duluth, Minn., on Jan. 6, 1892, known as Exhibit A in fact signed by the late Nehemiah Hulett?"

In a note attached to the order Judge Lewis says:

"I am of the opinion that owing to the complicated nature of the inquiry it is better policy on the trial of this action to reserve to the court all questions except the execution of the alleged written marriage contract. In reference to that contract it is proper that the question of its execution be submitted to the jury and on the trial of that question it will remain for the court to determine at the time of the trial what evidence bearing on the question is to be received. But all of the other questions as to how the parties held themselves out to the world, whether they lived together and in what manner under the said alleged contract, if executed, and the relation they otherwise sustained to each other in case the contract was not executed, are questions which I deem it advisable not to submit to the jury as distinct, separate questions of fact."

"The question raised by the respondents that the marriage, if there be a marriage, does not revoke the will, I do not think well taken."

THE ELEVATOR MUDDLE.
Money From the Sale of Grain to be Distributed.

Davis, Kellogg & Severance, attorneys for the receiver of the Northern Pacific Elevator company, have filed in the United States circuit court a petition for the distribution of money received from the sale of grain.

Judge Thomas ordered that the creditors and holders of wheat receipts appear before Judge Walter Shaw on St. Paul on April 14 and show cause why the prayer should not be granted.

Goats to Ashbury Park.
A telegram has been received by Irwin Shepard, secretary of the National Educational society, stating that the Trunk Line association has granted the Educational association a half-rate and ticket extension, refused by Duluth by the Western Passenger association. This locates the educational convention at Ashbury Park July 6 to 13.

Clan Stewart's Social.
Clan Stewart gave a successful social and dance last evening in the Hunter block hall. A short program was given. Miss Smith gave a recitation "Flooding Field" and Miss Rebecca Mackenzie sang two solos. A dance followed and about two couples participated.

A Lakeside Fire.
William Hoskins' residence in Lakeside was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Mr. Hoskins and family were away from home and the fire was discovered by the neighbors. The department was unable to do anything, although responding quickly from the fact that the nearest hydrant was about 150 feet distant. When the hose had been laid there was no pressure to the stream. Several stables were saved by hard work and the school house was threatened. The loss on the house was $1000 and the furniture was also totally destroyed.

The Bethel sewing class which meets every Saturday at 2:30 p. m. is in need of ladies to assist in teaching. Anyone who can do so will earn a great favor by coming to the Bethel at 2:30 Saturday afternoon and taking charge of some of the pupils.

AMUSEMENTS.
Frederic Archer's Recital.
Tonight the great Frederic Archer will make his appearance before an audience at the First M. E. church. Many leading papers on both sides of the Atlantic have accorded to this great artist the distinction of being the finest organist in the world. The Chicago Herald said of him:

"Frederic Archer has been aptly described as the 'Liszt of the organ,' for he has certainly developed its resources to an extent unattained by any of his predecessors or contemporaries. He is tacitly acknowledged by the musical public of both Europe and America as the greatest of living organists. The audience was largely composed of prominent musicians, and Mr. Archer held their due attention through a long and interesting program. His orchestral effects are simply amazing. The versatility of the player is phenomenal. It is not tiresome to listen to Mr. Archer, even without a vocalist or other diversion. He makes so many different effects that his program never becomes monotonous."

Richard Mansfield.
Everybody is fairly wild to see Richard Mansfield in "Jean Brummel" and the Temple will be packed tomorrow night. There is nothing that Mr. Mansfield does that gives him such scope for his remarkable versatility. The transition from gay to grave, the contrast between the sweet scenes and the exquisite, last night, with royal after hours spent upon his immaculate toilet, and the broken down beau, overcome by premature senility, and in acting the ghastly face at a dinner party, in the garret at Calais, with imagination alone to supply the cues, is so great that any ordinary actor would completely change the personality of the man. The exquisite pose, basking in the favor of the prince of Wales, and setting the fashion by his eccentricities, and the proud resolve hiding away from the ballists, and slowly striving to death, after startling contrast, depicted by Mr. Mansfield with graphic skill. "Jean Brummel" is a comedy of the most refined humor, with some exquisite touches of pathos. Mr. Mansfield's success in it has been absolutely overwhelming.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Mansfield will appear in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." No other actor has ever approached him in the play. On Saturday afternoon "Prince Karl" will be presented.

The Cornell Boys.
The Lyceum theater will undoubtedly be packed next Monday evening on the performance of the Cornell Cleo, Benj. Mandolin club's entertainment. The alumni in Duluth and Superior will give every effort toward making the affair the financial and social success it was last year. The clubs are now upon their spring Easter tour and reach here from St. Louis on Sunday afternoon. Many of the members of the last year's club will be here including the irrepressible Mr. Miller. Judging from press notices received the Mandolin club will be a special feature of the entertainment.

The uniform success of the Cornell boys in the past season has made the program not a classical one, it is pre-eminently a popular one. The numbers consist of jolly college songs, sentimental songs, dashing marches, the Banjo club and dreamy waltzes skillfully rendered by what is probably the best Mandolin club that has appeared in the West.

The clubs travel in two private cars and will be at the Spalding while in the city. The advance sale opens tomorrow morning at the Lyceum box office.

S. R. NILES' BUSINESS.
Will be Carried on by the S. R. Niles Advertising Agency.

The advertising business of the late S. R. Niles, of Boston, Mass., will be carried on by the S. R. Niles advertising agency, which was incorporated prior to Mr. Niles' death.

The management is as follows: E. G. Niles, president; Carl G. Zerrahn, vice president and general manager; J. C. Howard, treasurer.

A Misstatement Corrected.
The statement in yesterday's Herald that in the case of the Wisconsin Pressed Brick company vs. David Hood and others judgment was given for the plaintiff and against defendant Hood. This was incorrect, the judgment being for the plaintiff and defendant David Hood, the case against the latter being dismissed.

Adulterated Wine.
Is injurious, but nothing gives strength, and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby," quart bottles $1, pint $0.50. Sold by S. F. Boyce, druggist.

Twenty cents a pound for chocolate creams Friday at Morrison & Smith's.

GRADUATION EXERCISES.
Three Young Women Receive Diplomas as Trained Nurses.

At St. Paul's church last evening the graduating exercises of the fourth class from St. Luke's hospital were held. The graduates were Misses Mary F. Farnie, Clark and Marion Trussler. The church still wore the Easter decorations and looked very pretty.

Dr. Ryan, president of the hospital, presented the diplomas, and the micron, Miss Taylor, the badges. Dr. Ryan addressed the graduates, reminding them of their position in life, and recommending to them the great power of love and sympathy for all, no matter what their station in life may be.

Dr. Stewart also addressed the class and congratulated them on the completion of their course. Miss Taylor's report for the year was read by W. H. Hubbard.

After the exercises the graduating class held a reception.

Says He is Persecuted.
To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper about a week ago you made, what I consider, an outrageous attack upon my character. You must, in justice, allow me to speak in my own defense. I am a fine singer. Mrs. Agnes Hall, the most popular of local singers, will sing a solo and a duet with Mr. Baker. The Schubert trio of which I will be one of the most artistic of the evening. It goes without saying that this will be a concert deserving in every way to be called brilliant.

Will be Carried on by the S. R. Niles Advertising Agency.

The advertising business of the late S. R. Niles, of Boston, Mass., will be carried on by the S. R. Niles advertising agency, which was incorporated prior to Mr. Niles' death.

The management is as follows: E. G. Niles, president; Carl G. Zerrahn, vice president and general manager; J. C. Howard, treasurer.

A Misstatement Corrected.
The statement in yesterday's Herald that in the case of the Wisconsin Pressed Brick company vs. David Hood and others judgment was given for the plaintiff and against defendant Hood. This was incorrect, the judgment being for the plaintiff and defendant David Hood, the case against the latter being dismissed.

Adulterated Wine.
Is injurious, but nothing gives strength, and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby," quart bottles $1, pint $0.50. Sold by S. F. Boyce, druggist.

Twenty cents a pound for chocolate creams Friday at Morrison & Smith's.

GRADUATION EXERCISES.
Three Young Women Receive Diplomas as Trained Nurses.

At St. Paul's church last evening the graduating exercises of the fourth class from St. Luke's hospital were held. The graduates were Misses Mary F. Farnie, Clark and Marion Trussler. The church still wore the Easter decorations and looked very pretty.

Dr. Ryan, president of the hospital, presented the diplomas, and the micron, Miss Taylor, the badges. Dr. Ryan addressed the graduates, reminding them of their position in life, and recommending to them the great power of love and sympathy for all, no matter what their station in life may be.

Dr. Stewart also addressed the class and congratulated them on the completion of their course. Miss Taylor's report for the year was read by W. H. Hubbard.

After the exercises the graduating class held a reception.

Says He is Persecuted.
To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper about a week ago you made, what I consider, an outrageous attack upon my character. You must, in justice, allow me to speak in my own defense. I am a fine singer. Mrs. Agnes Hall, the most popular of local singers, will sing a solo and a duet with Mr. Baker. The Schubert trio of which I will be one of the most artistic of the evening. It goes without saying that this will be a concert deserving in every way to be called brilliant.

Richard Mansfield.

Everybody is fairly wild to see Richard Mansfield in "Jean Brummel" and the Temple will be packed tomorrow night. There is nothing that Mr. Mansfield does that gives him such scope for his remarkable versatility. The transition from gay to grave, the contrast between the sweet scenes and the exquisite, last night, with royal after hours spent upon his immaculate toilet, and the broken down beau, overcome by premature senility, and in acting the ghastly face at a dinner party, in the garret at Calais, with imagination alone to supply the cues, is so great that any ordinary actor would completely change the personality of the man. The exquisite pose, basking in the favor of the prince of Wales, and setting the fashion by his eccentricities, and the proud resolve hiding away from the ballists, and slowly striving to death, after startling contrast, depicted by Mr. Mansfield with graphic skill. "Jean Brummel" is a comedy of the most refined humor, with some exquisite touches of pathos. Mr. Mansfield's success in it has been absolutely overwhelming.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Mansfield will appear in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." No other actor has ever approached him in the play. On Saturday afternoon "Prince Karl" will be presented.

The Cornell Boys.
The Lyceum theater will undoubtedly be packed next Monday evening on the performance of the Cornell Cleo, Benj. Mandolin club's entertainment. The alumni in Duluth and Superior will give every effort toward making the affair the financial and social success it was last year. The clubs are now upon their spring Easter tour and reach here from St. Louis on Sunday afternoon. Many of the members of the last year's club will be here including the irrepressible Mr. Miller. Judging from press notices received the Mandolin club will be a special feature of the entertainment.

The uniform success of the Cornell boys in the past season has made the program not a classical one, it is pre-eminently a popular one. The numbers consist of jolly college songs, sentimental songs, dashing marches, the Banjo club and dreamy waltzes skillfully rendered by what is probably the best Mandolin club that has appeared in the West.

The clubs travel in two private cars and will be at the Spalding while in the city. The advance sale opens tomorrow morning at the Lyceum box office.

NATIVES REBEL.

A Serious Outbreak in the Samoan Islands and a General Uprising of the Natives Feared.

Chief Justice Ide, an American, Said to Have Caused the Trouble by His Severity.

During Several Sharp Encounters Over Thirty Men Were Killed and About Fifty Were Wounded.

Atrocities on the Part of the King's Troops Reported and the Natives Threatening Foreigners.

(Copyrighted, 1891, by the Associated Press.)

AUCKLAND, N. Z., March 30.—The steamship Alameda, from Samoa, brings news of a most serious outbreak in those islands, which would seem to indicate that the United States, Great Britain and Germany will be called upon to take prompt action. According to the reports brought here by the Alameda, the outbreak was caused by the action of Henry Ide, the American chief justice who succeeded Cedercrantz on Sept. 6, 1892.

Chief Justice Ide is charged with firing and throwing into jail the chiefs of the rival factions in Samoa, and with compelling them to work on the roads like convicts of the lowest order. The natives protested strongly and made all kinds of threats, but the chief justice disregarded the menacing attitude of the Samoans, and eventually, the latter broke out into armed rebellion.

The followers of the native chiefs disputed the right of the Europeans to interfere in what they classed as purely native affairs, while making no actual opposition to the state of affairs by which the United States, Great Britain and Germany, through Chief Justice Ide, practically maintain a protectorate over Samoa.

Eventually, however, things assumed such a serious aspect that the chief justice was compelled to take steps to disarm the natives, and the latter made preparations to resist this so-called interference with their rights. The fighting began by the rebels killing a man in the employ of the government who was caught near their camp.

The reigning sovereign, King Mafetoga, seems to have remained loyal to the chief justice, for, upon being called upon, he promptly sent a strong force of his Samoan warriors to attack the rebels. During several sharp encounters which followed, thirty men were killed and about fifty wounded.

Throughout the fighting up to the time the steamship Alameda left Samoa, the advantage was mostly on the government side, the rebels being driven from their camp and forced to retreat into the interior of the island where it was difficult to pursue them. But now comes the most serious feature of the outbreak, as it has so enraged the natives that they are said to be taking steps toward a general uprising.

King Mafetoga's troops are charged with having terribly mutilated a prisoner who fell into their hands; with having burned the houses of natives and with having outraged a number of native women whose male relatives had taken part in the rebellion. The troops of the king are charged with a number of other atrocities, among them the beheading of the dead.

The foreign population of Samoa is a state of great uneasiness, as the natives are making all kinds of threats against foreigners and the arrival of a warship of some nation is most anxiously awaited. The foreign consuls are doing their utmost to prevail upon the rebels to submit, but up to the time the steamship left, their efforts had proved fruitless.

In considering the statements made against Chief Justice Ide, the fact must not be lost sight of that they probably emanate from people who are possibly opposed to the American representative, and it is believed here that when the whole affair has been thoroughly sifted it will be found that Chief Justice Ide has not been as severe as his enemies assert.

The Samoan islands consist of ten inhabited and two uninhabited islands in the Western Pacific, having an area of about 1700 square miles and a population of about 50,000 people.

A most distressing state of affairs prevailed in Samoa in 1892. The islands were threatened with total bankruptcy and destitution. In April of that year, the resignation of Chief Justice Herr von Cedercrantz and of the president of Apia, the capital, Herr von Filsch, were announced.

Soon after, fighting between the rival forces of Mafetoga and Mataafa began, but the fighting was stopped by the intervention of the war vessels of the United States, Great Britain and Germany, and Mataafa surrendered and with ten of his chief supporters was banished to Kakandoo island, one of the union group, and others of the rebels were fined and imprisoned.

MAY YONE IS LADY HOPE.

The Burlesque Actress Married to a Lord and May Be a Duchess.

LONDON, March 30.—The Peerage, just issued, announces that Lord Francis Hope has been married to May Yone, the American burlesque actress. This appears to settle the question which, for months past, has been discussed in various social circles. Miss Yone told a friend nearly a year ago that she was married to Lord Francis, but when the report was published it was promptly denied by Lord Francis and his family.

Lord Henry Francis Hope, Pelham-Clinton-Hope, was born Feb. 3, 1866. He is the brother of the duke of Newcastle. Florence May, daughter of Maj. Augustus Henry Candy, and consequently May Yone's husband is heir presumptive to the dukedom of Newcastle.

As the present duke is said not to be likely to have an heir, May Yone may be duchess of Newcastle. She is at present charming large audiences nightly at the Lyric theater, where she is appearing in "The Christopher Columbus," one of the few successes of the season.

MISSING VESSEL FOUND.

The Somali, Supposed to be Lost, Has Been Reported Safe.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 30.—Tidings of the British ship Somali, long overdue at San Francisco and thought to be lost, were received here last evening.

The Somali was spoken by the Kennebec on March 27, a little north of San Francisco and only a short distance from the coast. She was entirely out of provisions, the crew having lived since Christmas on rice and tea taken from the cargo.

The Somali sailed from Hong Kong November last. She battled with north-easters until the captain finally gave it up and went clear around Australia.

Capt. Sawyer, of the Kennebec, supplied her with ten days' rations, which were thankfully received. Three rousing cheers were given to the Kennebec as the vessels parted company.

COUNTING CHICKENS AGAIN.

The Duluth and Superior Bridge People Make Another Claim.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—[Special to The Herald.]—The advocates of the passage of the bill for a bridge over the St. Louis river between Duluth and Superior think they have managed things with the measure will leap through next Monday. The bill referred to is the one agreed upon by Representatives Baldwin and Haugen.

OLUND DECIDED UPON.

The Treasury Department Hints That He Will be Collector.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—[Special to The Herald.]—It is hinted at the treasury department today that Emil Olund has positively been decided upon for collector at Duluth. Maj. Baldwin is pushing him hard again for the place and Secretary Carlisle is pretty certain to follow Baldwin's recommendation.

GOING TO MANITOBA.

Twenty-One Carloads of French People About to Leave Kansas.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 30.—A dispatch from Palmer, Kan., to the Daily News says that twenty-one carloads of French emigrants are ready to leave the place for Manitoba. Immigrant agents of that territory have been in this section for some time and last week a party of twenty-five Russians passed through here for the North.

The people most sought by the immigration agents are the colonies of foreigners which have been formed in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Western Missouri.

A Detective Warrant.

DETROIT, March 30.—It is now regarded as doubtful whether ex-City Treasurer Tuit, the alleged defaulter, can be extradited from New York. The New York statutes require that a warrant on which extradition is asked must be based either on an indictment or else a complaint made in ordinary form.

In the case of Tuit, the warrant was issued by a police justice under a law authorizing justices to issue warrants on their own behalf.

Approved by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The president has approved the act to regulate the making of property returns by officers of the government, the act repealing section 317 revised statutes and the act for a charter for Iowa & Nebraska Pontoon Bridge company.

A Liberal Victory.

LONDON, March 30.—The result of the election for a member of parliament to represent Berwickshire is a Liberal victory. The Liberal candidate, Mr. Tennant, received 7722 votes and his opponent, C. B. Balfour, Conservative, received 2157 votes. The Liberals had 748 majority at the last election.

WASLED ASTRAY

Col. Breckinridge Tells How the Bold, Designing Young Woman Led Him Into Improper Conduct.

Says She Came to Washington Against His Protest and Then Was Supported by Him.

Denies Emphatically that During His Wife's Life He Ever Mentioned Marriage to Miss Pollard.

Never Gave to Madeline the Wicker Basket Which Had Formerly Belonged to His Wife.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—There was an audience awaiting the second appearance of Col. Breckinridge on the witness stand today whose interest in him and what he would have to say was more intense than that of any of the audiences he had ever faced before.

Foremost in it sat the plaintiff and her elderly companion, Mrs. Ellis; back of them, in double rows, the lawyers in the case, and also Desha Breckinridge, the son to whom the defendant had referred in affectionate terms while detailing the members of his family yesterday. Further beyond were two long rows of newspapermen and sketchers waiting to transfer to paper the different attitudes of the congressional witness, and then the ranks of spectators, most of them members of the bar.

No time was lost in sending the witness to the stand, and then Mr. Butterworth handed up the work basket which had belonged to his second wife, and which Miss Pollard said he had given her with affectionate words. He recognized it.

"My wife was a Miss Desha; she died in July, 1892," he said. "I last saw the basket in my rooms on H street. I have no recollection when the statement made by the plaintiff that she had been left in Washington after the session of congress I went with her in a herdic to the train; that I gave her the basket then with affectionate words. I did not go to Miss Pollard's house that night; I did not ride with her in the herdic to the depot; I did not give her the basket under circumstances."

"The voice of Col. Breckinridge as he made this denial was soft, cool and measured. He calmly stated that he had been throughout his testimony the day before, Miss Pollard was sitting very straight in her chair, with her eyes fixed sharply upon him, but he directed his replies entirely to his questioner, who sat between Miss Pollard and the jury.

"Mr. Butterworth then asked: 'When did you first learn that the basket was in the possession of the plaintiff?' Col. Breckinridge: 'I learned a day or two before the trial that a basket was in her possession. What basket it was I did not know, nor did I have any knowledge where the basket was until it was produced at the trial.'

"Have you any knowledge how this basket got into her possession?" Col. Breckinridge: "I cannot say from personal knowledge how the basket came into her possession, nor did she receive it with any knowledge or consent or connivance on my part."

Mr. Butterworth then left the question of the basket and directed his questions to the details of the meeting between the witness and Miss Pollard and the circumstances of the visit to the house of Sarah Guess.

"I wish you would give an account, Colonel," said Mr. Butterworth, "of your trip to Lexington on the afternoon of Aug. 2, of which you spoke yesterday when the plaintiff was in the train."

"I found the plaintiff in the car when I got into it. I found the car was crowded and I found plaintiff sitting near the door at which I entered. I spoke to her and the conversation resulted in an arrangement by which we were to meet that evening in Lexington."

In answer to a further question, he stated: "An arrangement was made that we should meet at the house of Sarah Guess. The arrangement was carried out by going in the street car."

"State what took place between you and the plaintiff."

"The statement in the New York World was substantially correct. We knocked at the door several times. When no one responded, a little talk took place between the plaintiff and myself as to what to do. One suggestion was that she should go to the door of a friend where she expected to spend the night. Another suggestion was that she should walk a little while it being Saturday and it being the custom to do a little meeting that night. The conclusion was that she should wait and I should go to my home and if Sarah Guess returned in a reasonable time, I would find her there."

"I had supper with my family that night. There was a torchlight procession and some speeches, but I did not make a speech myself. I walked back to Sarah Guess and found the plaintiff there. There was to be an election the next Monday and there was some feeling on both sides."

"Had you made an arrangement to go to Sarah Guess, as the plaintiff said?" "None whatever."

"Was there any conversation about her schooling and inducements of help field out by you?" "No, none whatever."

"Was there any resistance or protestation on her part against what was done there?" "None whatever. We merely carried out the arrangement made on the train. She preferred to remain in the house and avoid any risk or questions which it might be inconvenient to answer. I returned the next night, Sunday, with some TROUBLE IS IN SIGHT.

Report that the Nicaraguans Threaten to Make a Second Seizure of the Mosquito Reservation.

An American Citizen Said to Have Been Shot by Order of Acting Governor Rama.

The Situation of Affairs at Bluefields is Most Critical and Fighting May Soon Ensnue.

(Copyright, 1894, by the Associated Press.)
COLON, March 30.—It is reported here that the Nicaraguans threaten to make a second seizure of the Mosquito reservation. An American citizen is said to have been shot by order of Acting Governor Rama.

The British warship Canada is awaiting at Bluefields, in anticipation of the arrival of the United States flagship San Francisco, with Rear Admiral Benham on board. The situation of affairs at Bluefields is said to be most critical.

TROUBLE AT BLUEFIELDS.
An American Was Shot by the Governor of Rama.

NEW ORLEANS, March 30.—The Picayune's special correspondent in Bluefields sent by the steamer Bergens, which arrived here at 11 o'clock last night, a letter containing the startling intelligence that the match had been finally applied to the powder magazine in the Mosquito region, speaking figuratively, and unless American forces are on the scene shortly the interests of this country will suffer. The letter is dated 4:10, March 23, and is as follows:

"News has just been received from Rama that William Wilson, an American, was shot by the governor of Rama without provocation. Wilson died at 8 this morning. The governor, a Nicaraguan named Angula, who is a nephew of Lacayo, the commissioner, refused to let a boat leave Rama last night with Wilson, who might have been saved if brought here for treatment."

"Great excitement prevails here this evening. One shot fired here would cause the death of every Nicaraguan in Bluefields. We are awaiting the arrival of an American warship. I have no time to secure further particulars as the vessel will leave in a moment."

Increased Duties Defeated.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Secretary Morton has been advised through the state department of the defeat in the Swedish rickshaws, of the motion to double existing duties on wheat, maize, flour, meal and cracked grain, and that the existing duties on pork will not be disturbed.

THE CHINESE TREATY.

An Attempt Will Be Made to Pass it Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Senator Morgan, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, says he will move early next week to take the Chinese treaty up for action next Thursday or Friday, as he was of the opinion that there would be a sufficient lull in the tariff debate by that time to admit of that change in the proceedings, but that the debate on it would not be in open senate.

"I want," said the senator, "to get the treaty disposed of as soon as possible. I consider it a good treaty and I desire to have it ratified as soon as it can be done. I do not think there is any doubt that it will be ratified by the senate. This opinion is the result of more or less conference with senators, and I am further confirmed in the opinion by the merits of the treaty itself. It is a clear, strong, well worded document."

"Its ratification will insure an improvement in our relations with China and, I am sure, increase our commerce with the people of that country, which, considering their number, is an important desideratum. They are capable of consuming a large portion of the products of this country, and if the present treaty is accepted by this country, it will go a long way toward disposing of the Chinese to trade with us."

BERING SEA FISHERIES.
A BILL FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE COMMISSION'S AWARD.

LONDON, March 30.—In the house of commons yesterday, on motion of Sir Charles Russell, the attorney general, leave was given to introduce a bill providing for the enforcement of the award of the Bering sea fisheries arbitration commission.

The bill was then read for the first time. It provides that any violation of the terms of the award is punishable and authorizes the British warships to seize British vessels engaged in violation of the award.

The bill also empowers the queen by order in council to authorize certain named officers in the United States navy equally to seize British ships found violating the award. In the American bill a similar provision will be included, empowering British officers to seize American vessels.

Pennyroyal's Bray.
PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—Governor Pennyroyal says "the veto of the bill which restored silver as standard money by the president elected on a platform declaring for it is a breach of honor, for which there is neither palliation or justification."

Rheumatism racks the system like a dumb sword. It retreats before the power of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies the blood.

CAUSED A SENSATION.

Bold Attempt Made to Kill the Armenian Patriarch When Leaving the Cathedral in Constantinople.

The Would-be Assassin Fired Twice, but His Aim Was Bad and He Was Arrested.

Admitted His Intent to Kill and Said There Were Several Others in the Plot.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 30.—A determined attempt to kill the Armenian patriarch as he was leaving the cathedral here was made on Sunday last. The affair is causing a great sensation and the facts in the case have been carefully guarded. The would-be assassin is 22 years old. He fired twice with a large American revolver at the patriarch and, after being arrested, admitted that he intended to kill the distinguished prelate.

The prisoner added that there were several others in the plot and that they would eventually carry out their plans to kill the patriarch. During the course of his examination, the prisoner said: "We are determined to kill him because he is incapable of managing Armenian affairs."

The cathedral is now watched by a special guard. Several arrests have been made in connection with the plot.

Well Known Sport Dead.
DENVER, March 30.—Charles Roman, who came here several weeks ago from Kansas City, died last night of consumption. Deceased was one of the best known sporting men in the West. He at one time was a companion of Jake Schaefer, the billiardist, and afterwards a leader among the sports of Kansas City, Leavenworth, Dodge City and Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Silver City and other towns in New Mexico.

Mennonites in Illinois.
VANDALIA, Ill., March 30.—Large numbers of Mennonites are coming from the East and settling in Fayette county. They have bought up nearly all the farms in Sifton township, one of the richest townships in the county. Some seventy families have already arrived and others are coming in almost daily.

Is Not a Discharge.
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Acting Secretary of War Doe has formally decided that a deserter's release is in no sense a discharge from the army, nor does it in any way remove the charge of desertion.

Why Not First.
LIVERPOOL, March 30.—The grand national steeplechase was won by Why Not.

A Veteran's Death.
HASTINGS, Minn., March 30.—Peter Kleuson, a veteran and resident of Vermillion, died yesterday, aged 79.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Only $50,000 Allowed for Duluth and $40,000 for Superior.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The river and harbor committee of the house has practically completed the river and harbor bill for this congress.

The bill makes a total appropriation of $5,500,000. The estimates before the committee amounted to $3,770,611. In addition to this amount carried by the regular river and harbor bill, the sundry civil bill contains items aggregating $8,300,000 for contract work on rivers and harbors. The total amount available, therefore, the next fiscal year is nearly $18,000,000.

Following are some of the items: Duluth, including repairs to the canal, pier, the channel on the north shore of St. Louis bay and the St. Louis river, $50,000; Agate bay, $25,000; Superior bay and St. Louis bay, $40,000.

A Burglar Shot Dead.
CARTHAGE, Mo., March 30.—Officer J. A. Mankey, just before dawn, discovered a burglar in Smith & Jennings' grocery store, and entered the store to arrest him. The burglar ran and the officer, before he could get through a window, fired and killed the felon, who proved to be Joseph Peterson, a local carpenter, long out of work and stealing to prevent the starvation of a wife and four children.

They Could Not Part.
WINCHESTER, Ohio, March 30.—Miss Sarah Billings and sister, Linda, aged 35 and 40 years respectively, were found dead in bed yesterday morning. A note explained that their death was by poison self-administered, because one was intending to get married, but love for each other prevented them from enduring separation. Therefore they chose death. The two were well-to-do. They leave no relatives.

Pawned His Samples.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30.—John Birnstein, a traveling man for the wholesale jewelry house of Morris, Eppenstein & Bro. of Chicago, arrived in Kansas City, early last week and got drunk and lost all his ready cash at faro. He pawned and sold about $1200 worth of samples, watch cases, rings and watch chains, getting about $350. He was arrested yesterday.

Reduced Coal Prices.
NEW YORK, March 30.—At today's meeting of the Western sales agents for the anthracite coal trade, decreased rates for the spring traffic were agreed upon. The spring opening prices at Chicago will be broken $5; stove, egg and chestnut, $5.25. Last year's opening prices at Chicago were $5.25 for broken and $6.10 for the other three sizes.

Result of Despondency.
HELENA, Mont., March 30.—R. McManus, of Livingston, shot and killed his wife yesterday at that place and then cut his own throat from ear to ear with a razor. McManus was a railroad brakeman 24 years old and his wife was a handsome woman of 18. He was despondent over being out of work.

Death of a Bishop.
DUBLIN, March 30.—The Most Rev. Charles Parsons, bishop of D. D. Protestant lord bishop of Meath, died yesterday.

SNOWSLIDES IN IDAHO.

Cabins Swept Away or Covered Up and Five Persons Killed.

WALLACE, Idaho, March 30.—Four immense snowslides and several smaller ones have come down Canon creek. One at the Black Bear mine near Gem covered up or swept away five cabins, killing five persons and possibly more. Several hundred men are shoveling and thus far three bodies, those of a man, woman and child, have been recovered. The snow is forty feet deep and almost as solid as ice. The Gem, Frisco and Peorman mines turned out their whole force of miners to work for the recovery of the bodies. Arthur Swayne was taken out alive, but badly injured.

Pool Rooms Swindled.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 30.—The Western Union wires running between pool rooms in Kansas City, Kan., and Kansas City Mo., were tapped some time during Wednesday and the pool rooms mulcted out of between $400 and $500. The losers are the proprietors of the pool rooms of the Malibys and Jack Dugan.

Will Test the Law.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 30.—The women of Kent, Ohio, who are in favor of equal suffrage, have decided to make a test for their rights at the polls in the municipal election next Monday. If judges of election refuse to accept them, they will cause their cause their arrest and make a test case of the law.

Germans Victorious.
BERLIN, March 30.—A dispatch was received yesterday from Maj. Francois, the commander of the German forces in Damantland. The major states that he has inflicted two severe defeats upon Chief Wilbooi and believes he has put an end to the latter's raids against German settlers.

Insurance in Russia.
ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The government has decided that benefited all American insurance companies conducting operations in the empire must divide their profits with the insured after the policies have been in effect four years.

Shot by a Mob.
MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 30.—Olive Jackson, colored, one of the Grant murderers, while enroute to Montgomery last night, was taken by a dozen masked men from two deputes at the point of pistols, who shot him to death.

Death in a Coal Mine.
WARSAW, March 30.—The shaft of a coal mine at Kosselw collapsed yesterday, causing serious loss of life. Thus far eleven bodies have been recovered, and a number of miners have been removed from the mine seriously injured.

Well Known Composer Gone.

CHICAGO, March 30.—One minute after sunset March 31, the Columbian guard at Jackson park will be a gaudy reminiscence. The twenty-five men yet remaining at Jackson park will be formally mustered out at that time.

THE COMMONWEALTH ARMY.

Happy Over Plenty to Eat, Warm Quarters and Fine Weather.

COLUMBIANA, O., March 30.—Songs were heard all over the Commonwealth camp soon after dawn. There was the promise of plenty to eat, warm quarters and a brilliant morning. The foundry where the camp was established was at one time the experimental laboratory of the notorious Johnston, the patentee of a process of gas manufacture from crude oil.

Deserted for years, the sudden heat of the many open camp fires inside had a curious effect. The frozen floor thawed out before 10 o'clock and the Commonwealth was wallowing in liquid mud six inches deep. As a consequence thirty-four of the soldiers broke through the picket line out of camp and spent the night comfortably in the lockup.

Despite the quantity of meat donated yesterday by the people here, many of the older and more respectable soldiers got nothing but potatoes and bread for breakfast. Others had several chops, coffee, preserves and other delicacies.

The scene in the old foundry was very picturesque and especially so since the men have begun to cook their own rations. Each one built a little stick fire. The atmosphere in consequence was dense with smoke, but the good natured hubbub all around showed that there was some enjoyment in roughing it. Many Columbians people were down early in the hollow to visit the camp, but by Brown's orders, no person was admitted.

Breakfast passed off without any event and at 9 o'clock, the command was on the march from Camp Readey. There was a cloudless sky with just keenness enough in the air to make walking pleasant. The first stop was New Waterford, five miles out, where lunch was served. The objective point was Camp Gompers, at Last Palestine, ten miles away.

WAS POUNDED TO DEATH.
A Carpenter Carried Over the Main Falls of Spokane River.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 30.—John Horton, a carpenter at work on the new Post street bridge, fell into the Spokane river above the main falls last evening and was swept down to death.

He made a gallant fight for life, cheered by 400 persons on the shore and bridges, but it was hopeless. The swift current pulled him into the cataract and there he was quickly pounded to death. His body has not been recovered.

Was Not Murdered.
PARIS, March 30.—It is officially denied that M. Dos Mory the administrator of Camaranza, Senegambia, has been murdered by natives as reported in dispatches received here.

One Year in Prison.
ANTIGO, Wis., March 30.—Charles H. Lascalar, Langlade county's defaulting treasurer, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to prison at Waupun for one year.

A Sad Farewell.

FIVE PEOPLE KILLED.
A Standpipe of the Peoria Water Company Collapsed Today.

PEORIA, Ill., March 30.—Bourland street, on the west bluff, was the scene of a horrible accident today. One of the immense standpipes of the Peoria Water company collapsed with a deafening crash heard in all portions of the city.

There were a number of school children playing close by and many of them with some of the workmen were hurled a distance of half a block by the force of the water. Frank Hogan, aged 14, was instantly killed and several others sustained injuries which may result fatally. Three of the water company men were badly hurt, while two others are missed and presumed to be under the wreck. Two houses were wrecked by the force of the water, while a half dozen others were blown from their foundations. The best obtainable total list of casualties footed up five dead and a dozen injured.

uncertainty whether I would find her there, as she had said it she could slip away without risk in the house of her grandfather or uncle, she would do so. I found her there, however, as she said she had not dared to take the risk of going away by daylight. I remained until about 10 o'clock that night.

"Was there any reference to Rhodes?" "I cannot recall any. Possibly there was in those two evenings."

"Did you see her Monday morning?" "I did not."

"What was in her conduct or appearance to indicate that she was not a married young woman, with nothing to indicate that she was not experienced in the relations of the sexes?" "Was anything ever said about her being seduced by you, or, as it has been said here, this seduced you?" "This question stirred a laugh at which Judge Bradley looked up from his writing and rapped sharply.

"As to the first," said Col. Breckinridge, smiling in an embarrassed way, "of course nothing was said. Nor until the thing of this suit was anything ever said to the effect that I had seduced her, physically or otherwise."

The witness said that from that time until he met with the hotel girls of the Savoy institute in Lexington, the next October, he had not seen or heard of Miss Pollard.

"The two old ladies with whom she boarded there," he added, "were perfectly proper, most estimable and respected persons. If the plaintiff received any one in her room there at night, as he has said, I know nothing of it. It was not I."

While Miss Pollard was absent from Lexington during the spring of 1885, when she said that her first child was born, witness declared that he had no knowledge of her whereabouts and no communication with her. If she had written him under the nom de plume of Margaret Dillon he had not received the letters nor any Box No. 47.

"Did you pay the plaintiff anything when you parted from her at Sarah Guess?"

"I cannot use the word pay," replied the colonel, considerably, "I paid the expenses at Sarah Guess and presented her a sum, not very large, but enough to pay her traveling expenses."

Continuing, he denied all knowledge of the correspondence to Rhodes alleged to have been written dated from New Orleans and other places South by Miss Pollard, under his direction, nor had he ever written a letter purporting to be from her to her mother or any other person. Their handwritings were so dissimilar that it would have been out of the question. The letters from Miss Pollard to Rhodes which were read in court he had procured from the sister of Rhodes, through Attorney Terry, of Lexington. He had never seen Mary Street in Cincinnati, now Mrs. Logan, and referring to her description of him as a small man, he said: "I was no more of a pigmy than I am now." He described in a general way his movements in 1885 until he met Miss Pollard in August or September, asserting that he had no knowledge of where she had been or the reason for her absence.

In his boyhood he had been acquainted with Mr. Rhodes. Instead of being in Cincinnati on Saturday, Aug. 17, 1884, when Miss Pollard had testified they met at the public library and afterward visited an assignation house, he had been engaged in court at Winchester in the trial of Ollie Brown for murder. The next week and all that month he had been greatly engaged.

"Did you meet Miss Pollard after that first meeting in the fall of 1884? I mean improperly, an assignation?" asked Mr. Butterworth.

"On Oct. 11, I met her in a house in Cincinnati. She came from the western part of the state and I from the east. I met her at the Grand Central depot in the morning and went to Mrs. Rose's house, where we were some time. I went out on business and returning after supper remained several hours. I returned to Lexington in the morning and she went there by another train."

"Did you present her any money?" "I paid the expenses, whatever they were."

"I saw the plaintiff occasionally but not frequently," continued the colonel, "during the months of November and December, 1884, and January, 1885. I saw her in both series, on the street and in the house I have spoken of. It was in the summer of 1887 when she first told me of her pregnancy."

"Did she tell you the result of it?" "Her information to me was that it had been a legitimate miscarriage, not an improper miscarriage; that it had occurred with her mother's knowledge, under her mother's supervision; that it was through her mother that loss of character had been avoided and secrecy secured."

"During this passage Miss Pollard's friends had great trouble preventing her from making an outcry. Mr. Butterworth continued: "How often did you see the plaintiff in the fall of 1885?"

"Occasionally, but not often. How often I can't say." Describing his movements in 1885, Col. Breckinridge spoke of his connection with the Morrison bill in congress, a barbed wire given by his constituents and his attendance upon Confederate reunions. He was unable to recall a single instance when he saw the plaintiff in the year of 1886, he continued.

"He declared he did everything he could to prevent her coming to Washington and to prevent a scandal. She came in September, 1887. She said she was pregnant and went to an institution. He sent her whatever money she needed."

Special prices on house work at the Acme laundry, 117 West First. Tel. 545.

The colonel was very deliberate and emphatic and, continuing, he declared that she had never told him she gave birth to a living child, nor did he believe it until he heard the testimony of Dr. Parsons saying the second time she had a miscarriage resulting from her poor health. "If she had told me she had born a living child, it would have given me an excuse to break off any relations with her, for considering the time of those relations it was impossible that the child could have been mine."

A SILVER RUMOR DENIED.
Senators Will Not Add a Free Coinage Amendment to the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A rumor gained currency about the capitol to the effect that the veto of the seigniorage bill would be taken advantage of by the silver men to attempt to secure an amendment to the tariff bill by adding a provision for free coinage, but senators of all shades of opinion, when asked if there were any foundation for the report, said there was none to their knowledge.

Senator Quay, who has presented an amendment to the tariff bill providing for free coinage, said that the veto might make an impression upon the Democratic senators that would influence them to agree to an amendment, but he had heard of no movement among them in that direction.

Senator Gray, representing the anti-free coinage Democrats, Senator Hugh of the free coinage element, and Senator Dubois, of the free coinage Republicans, all agreed that there was no understanding to this effect. Senator Gray did not believe such a thing would be undertaken, and Senator Dubois said if it should be, it was yet too early to formulate any plan.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC DEBTS.
Huntington Denies That $60,000,000 Will Be Due in Nine Months.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—C. P. Huntington stated last night that he was still a member of the Central Pacific and intimated that was not the public's business what was done by railroads.

He denied that the attitude of the British stockholders had anything to do with the recent changes in the Central Pacific. He also denied that Mrs. Stanford's action had anything to do with the matter and said that he was on the best of terms with her.

Mr. Huntington further said that the statement that the Central Pacific had debts amounting to $60,000,000 coming due in nine months was untrue. There are only $3,000,000 due and he said he could raise $2,000,000 in twenty-four hours if necessary.

"Will your debt to the government ever be paid?" was asked. "Yes, ultimately," he replied. "When is ultimately?" "I don't know," said the magnate.

The Denver Squabble.
DENVER, March 30.—Judge Glynn today on his own motion quashed the injunction issued by Judge Allen, against Barnes and Mullens, of the new fire and police boards.

Later—Counsel for the old board obtained from the supreme court a writ of prohibition restraining Judge Glynn from acting in the matter at all.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

February Term Has Finally Drawn to a Close After the Disposition of a Very Large Calendar.

April Term Opens on Monday Next With a Calendar of Cases Considerably Smaller.

Judge Ensign Files His Decision in the McLachlan Mortgage Case and Several Others.

Today finally saw the last of the February term of the district court, which had the largest calendar for any term for several years. It was disposed of in remarkably quick time considering its size and with the three judges the court is able to transact business at a pretty lively rate. The April term opens Tuesday morning and the calendar is 25 per cent smaller than the one for February. There will be about the usual number of criminal cases.

Before Judge Ensign the case of Charles Yager vs. W. H. Consul et al, was continued after being partially tried. This suit grew out of the proposed erection of a row of houses on West First street. Consul Bros. ran out of funds and quit work and the plaintiffs who were putting in the foundations filed liens. In James Cochran vs. J. C. Craig et al, judgment was entered for the plaintiff.

Judge Moer has taken Giles Gilbert vs. George C. Howe under advisement.

THE COURT FILINGS.

Several Decisions Handed Down Today By Judge Ensign.

Judge Ensign has filed his decision in the case of Henry J. Ewing vs. Charles A. Stewart et al. It was a suit over tax title. Ida M. Stewart is declared the owner in fee of thirteen-fifths of the property and Daphne Stewart of two-fifths subject to any equities which Bridget Furlong and Michael may have acquired by virtue of a contract entered into between M. S. Stewart and John Furlong, to sell some of the lots. The plaintiff recovers nothing.

Judge Ensign also filed his decision in Missouri, Kansas & Texas company vs. Nannie M. McLachlan et al and as previously it is for the defendant. The mortgage given by the plaintiff by the defendants is declared usurious and is ordered to be discharged and cancelled if fully paid. The notes were given in payment for a loan of $9000 and were to be paid in monthly installments, there being about $6600 in all.

Answer of defendant in Frank Hurst vs. Northern Pacific railway. Findings of Judge Ensign in John A. Harris vs. J. S. Wilson et al. E. C. Baumann is declared to be the owner in fee of the property in question, three lots on Minnesota Avenue in Lower Duluth.

The Keystone National bank of West Superior has brought suit against James Billings et al to recover $5000 on a promissory note. J. L. Washburn is plaintiff's attorney. A suit to recover $3000 from F. W. Winslip, George W. Bissell, et al.

Other papers were filed as follows: Satisfaction of judgment of Dubuque National bank vs. P. L. Peterson. Separate answers of C. A. Wilson, G. I. Miller and C. W. Wilson et al, in Smith-Pee company vs. Flag River Brownstone company.

Reggie's Gallery Photos.
Chief Armstrong is in receipt of quite a lot of photographs of Minnesota criminals now doing time at Stillwater. They were sent him by Deputy Warden Frank Lemon and are the "mugs" of burglars and bad men of that class generally who will be out in a couple of years. Among the lot are photos of Cole and Jim Younger and "New Orleans" Murphy, the latter being sent up from Duluth for life.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures catarrh of the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer $100 for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. A. J. Chase & Co., Toledo, O.

FOR ANNEXATION

An Important Change in the Political Condition of the Hawaiian Islands Within a Week.

The Natives Are Now Coming Out for Annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

The Advocates of Royalty Have Finally Concluded That All Hopes of Restoration Have Passed.

They Will Now Favor Annexation Provided a Pension Be Granted to the Deposed Queen.

HONOLULU, March 31.—Within the past week there has been a material change in the political condition of the islands. Briefly, it may be summed up by saying that the natives are now coming out for annexation. Had the natives been left to their own devices there never would have been any serious opposition to the annexation of Hawaii to the United States. The advocates of royalty have come to the conclusion that all hopes of restoration have passed and that it is politic for them to acquiesce with good grace. It is said Liliuokalani has been advised of the fact that her restoration is impossible, and she will advocate annexation of the islands to the United States in order to receive some form of bounty. It will be remembered that under the treaty presented by the commissioners to President Harrison, Liliuokalani was to receive $20,000 a year in lieu of her resignation of all right to the throne. It is in order to secure this indemnity that the ex-queen is said to favor annexation.

A petition will soon be prepared and sent to President Cleveland, advocating the annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States, providing a sum to be mutually agreed upon shall be settled upon Liliuokalani during her life time. This petition will be signed by leading natives, members of the cabinet and members of the native societies. It has even been stated that Liliuokalani will send a trusted agent to Washington to lay the matter before the president.

Should such be the case, there could then be no serious opposition to President Cleveland entertaining a treaty of annexation, and as the right of the provisional government to make such a treaty has been recognized by no less authority than Senator Morgan, it is more than likely the president would be glad to avail himself of the proposition, unless some arrangement such as this is made the ex-queen will soon be in strained circumstances. It is well known that Liliuokalani's short time as queen has been a very brief one, and it is necessary to place a heavy mortgage on nearly all of her property.

The provisional government remains firm in the belief that it is acting for the best interest of the people and without the least fear of being overturned. It is the intention of the government to proceed at once toward the formation of a republic and stable form of government, as is evidenced by the bill lately introduced into the councils calling for a constitutional convention. If it becomes necessary to wait for annexation till a government more favorable to that shall control the destinies of the United States, the present government can take care of itself until that period does arrive.

The bill creating a constitutional convention will receive its second and final reading at next Thursday's meeting of the councils. There will be no delay of any nature in carrying out the requirements of the measure, and as soon as possible action toward nominating and voting for delegates and calling the convention to order will be taken. It is the purpose of the government to emerge from the provisional state and take on a permanent form without delay.

Members of the provisional government incline to the belief that annexation is likely to occur under the Cleveland administration, provided the proper conditions can be brought about, and it is hoped, with some degree of success, that the petition of the natives for annexation will aid the government.

White Face Horse Indicted.
PIERRE, S. D., March 31.—The United States grand jury has returned three indictments against White Face Horse, the Sioux Indian, for the murder of white men. The murders were committed on the Pine Ridge reservation in February, 1893. He pleaded not guilty to all charges, and the cases were carried over to next term of the court.

Victory for Settlers.
TUCSON, Ariz., March 31.—The United States court of private and claims has handed down a decision in the Sonita San Rafael del Valle, Babacomari and Nogales de Elias grant cases favoring the settlers. The grants were declared void.

ANOTHER OFFICE WANTED.

Thomas H. Moore Desires to Be Clerk to the Vessel Inspectors.
WASHINGTON, March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas H. Moore, of Duluth, filed an application at the treasury department today for the position of clerk to the local board of inspectors of steam vessels. Representative Baldwin intends late today to call on Attorney General Olney in reference to the appointment of a district attorney for Minnesota. Mr. Baldwin has little to say about the candidates, but it is presumed that he is urging D. T. Calhoun, of St. Cloud, for the office.

Maj. Baldwin may also see Secretary Carlisle, who returned from New York today, about the appointment of Emil Olund for collector at Duluth.

The Pacific Road's Debts.
WASHINGTON, March 31.—The judicial committee of the house is prepared to proceed with the active consideration of the Boatsner resolution for the institution of suits against the Pacific railroads for the payment of the debts to the government if the house decides that the resolution has been properly referred.

Four Years in Prison.
NEW WHATCOM, Wash., March 31.—Philip M. Isensee, the defaulting ex-city treasurer, convicted of embezzling $600,000 of public money, was today sentenced to four years imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary. Notice of appeal was given and bonds furnished in the sum of $20,000.

A Successful Experiment.
WASHINGTON, March 31.—General Agent Sheldon Jackson has made a special report to the president concerning the introduction of Siberian reindeer into Alaska by the government. The plan is pronounced thoroughly successful, though slow progress has been made owing to lack of appropriations.

Both Burned to Death.
QUINCY, Mass., March 31.—Charles M. Driver, aged 50, a well known retired business man of Boston, and Charles Cutter, aged 45 years, also of Boston, and connected with the Howard Watch company, have been burned to death in bed at the summer cottage at Squantum beach, owned by Driver.

The Corpse Saved.
SELMA, Ala., March 31.—While several negroes were engaged in shrouding a body in the street, a lamp was knocked over. It exploded and set the building on fire. The corpse was removed and John Johnson, Joe Maxey and Julia Brown ran back to save the furniture. The door closed behind them and they were burned fatally.

Bank Clearings Increasing.
NEW YORK, March 31.—The total bank clearings of the week ending March 31, were $76,592,424, an increase of $3,072,691 as compared with last week and a decrease of $28,365,385 as compared with the corresponding week last year.

Want a Heavy Commission.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—B. Rich & Co., of New York, have sued George W. McNear, the grain king, for $200,000 commission on a sale, which they claim would have been consummated but for McNear's false representations as to his profits.

Heavy Haul by Thieves.
FRANKFORT, Mich., March 31.—Thieves entered the office of T. J. H. McNear, the grain king, last evening and broke open the safe, containing $3000 of township funds and $150 belonging to insurance companies and other money and securities. No clue to perpetrators.

Arrested for Murder.
CHICAGO, March 31.—John Ballou was arrested here last evening charged with murdering Joseph Tiffany near Fort Dodge, Iowa, about March 1. The murder was in a gambling house at Fort Dodge. He denies the crime.

PALMETO WAR.

Bloody Fight in South Carolina on Account of the Dispensary System, Five Men Being Killed.

Citizens of Darlington Shot Down by Whisky Spies, Who Were Chased to a Swamp.

They Offered to Surrender if Their Lives Would Be Spared But the Citizens Refused.

All State Troops So Far Called On by the Governor Have Revolted and Disbanded.

COLUMBUS, S. C., March 31.—The dispensary law and the spy system were the cause of a bloody fight at Darlington at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, when a body of army spies were leaving the town. Constable McLendon had some words with a Mr. Redmond about the Floyd-Rogers fight. Some say Redmond cursed McLendon and McLendon fired at Redmond. Other say that McLendon fired at Rogers, and the bullet passed through Redmond's throat, killing him. Firing then became general and citizens hurried to the scene.

It was found that the constables had scattered to the wood and four men were lying on the ground—Redmond, Frank Norment, and Constables Pepper and McLendon. Pepper was shot through the stomach and is living, but will die. Norment is dead.

Chief of Police Dargan was shot in the side and several citizens were wounded. Norment, who was killed, had taken no part in the riotous proceedings in the last few days and had gone to the depot on his own business.

The war in Darlington is not over. The fugitives have been located and a posse has started in pursuit of them. The adjutant general of the state is here trying to get soldiers to proceed to the scene, but without success.

The mayor of Darlington has telegraphed for bloodhounds with which to track the murderers. The militia companies here threw down their guns and disbanded, declaring that if they went to Darlington it would be as private citizens and for the purpose of assisting the people of the town.

The governor's guards held a meeting last night before deciding what to do, there being about a dozen members who favored obeying orders. The governor's guards held a meeting last night before deciding what to do, there being about a dozen members who favored obeying orders.

Up to Snuff

All the people are wiser than some of the people. To say that the public can be deceived continually, is to insult their intelligence. No business can be successful without the cordial co-operation of its customers; no co-operation can be cordial without confidence. That we have this in so large a measure shows that we have carefully nurtured this "plant of slow growth" until it's big enough to give shade to all. Our methods of forcing growth were with Excellent Entertainment Given Last Evening at the First Methodist Church by Miss Adelaide Sawyer.

The Bohemian Club, of Duluth, Miss Hammons and Others Assisted in Giving the Program.

Real Estate Men Report a Good Demand for Dwelling Houses—Other Notes of Interest.

For variety and general excellence the entertainment given by Miss Adelaide Sawyer, assisted by the Bohemian club, last evening was the finest performance of the kind ever given in West Duluth. The church was well filled with an appreciative audience. To the ability of Professor Cuntance as leader and accompanist was due the smooth and uninterrupted rendering of a promiscuous program.

The opening number, a song by the Bohemian club entitled, "Sauce for the Goose" put the audience in a good humor from the start and thereafter the appearance of the club was each time received with unstinted applause. Miss Sawyer in quiet costume, and girlish piquancy, bewitchingly characterized "Molly" and received complimentary admiration. The skillful manipulation of the bones by Mrs. H. E. Hammons in correct and finished style and Mrs. George pleased her listeners with her sweet and plaintive songs.

G. Fred Stevens and Ernest Hangan made their usual hits and Mrs. M. J. Hulford varied the exercises with the execution of a piano solo, "The Death of the Swan" by Miss Sawyer, won the heartiest applause of the evening.

Demand for Dwellings.
Real estate dealers report that there is a brisk demand for dwellings principally from outsiders who are locating in this part of the city. Real estate sales are of quite frequent occurrence of late, which leads to the prediction that there will be a fair business in this line the coming summer.

Mrs. C. H. Gilbert and children are visiting friends in St. Paul.
Charles Schwable and Victor Paradise are the joint owners of a real live alligator just arrived from Florida.

The children's entertainment given last night at the Presbyterian church was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The program of music, recitations and shadow pictures met with frequent applause and reflected great credit upon the participants.

Police Lieut. Briggs has been notified to stop the work on several new dwellings about town until the necessary building permits shall be obtained.

Ten new names were added to the membership of the Congregational church this week under the successful pastorate of Rev. T. M. Price.

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the pores or mouths of the sebaceous glands with sebum or oily matter. The plug of sebum in the centre of the pile is called a blackhead, grub, or comedo.

Nature will not allow the clogging of the pores to continue long, hence, inflammation, pain, swelling and redness, later pus or matter forms, breaks or is opened, the plug comes out and the pore is once more free.

There are thousands of these pores in the face alone, any one of which is liable to become clogged by neglect or disease.

What Cures Pimples?

The only reliable preventive and cure, when not due to a constitutional humor, is Cuticura Soap.

It contains a mild proportion of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, which enables it to dissolve the sebum or oily matter as it forms at the mouth of the pore.

It stimulates the sluggish glands and thus to healthy activity, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces and restores the skin to its original purity.

This is the secret of its wonderful success. For bad complexion, red, rough hands and chapped lips, dry, thin and falling hair, scaly and irritated scalp and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful.

It is preserving, purifying and beautifying to a degree hitherto unknown among remedies for the skin and complexion.

Sole greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

THE ELECTRIC SADDLE.

Ingenuous Device That Is Said to Have Made Money For Its Inventor.

James T. O'Brien of New York is said to be the inventor of a number of electrical appliances that have been used upon race horses within the past three years, causing them to suddenly develop unexpected speed, win races and like the pocket of their insect-punctured breeches with what is sportively termed the "longgreen" electric whips and spurs have been tried with varying success, but the best appliance invented is the electric saddle, which has sent a thrill through many a

THE ELECTRIC SADDLE, rank outsider and caused him or her to win at long odds, to the consternation of the race track talent.

In the accompanying cut of the saddle the location of the battery in the seat of the saddle is shown by letter C. It is the hook or switch opening and closing the current, and the dotted line running down the stirrup straps represents the wire that connects the battery with the metal stirrups. When the jockey wished to get a winning start out of his mount, he pulled the hook, turning on the current, and then pressed the stirrups simultaneously against the ribs of the horse. The result was magical. The old horse, surprised, shocked, electrified, sprung forward with unprecedented speed and won the race. As the saddle looked exactly like any other saddle and as the entire scheme was carried out with consummate skill no suspicions were aroused in the minds of the track management, and the rider after race was won in New York, Louisville, New Orleans, San Francisco and other cities.

THE WHEELING WORLD.

The New York cycle show cleared $2,000. Its Philadelphia rival made $1,500.

The National Cyclists' union of London will promote and govern professional racing this year.

The annual meet of the I. A. W. in Denver will begin Aug. 27 and continue six days.

W. H. Sachtleben states that in his trip around the world 20 pounds of baggage was about the average weight carried. Frank Lenz, who is now circling the globe, carries about 60 pounds.

Albert Shock, the champion long distance rider, has been made the hero of a dime novel. Notwithstanding the fact that he already has a wife and two children, Shock wows and weds a fair maiden in the story.

Milo, the Modern Hercules.
The latest notable addition to the ranks of the strong men is a young man who calls himself Milo, the modern Hercules. His real name is Luigi Loren, but it would not look very imposing on a play bill, and as there is a great deal in a name in the theatrical line Luigi Loren is known as Milo, the modern Hercules. He is a pupil of Sandow.

Milo, and has also received the benefits of Attila's training. At 12 years of age Milo could carry over 100 pounds of coal up stairs and perform other feats of strength unusual for one so young.

He became a very clever wrestler; then met Sandow and was encouraged to become a "strong man." "Practice, and you may become as great as I," said Sandow, and Milo practiced. He lifts 150 pounds with his teeth, raises a 250 pound dumbbell above his head with one hand, and when he is feeling particularly well lifts two horses and two men a foot in the air. He was born in Milan 24 years ago, practices faithfully with muscle making apparatus every morning and increases his weight lifting power every day. The only lifting he draws the line at is shoplifting. His wife is also a strong woman, and an English wag who has seen Milo perform in London suggests that her professional name is probably Venus of Milo.

"Snapper" Garrison as an Actor.
It is said that "Snapper" Garrison, so versatile in his methods of achieving fame, has at last decided to give a humorous public an opportunity to see him on the stage. The "Snapper" will appear, according to the New York World, in a thrilling melodrama, in which the villain, and the old father, and the good girl will all do their accustomed parts in their accustomed way. The villain's machinations of course prevent the regular jockey from riding, and the old father, in despair, wants to know who can ride the horse, when the "Snapper" arrayed in his long tailed coat, silk hat and Jacksonville smile, steps out of a crowd and volunteers to take the mount.

"And who, sir, are you?" the old father asks.

Garrison extends his right hand upward at an angle of 45 degrees and cries dramatically:

"The greatest jockey on earth—'Snapper' Garrison!" (Curtain.)

Those who know Garrison's modest and shrinking nature believe that he will have these last lines cut out. One of the features of the play is to be a Garrison finish.

WHAT MAY BE DONE

Armour Harvey, a Well-Known Lake Man Tells What the Copeland Physicians Did For Him.

Lake men and business men generally will recognize in the name Armour Harvey a man well known in Duluth. The gentleman has sailed the lakes for the last twelve years, making Duluth his headquarters, residing at 1500 West First street. He has, not unlike most residents of this city, been afflicted with a catarrhal trouble. His catarrh began in the head and was making rapid progress toward the stomach when he began treatment with the Copeland physicians. Recently Mr. Harvey said: "From the experience I have had with the Copeland physicians, I can say that I think their system of treating catarrhal troubles is a good one and worthy of recommendation. Some time ago I placed myself under their care for treatment of catarrh of the head. The symptoms from which I suffered were terrible frontal headaches, a sense of oppression in the region of the eyes, nose stopping up, noises in the ears, dropping of mucus in throat, hawking and spitting to clear away the accumulations of mucus, throat sore and irritable, I would gag and throw up easily. In fact on my first visit my throat was so irritable that it would hardly admit of examination. Smoking would cause me much distress in the throat and occasionally caused vomiting. I didn't rest well at night, and arose in the morning with my throat full of mucus and feeling miserable generally.

"Had I not begun treatment when I did I am sure I would now have a catarrh of the stomach from which the doctors say dyspepsia follows—for I felt the trouble gradually working downward from the throat. I am convinced that I got the best of treatment from the Copeland physicians for it yielded the best of results. A special feature of their method is the low charge of $5 for a month, medicine and treatment both."

THEIR REFERENCES.
The Copeland physicians have been practicing in Duluth almost two years, during which time they have treated and cured hundreds of people residing at the head of the lakes. No better treatment could be had anywhere for the diseases they make a specialty of, and nowhere are the charges as low.

A Tragedy.
Here is a story overlaid on a train in North Carolina by a Chicago Record reporter: "Said a woman with a red shawl: 'He wasn't never married, an he lived around here with one an then another of his kindfols. He was considered a little square, an the one the queerest thing of all—his laughin' himself—'cause he was always so down on folks that had ever killed themselves, but he must ha' thought he didn't have no friends. He had some legs, an he'd put up the meat just a little while before. It was on a Sunday morning. They asked him an he was goin' to meetin, an he said he didn't. 'How he would, it was cold, an 'twan't likely he could get a seat by the stove. When he went out, he didn't say anything about where he was goin, but after he got through the door he turned and said, 'Goodby, jest that way, to Elzery settin' there, she said, 'Goodby.' It wasn't so very long fore Hiram come runnin' up all out o' breath an says, 'I seen somebody down there by the creek, an I believe it's John.'"

"It looks so queer to me that he should ha' hung himself jest after killin' hogs, with all that meat on his hands yit."

MARCH, APRIL AND MAY.

Is the Season For Catarrhal Dyspepsia—The Blood Must be Cleaned.

The symptoms of catarrhal dyspepsia are: Coated tongue, pain or heavy feeling in the stomach, sour stomach, belching of gas, dizzy head, sometimes headache, despondent feelings, loss of appetite, palpitation of heart and irregularity of the bowels.

For this condition Pe-ru-na is found to be a admirable remedy. In all cases it brings prompt relief to the painful symptoms, and in a large per cent of the cases it makes a permanent cure. Pe-ru-na soothes the inflamed mucus surface, and thus strikes at the root of the disease. In cases where the inflammation has been so severe, and continues as to produce extreme irritability of the stomach the remedy may be taken in small doses at first, diluted in water; but, as soon as the improvement is sufficient to permit a full dose to be taken undiluted, it is a better way, and the cure is much more rapid. Pe-ru-na is also a spring medicine which once removes the cause of all affections peculiar to the spring season by purifying the blood of all contaminations and invigorating the whole system.

Two valuable books—Family Physician No. 2, setting forth in detail the treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis and consumption, in every phase of the disease, and Family Physician No. 3, on spring remedies, will be sent free to any address by the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing company, of Columbus, Ohio.

The Automatic Cycle Mirror.
A western genius has invented a complete clock and automatic cycle mirror. The clock is so arranged that the rider who has hired the machine can at all times tell just how much of his allotted time has elapsed. Before leaving the hiring establishment the clock is set for the length of time the wheel has been paid for. When half that time has elapsed, the clock rings a bell, and a plate on its face is exposed stating that the rider has the wheel so much longer at his disposal. At the end of the time paid for the clock, after giving five minutes' warning by ringing a bell, locks the wheel so it cannot be ridden and exposes upon its face the name and address of the wheel's owner accompanied by a notice that a reward will be paid by him for its return. Should the rider desire to continue his journey he can do so by dropping the amount due for another hour's use of the wheel into a slot provided for that purpose, whereupon the obliging clock unlocks the wheel, and the transaction starts all over again.

Going Like Smoke These Smoke Damaged Goods!

More than likely there has never been, previous to this, such an extensive cheap selling of goods in this great Northwestern country.

Cloaks
This is a Cloak Country. Truth to say the next most necessary necessity to our food is the Cloak. Ten months out of the year one must wear a Cloak. We now have some 400 left, including Infants', Children's and Ladies', and never were such excellent garments disposed of at such a remarkable sacrifice.

Laces
What a world of Laces have been sold here within the past few days and what a world of them are here at your mercy yet.

Underwear
Has undergone a most remarkable siege of patronage. However, our stock was so extensive that even now there are only a few lines broken. Now is the time to secure the most luxurious Underwear made cheap.

Embroideries

"A COMPLETE EDUCATION IN ITSELF."

The Book of the Builders.

THIS is what one great authority says of the forthcoming "BOOK OF THE BUILDERS," the memorial History of the World's Fair. Remember that this great work has not inaptly been described as "the most remarkable book of any literature in any age." It is to be written, designed, illustrated and published by the same men who built the World's Fair. The work has been undertaken under a special charter from the State of Illinois. The regular edition of "THE BOOK OF THE BUILDERS" is to cost, at the lowest estimate,

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS A COPY,

But through the special enterprise of The Herald a "Popular Edition" is to be compiled by the authors themselves out of the materials of the regular edition, and a limited number of copies sold to The Herald. A year's subscription to The Herald secures the right to purchase one copy of this Popular Edition of the "BOOK OF THE BUILDERS." It will be in twenty-five sections, issued fortnightly, for a period of twelve months. By special arrangement the price is fixed at only twenty-five cents a part. Immediate application is necessary to secure a copy as the edition is limited. Address, World's Fair Memorial.

CAPT. MILLER'S STORY

He Had an Experience in Connection With the Great Fortune Buried on the Island.

He Was on the Island in Company With a Crew of Men for Several Days.

Afterward They Returned and Searched for the Treasure But Could Find no Trace of It.

Capt. J. W. Miller read with a great deal of interest the article which appeared in The Herald two weeks ago on the buried treasure on one of the islands of the West Indies and which came from Capt. Hector MacLeod. He, too, knows a thing or two about this same treasure and told the story of an incident in his life connected with this same treasure hidden in the sands of the island. He said:

"I am an old man, gray with age, and looking over some of the events of my life I have often wondered if anything I might write or say would be of any interest to you. I would serve to entertain. The scene of my story are actual occurrences and if any of the actors are alive and should happen to see this they will be as surprised as I should be were things reversed. I hardly think any of them are living. Fifty years have come and gone since the occurrences of which I speak. I had been 'beachcombing' in the port of Payta in Peru situated in the latitude of five south. It was in the early part of the year, as far as foreign trade was concerned, simply a rendezvous for whalers. I had run away from one whale and was ready to shun on another when the ship Messenger commanded by Capt. Constant Dornis came in. I shipped on her to be discharged at her last port where she would fit for home."

"After lying in port a couple of weeks we were up our anchor and proceeded to sea. Two days afterwards we anchored off the mouth of the Amazon river, two degrees northward. Our object was to get water and incidentally to do a little smuggling. But before we had accomplished much of our work a man-of-war schooner came and drove us away. We then cruised to the northward across the equator bound for Cocos island, for we had to have water for a six months' cruise on the line for sperm whales. Arriving in the vicinity of the island, which lies in the latitude of three north and about three degrees to the westward of Panama, we encountered so much calm weather we could not do anything or get anywhere. Occasionally we would get a squall of wind and rain which would enable us to work pretty close to the island, and we would get all ready to come to an anchor when the captain, he died away and we would drift off to the westward again. For a couple of weeks we had alternate calms and squalls until we were nearly discouraged, and to make matters worse we were getting short of water."

"Finally the old man told the mate to get some casks overboard and make a raft and tow it to the island, fill the casks, raft them and tow them to the ship. We left the ship about a. m. with three boats, six men in a boat, and a raft containing something over 100 barrels. When we left the ship we were about thirty miles from the island. We reached the island just before night, found the watering place, rolled the casks up the beach so that the surf could not reach them, and discovered to our surprise that we were not alone. Just as we got the last cask out of the surf, five men came out of the bushes towards us. They told the mate they were castaways and that the wreck was on the other side of the island. The weather had been squally all the afternoon and we were thoroughly soaked and hungry. Just before dusk it cleared up, as usual, the next morning there was no land in sight. It remained calm and rainy for four or five days before we could get near enough to the island to lower the boats to go to the island for the water. Three of the strangers went with us leaving two of them on board. We went on shore, filled our casks, rolled them to the water, rafted them and started for the ship which we could just see on the horizon before it got too dark. We took the bearings of the ship, and pulled and rested on our course all night. When morning came there was no ship in sight and we had drifted and pulled until the island was a mere speck. We put a boat hook with a small flag on it in the raft to enable us to find it again and left it and started for the island. After reaching it some of us went to the top of the highest mountain, for the island is very high, to see if we could see the ship but there was no ship in sight."

"After getting some green coconuts and trying some gulls' eggs in water until our hunger was satisfied we got into our boats and pulled around the island to find the wreck. We did not find it but we did find seven men, including the three that we had seen before, and we also found the vessel they came there in to be a small schooner which they had secreted among the bushes in a creek where she could not be seen by any passing vessel. They would not give any account of themselves and we were suspicious and every night we pulled off some four or five miles from the island and kept a good lookout so as not to be caught napping for we were suspicious that they might want our boats, for I thought then, and I believe now, that they were cutthroats. They certainly had every symptom of being pirates and we were sure we would go to the top of the mountain to look for the ship. At last we were rewarded by being met by a boat. We took her bearings and started just after noon. About midnight we saw her lights and at just daylight we got on board. I never saw a more happy man than the captain. He had given us up. He had the same suspicion that we had as to the character of

"In the meantime they had told the captain their object in coming to the island. One of the two was a regularly graduated physician and the other was a mathematical instrument maker, both of them educated men. From the earliest history of the West Indies and Central America the buccaniers were the power that ruled. Murder and rapine were the occurrences of every day life and this was the actual condition as late as 1820 and not uncommon at 1830. I remember distinctly during Jackson's administration the hanging of several pirates for robbing the schooner Mexican, of Salem, Mass., confining the crew in the hold and then setting fire to her. They were caught, on the west coast of Africa by an English man of war, turned over to the American government and were tried and hung in Boston."

"But to return to my story. A great amount of bullion is supposed or rather believed to have been buried on the Ithama islands. About 1820 an English cruiser broke up a nest of pirates, captured a few of them, took them to England, tried and condemned and hung them. Those that escaped dug up their treasure, took it across the isthmus to Cocos island and there buried it."

"Before they left the island a dramatic and tragic incident occurred. Their commander asked them:

"Which one of you will stay here and watch this?"

"I will spoke up one too quickly and eagerly, stepping forward."

"The commander put a bullet through him in an instant with a remark that he would stay here. He was buried on top of the treasure so that whoever finds it will find a corpse first."

"After marking the spot they left the island and went back to the West Indies where they were captured, taken to England and twenty-seven out of twenty-eight were hung. One of them, through family influence was pardoned. Some twenty years afterward he took these two men who were relatives of his, went to Panama where he was taken sick with the isthmus fever and died. Before he died he drew a map of the island, locating the treasure, giving them all the marks by which the treasure might be found."

"This was the story then told the captain while we were away. The latter had told them the day before we arrived that if he did not see the boats by the following night he would go to the nearest port and deliver them up to the authorities which frightened them and they told him their story and I am inclined to believe that it was true."

"The next day after we arrived on board we got a breeze, worked the ship to the island, anchored and all hands spent a week hunting for the treasure. We could find every mark except one and that was a copper-spike driven into a palm tree. We peeled the bark off of eight many trees, but found no spike and no treasure. After filling our water casks we left for the Galapagos islands, cruising for sperm whales. We got four barrels on that cruise and went back to Payta again. There have been several expeditions fitted out since that time for Cocos island to look for the treasure, but I have never heard of any being found."

MYSTERY OF AN HEIRESS.

She is Hiding in Omaha, but Why No One Seems to Know.

OMAHA, March 31.—Considerable mystery surrounds the appearance in Omaha of Miss Fairweather, niece of the late Daniel Fairweather, whose millions are in litigation in New York. The young lady has been in the city a week at a swell hotel, but refused to register.

George A. Bartlett, of Muscatine, Iowa, is also in Omaha. It is understood that they are betrothed and have been for some time. The mystery seems to be that the marriage of these two will in some way influence Miss Fairweather's estate, which is enormous. Just how it is impossible to find out, as she refuses to be interviewed.

Zella to Go On the Stage.

WABASH, Ind., March 31.—M. W. Hanley, of Harrigan's theater, New York, has made Mrs. Zella Nicolaus an offer of $150 per week to appear during the second act of the "Princess of Frobenius," now being presented by the Pauline Hall Opera company. Mrs. Nicolaus has accepted the offer and has started East to fill the contract.

A Big Deal.

W. R. Fanning, the dry goods man of West Superior, and his able lieutenant, George L. Spicer, on Thursday made one of the largest purchases of dry goods of the Duluth Dry Goods company ever made in the Northwest, it amounting to $24,500. Of course some inducement must have been held out to bring in a deal of this kind, and it has leaked out that the fact is that Mr. Fanning paid for the goods by laying down $10,500 in gold. Ready cash counts now-a-days and no one appreciates it more than the parties to this deal.

Cut Rate to California.

The old reliable "Albert Lea Route" again comes to the front with lowest rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, etc. St. Paul and Minneapolis to above named points $47.00 one way first class, $51.30 round trip. Rates from other points proportionately low. The only line with through upholstered Pullman tourist cars; berth rate through only $6. Get your tickets before the rate advances. If you cannot get tickets of your home agent, call on any agent of Minneapolis, St. Louis railway, or address A. B. Cuts, General Passenger Agent, Minneapolis, Minn.

Cheap Rates to California.

The Northern Pacific Railroad company has put into effect a series of low round trip rates to California. Tickets are good until July 15th, 1894 and are good for stopover under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's fair, and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.

St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth to San Francisco, returning via Portland to St. Paul, or returning to Missouri river, $26.50. For further information apply to Charles S. Fee, G. P. and T. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Others pay $100 for "The Book of the Builders." You can get the twenty-five numbers, issued bi-weekly, for 25 cents each, by paying a yearly subscription to The Evening Herald. Read articles on pages 6 and 7 of today's issue and watch The Herald the coming week.

But to Continue—

"The Milwaukee" runs the only electric lighted trains. The latest private compartment cars. The most luxurious sleepers. The celebrated electric berth lamp. The finest dining car service. The government fast mail line. The most comfortable parlor cars. The best and most frequent service between St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago.

Safety, speed, comfort, elegance. Apply to any ticket agent or address J. T. CONLEY, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul, Minn.

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.—

County of St. Louis.
In Probate Court, Special Term, March 30th, 1894.

In the matter of the estate of William Chas. Leonard, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of E. R. Lemmon, administrator of the estate of William Chas. Leonard, deceased, representing among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the appointment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered, that said account be examined, and petition heard by this court, on Monday, the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1894, at ten o'clock a. m., at the probate office in Duluth, in said county.

And it is further ordered, that notice thereof be given to all persons interested, by publishing a copy of this order on Saturday in each week for three consecutive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth in said county.

Dated at Duluth, the 30th day of March, A. D. 1894.

By the Court,
J. H. FANNING, JUDGE.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Hermann Harg and Anna Harg, his wife, mortgagees, to Joseph T. Gilbert, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, mortgagee, bearing date the first (1st) day of October, A. D. 1891, and with a power of sale in case of such default, therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the fifth (5th) day of October, A. D. 1891, at eleven o'clock and thirty-five minutes a. m., in Book 34 of mortgages, on page forty-four (44); which said mortgage and the principal note thereby secured, contain provisions that if any default be made in the payment of any installment of interest thereon, and if such default continue for the period of thirty (30) days, then and in such case the said mortgagee may elect, without notice, that the whole principal sum then due and unpaid, with interest thereon, shall be immediately due and payable, and may enforce payment thereof by foreclosure, or other legal measures;

And whereas default has been made in the payment of the semi-annual installment of interest upon said note and mortgage, due January 1st, 1894, without grace, amounting to the sum of two hundred forty-three and 5/100 ($243.50) dollars, the payment of which was secured by said mortgage, and each default has continued for the period of more than thirty days after the same became payable, by reason whereof the said mortgagee has elected to exercise said option, and has heretofore duly declared, and does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, to be due and payable, and whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage, at the date of this notice, the sum of seven hundred eighty-eight dollars and 25/100 ($788.25) dollars, principal, interest and exchange, and one hundred dollars attorney's fees, stipulated for in said mortgages in case of foreclosure, then and in such case the law directs that the mortgagee may proceed to foreclose, and may enforce payment thereof by foreclosure, or other legal measures;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the said power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: A 1/2 tract or parcel of land in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lot numbered forty-four (44) E. of Third street, Duluth, Proper, First (1st) 1/2 of lot, of record in the recorded plat thereof, according to the office of the register of deeds, in and for said St. Louis County; which said premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and one hundred dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursement allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county, on the fourth (4th) day of April, A. D. 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 23d, A. D. 1894.

A SHOCK TO JERUSA.

The Fiendish Joke Perpetrated by Some Unfeeling Mortals Upon a West Duluth School Teacher.

While Peacefully Sleeping in an Easy Chair in the Parlor the Deed Was Done.

When She Returned From the Land of Nod the Shock Caused Her to Faint.

'Twas bedtime in the fair suburb of West Duluth. The pale, passionless February moon hung at half mast. Fugitive clouds went scurrying across the sky in their aimless flight. The stars winked sleepily at one another as they waited patiently for "Aurora, the mother of rosy fingered dawn," to appear and relieve them from night duty.

Through it all the fair Jerusha slept. The hedgehog was getting ready for his final spring appearance and the hedge growler was rushing up and down the deserted streets. Ever and anon a few acres of Paddy McDonnell's patent pavement sank into the frozen ground on a bee line for China. John Madison Martin knelt with folded hands at his little trundle bed and the iron pen of the Recording Angel scratched long as it registered John's evening prayer, "I am a Democrat."

At the fair Jerusha slept. The noisy street car went speeding along the track on their final runs and the accomplished chicken thieves of the village stole from their shacks and snaked away in quest of the feathered fowls. The gay boys from the brass foundry played "freeze out" for the drinks and the landlady made up his menu for breakfast. The "tiger" growled viciously as he debated in his savage animal mind whether to move upstairs or brave the police and stay on the ground floor.

Still the fair Jerusha slept. It must be admitted that her name was not Jerusha but she was a school ma'am. Near five and twenty summers had passed over her head and she was all that the term school ma'am has power to imply. She wore blue stockings on her pedal extremities and balloons on her shoulders. Never having had a big boy to love, she banished the rod and talked incessantly of ruling her little boys by means of that mystic word "Amo." She was a saint, given to sarcastic stabs at circumjacent humanity and just a little beyond the reach of a school pole generally.

At this particular time the fair Jerusha was sleeping, as has been intimated more or less plainly. She reposed not on a downy pillow and on her virtuous couch. She was not even within the sacred precincts of her room.

To be exact, she was taking a walk on blanket street in the Land of Nod, resting in the big arm chair that was located on the 5th of the 10th of the hotel parlor floor.

As Jerusha slept, old Satan, in rather a youthful form, came slipping up the stairs. "Aha! Oh! My beauty sleeps!" whispered the old sinner as he crept through the open parlor door and looked upon the sleeping beauty.

With all her faults, Jerusha was a comely member of her sex and as she slept there in the big arm chair it would have attracted one more particular view than old Satan. A half smile was on her slightly parted lips and her nearly teeth looked too cute for any use. Not very tall, her slippered feet hardly touched the floor and her shapely ankles were a vision of beauty and symmetry worth going many miles to see. A brow as fair as monumental alabaster contrasted most strikingly with a cheek that rivalled the red, red rose. Any one but old Satan would have passed the scene with reverence and a greater appreciation of man's most valuable gift—woman.

But Satan's deeds are those of darkness and not of light. In proof of that, he stood in the hall and whistled and chirped and tapped the floor with his feet. Failing to destroy and dispel the fair Jerusha's slumber, he softly entered the parlor and turned off the gas, so that his face could not be recognized as he performed the impish tricks he had in mind.

He grinned with fiendish glee and his disreputable old carcass trembled with expectation. The first act was to quietly remove the Cinderella-like slippers worn by the unconscious Jerusha. He then bore them away and concealed them in a closet opening off from the hallway.

The next thing was some skrimishing. When that ended, the heartless fiend had a long piece of stout string in his hands. Dividing that into two equal parts, he hastily and deftly constructed a couple of slip nooses. He quickly slipped those over the beautifully arched insteps of the slumbering victim and drew them up snug and fast. The other ends were tied to the hind legs of the big, heavy chair.

Then the arch enemy of mankind in general and Jerusha in particular turned on the gas, glided out of the room and snaked down stairs, gibbering and grinning like the veritable fiend that he was.

The fair Jerusha slept on. "Jerusha! Jerusha!" came voices from the floor above. The fellow teachers to the number of about a dozen on the floor were calling their missing associate but she slept on.

"Jerusha! Jerusha!" came the call again. No response.

"Jerusha! Je-e-rusha-sha! Jerusha!" The third and last call did the business. Jerusha started, raised her hands, yawned, opened her eyes a trifle and through her drowsy brain flashed the intelligence that she was not in her own room, where she belonged. Half asleep and more or less confused, she sprang to her feet.

When her stocking feet struck the cold carpet the peculiar and unusual sensation was startling, to say the least. Quickly taking a step forward, the strings tightened and forbade a further advance.

It was too much for Jerusha's nerves. She hardly knew what had happened. With that lightning rapidity, her brain feared the worst, the blood rushed to her heart like a frightened hare from cruel hounds. Throwing her hands high above her head, the unfortunate Jerusha uttered a shriek that was heard clear to the basement where the barkeeper was pulling a bung out of a keg of beer; when she dropped heavily the floor in a deep swoon.

The house was aroused. A dozen startled schoolma'ams came patter down the staircase, their hearts fluttering with mild fright and excitement. Half a dozen gentlemen boarders came rushing up from below anxious to stop murder or head off any burglar discovered under the bed.

There reclined the wretched Jerusha, limp and senseless. One seized a glass of water and threw it in her face. Another pulled out his Barlow knife and cut the bands that held the ravishing ankles in captivity. Willing hands bore her to a sofa. Cool headed schoolma'ams loosened her garments so as to give her lungs room for drawing in fresh strength. Some fanned her face and the rest said, "Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

At length Jerusha's eyes opened and the look of a startled fawn in them she exclaimed, "Where am I?" Brief explanations and cruel howls of laughter soon told her where she was. She fairly flew from the midst of her rescuers, ascended the stairs with a speed of the winged winds and locking her door she convulsed sobs of mortification. Plying night then drew a curtain over the scene.

The next day Jerusha was neither able to attend to her school duties nor to leave her room. The shock to nerves and pride was too much. It is pleasing to relate, however, that ever since, no haughtiness marks her manner, no excessive feelings of superiority have a place in her bosom and honeyed phrases rather than those with excessive acidity drop from her cherry-like lips.

A Receiver Applied For. WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., March 31.—On application of W. P. Guild, secretary of the Lehigh Coal and Iron company, Judge Smith of the superior court has issued an order commanding Sheriff McGrath, the West Superior Iron and Steel company and the Land and River Improvement company, to appear on April 23 and to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the iron and steel company. The petition asked that the amount of stock held by John D. Rockefeller be ascertained.

Coxey's Army Moving. EAST PALMISTON, Mo., March 31.—The day opened bright and breezy, and Camp Coxey's of Coxey's Commonwealth army was the scene of much bustle and activity. Breakfast was satisfactory all around and the march was begun at 9 o'clock. There were 134 men in the ranks, a larger number than has started out yet from any one camp. The weather is good, the roads passable and the sun just warm enough to temper the wind.

To Imitate Coxey. PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 31.—The coal miners of the Clearfield region are preparing for a movement like that of Coxey, to induce miners in competing regions to join them in a demand, or strike for higher wages. They propose to march in a body across the state of Maryland.

REV. J. E. RANKIN, D.D., LL.D.

One of the most worthy and highly respected men in the nation's capital, is the Rev. J. E. Rankin, D.D., LL.D., president of Howard university. He has resided in Washington for nearly twenty years, was chaplain of the senate, and has always been a earnest and faithful preacher and pastor. While ministering to the spiritual needs of his congregation, Mr. Rankin has always felt that the physical welfare of his people was of very great importance. He is a man of wide research and experience and has seen much of the practical side of life. It is perhaps not surprising that, after careful investigation, extending over a number of years, he made a most outspoken statement concerning what he believed to be the highest and best interests of the human race, and it is with pleasure that we present the above clear and truthful statement for the benefit of all readers.

"I have known of several persons who regarded themselves as greatly benefited, and some of them as permanently cured of diseases of the kidney and urinary organs, by the use of Warner's Safe Cure. I have known, too, of its being used in similar cases by physicians of the highest character and standing. I do not doubt that it has great virtue. This treatment, I want in the interests of humanity, to recommend."

AT THE HISTORIC SUBURB.

What is Going on of Interest at Fond du Lac, Minn.

FOND DU LAC, Minn., March 31.—The streets and avenues are being straightened, and brushed out under the instructions of B. F. Bishop and are attracting much attention by their improved appearance.

The Transfer company's engineers came across from the Wisconsin side of the river Wednesday afternoon looking for a corner post to go to, which was found without much difficulty.

C. A. Krause has bought the steamer Bruno, which he will move to Rainy lake, and use for carrying passengers and freight to Rainy Lake City.

E. B. Glass is busily engaged digging a cellar and getting the foundation ready for a new house, to be built on the site of the one recently burned.

The unsightly holes along Third street, where water has stood until late every spring, are being filled up; this was a much needed improvement.

The postoffice is to be moved to the front room of O. H. Miller's house, on Third street, he having been appointed postmaster.

Miss Mandel, of West Duluth, a former teacher of the Fond du Lac school, visited C. A. Krause on Wednesday.

Miss Christina Holm and Miss Hilma R. Peterson have attended the teachers institute in Duluth this week.

Miss Sarah A. Smith, of New Duluth, spent Tuesday night with Misses Peterson and Holm.

Miss Hood, the missionary preacher who made a number of converts here a year ago, is visiting Mrs. C. M. Peterson and calling on her many friends here.

It was expected that Rev. Mr. Hackett would preach in the school house on Tuesday evening but for some reason he was unable to keep his appointment. Quite a large number gathered at the school house. After waiting some time, as Mr. Hackett did not appear, a number of selections were sung, in which all joined, ending with the benediction, which they dispersed to their homes, though somewhat disappointed, yet feeling that they had spent two enjoyable hours.

The station agent, Fred Coleman, had to hire a man to do the pumping this week, which he was unable to do on account of a carbuncle on his arm.

The Danish Budget. COPENHAGEN, March 31.—The political struggle in regard to the annual budget, which has lasted for years, between the folkething and the government, ended yesterday in a compromise. This is the first time since 1885 that the folkething and the landthing have assented to the budget.

A Comedian Killed. LIVERPOOL, March 31.—Arthur Wilkinson, a comedian playing at the Prince of Wales theater in this city, died today from fracture of skull sustained by being thrown from a stage upon which he was resting from witnessing the grand national steeplechase yesterday. Four of the company were injured more or less seriously.

A magnificent collection of portraits of people who have become famous in all of the varied lines of theatrical work, executed in the highest style of modern art, is "The Marie Burroughs Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities." Many of these portraits could not be obtained anywhere else at any price, and anyone of them purchased in the ordinary way would cost from fifty to 100 times the price now asked for them. If you save your money from The Evening Herald you can get twenty of them for one dime. This is the only way you can secure this collection in Duluth.

High art—low prices. Great combination that. You get it in "The Marie Burroughs Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities" now being offered to The Evening Herald's readers. Save your coupons.
